SENATOR SAL DIDOMENICO AND THE DIDOMENICO FOUNDATION HOST ANNUAL TOY DRIVE

Toys-Toys-and more Toys. This is only the front wall of the upper room at the Kowloon Restaurant, the room was covered with tons of new toys, making a lot of children very happy this Christmas season.

The DiDomenico Foundation, headed up by Massachusetts Sen. Sal DiDomenico, has been helping needy families with toys for Christmas for many years, and every year the toy amount increases, making the drive a success every year.

DiDomenico celebrates Economic Development bill signing with Governor Healey and officials

Special to the Independent

Senator Sal DiDomenico joined Governor Healey at the Ragon Institute for a ceremonial signing & celebration of the Economic Development bill. This sweeping new law authorizes nearly $4 billion into the Commonwealth's economy while making wide-ranging policy changes to make Massachusetts more competitive.

"It was a pleasure to celebrate this massive win for my district and our state with the Governor in Cambridge," Senator Sal DiDomenico. "Among the many things this law does, I am most excited about the $10 million in local funding I secured for my district, language I included that will allow for the construction of a transformational soccer stadium and waterfront park in Everett, significant investments in life sciences, and a new provision empowering public agencies and municipalities to enter into project labor agreements. I want to thank Governor

Senator Sal DiDomenico with Governor Maura Healey

Healey, Senate President Spilka, and members of the conference committee for helping pass this important piece of legislation for my residents and our entire state."

DeMaria Vindicated

Mayor to receive $1.1 million in damages in libel lawsuit

By Cary Shuman

Mayor Carlo DeMaria spoke at a news conference Monday to discuss the $1.1 million settlement in his defamation lawsuit against the Everett Leader Herald, its owner, Mathew Philbin, and its publisher and editor, Josh Resnek.

As a condition of the settlement, the 139-year-old newspaper will be forced to shut down for admittedly falsifying stories aimed to destroy Mayor DeMaria's reputation. Under the terms of the settlement the owner and publisher of the Everett Leader Herald have agreed to pay Mayor DeMaria the sum of $1.1 million in damages and shut down the newspaper for good.

Mayor DeMaria was joined at the conference by his wife, Stacy DeMaria, and attorneys Jeffrey Robbins, Joseph Lipschitz and Paige Schroeder of Saul Ewing LLP, the law firm that represented the mayor in the case. Virtually all of Boston media covered the event that was held at Saul Ewing offices in Boston.

DeMaria said in his remarks that he understands the job that journalists have to do, and that he respects the First Amendment, "but what the Everett Leader Herald, its owner and its publisher did to me, publishing article after article, accusation after accusation about me that they knew

CHRISTMAS IS FAST APPROACHING, BUT THERE'S STILL TIME TO HELP THOSE IN NEED

It's hard to believe that Christmas is just a week away. We realize that the compressed holiday shopping season has put even more pressure than usual on all of us, but we hope that all of our readers can find the time to remember those in need this holiday season.

The stock market may be booming and unemployment may be near an all-time low, but there was the depressing news this past week that homelessness among Americans once again has increased in the past year and millions of American children (1 in 8) face food insecurity on a regular basis.

The cold, harsh reality for many Americans in 2024 is that the promise of benefitting from a booming economy still is only a dream, where even those who are lucky enough to work full-time are barely getting by thanks to the crushingly-high cost of housing.

And for those who cannot find a job, or who are unable to work -- and especially for their children -- the holiday joy that most of us take for granted is just an illusion.

We recognize that in our hurry-hurry world where we barely have time to think, the Christmas season brings with it the onslaught of last-minute shopping and holiday preparations. But we urge all of our readers who have the means to do so to take a brief "time-out" in order to consider doing something to make the holiday season a bit brighter for those who are less fortunate.

We can assure our readers that any gift of charity that we make, whether it be to a Toys for Tots program or to a Salvation Army Santa (the Salvation Army provided services to 27 million Americans last year) or a food bank donation, will be the most meaningful -- and most satisfying -- act that we can make this holiday season.

THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE STARTED 80 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

It was 80 years ago this week that the final big battle of WWII in Western Europe -- the Battle of the Bulge -- got underway.

In brief, the Battle of the Bulge marked a last-ditch counter-offensive by the German Army against the U.S. and its allies as the allies advanced through Belgium and toward Germany. The German attack, which caught the Americans by surprise, earned its name from the "bulge" that the sudden German thrust created in the middle of the American line in the Ardennes Forest of Belgium.

The battle was immortalized in the 1965 movie, The Battle of the Bulge, and then 40 years later in the great HBO series Band of Brothers, which followed the exploits of E Company of the fabled 101st Airborne Division, including its crucial role in the defense of the Belgian town of Bastogne where General Anthony McAuliffe uttered the famous, one-word declaration word, "Nuts!" in response to a demand for him to surrender from the German commander who had surrounded the Americans. The 101st Airborne hung on, against all odds and a militarily-superior enemy, stalling the German offensive until General George Patton arrived with reinforcements.

Soldiers fought in brutal winter conditions against a ruthless German enemy that literally was taking no prisoners -- the Nazis executed hundreds of captured American soldiers during the engagement. Altogether, the U.S. Army lost approximately 19,000 men and suffered 75,000 total casualties in what became the United States' deadliest single World War II battle, which extended from December 16, 1944, to January 16, 1945. When the battle was over, so too for all intents and purposes were the Germans, whose surrender occurred less than four months later.

The reason we wish to make note of this epic battle is because in some of our sister newspapers, we write a weekly "Through the Years" column. In our Revere newspaper, it was noted that seven Revere families were notified this week 80 years ago that their sons, husbands, and fathers had been killed in action.

We today can only imagine the profound and deep sense of grief and sadness that enveloped entire communities all across the country as the telegrams from the War Department were delivered by the thousands to families informing them of the loss of their loved ones over those terrible four weeks.

In addition, it occurred to us that so few of the Greatest Generation, including our own uncles and fathers who served in that war, are still alive today. All of the members of Easy Company have passed away.

We do so in hopes of acknowledging the debt we owe to the brave soldiers who gave their lives in the forests and on the fields of Belgium 80 years ago, with the hope that we might fulfill the sentiments expressed by Abraham Lincoln in the Gettysburg Address: "...that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion -- that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

LETTER to the Editor

NO NEED FOR A HALF DAY

To the Editor,

I am a grandfather of two elementary age students in the Everett Public Schools and have a question for Superintendent Hart and the School Committee. What is the purpose of an 11:00 A.M. dismissal on Friday, December 20, the Friday before Christmas vacation?

Who approved this ridiculous request? Many families are trying to work a little extra during this season to offset the additional expenses of the holidays and now parents have to leave work early to pick up their kids or make a special request to other relatives, (grandparents like myself) to pick up the children. My wife and I have our own preparations that need to get completed and now, my Friday plans need to be rearranged because of pick up. I was shocked when my daughter asked if I would mind picking up the children Friday. The actual holidays are not until Tuesday and Wednesday. It is not like they fall on Sunday and Monday where extra time could be needed. There is no need for a half day when there are three full days before the start of the holiday. Half days are not convenient for parents, other arrangements need to be made, often at the sacrifice of money that most of us in today's age need as much as we can just to make ends meet. Half days do not benefit our students who need more classroom time than less. This is unacceptable.

was false, that they knew they had no basis for, for the avowed purpose of destroying my reputation to serve their own financial interests wasn't just dishonest. It was corrupt."

DeMaria continued, "In summary, what the evidence demonstrated is that upon purchasing the Everett Leader Herald in 2017 - a paper with a long and storied history in our city - these defendants embarked on a deliberate, purposeful, relentless campaign to publish accusations against me that they knew were false, that they knew were fabricated, that they knew had no basis, that they knew would damage my reputation and inflict serve damage not only on me but on my family, and that they specifically hoped and intended would drive me out of office, or worse."

Despite the negative

Boston media turned out to cover Mayor Carlo DeMaria's news conference Monday at the Boston law offices of Saul Ewing LLP.

stories, DeMaria was re-elected in 2021 and continued his productive and successful tenure as mayor of Everett.

The settlement represents a total victory and complete vindication for the city's chief executive.

"If I am emotional about what has happened here, and the toll that this experience has taken on me and on my family and friends, I hope you will understand," said DeMaria. "Even if the terms of this settlement vindicate me and what I have been saying, and they do, it will never be possible to repair the reputational damage that has been done here. I want to thank Stacy and my kids, my parents, and the rest of the family, and my friends for their support for me during this terrible ordeal. I want to thank my lawyers at Saul Ewing for standing by me. And I want to thank the people of Everett, who themselves have suffered from the unscrupulous behavior of these defendants, and who have trusted me."

The defendants declined to comment.

Staff and residents at the Leonard Florence Center as Barry Berman accepts AJAS Award.

Barry Berman receives prestigious Dr. Herbert Shore 'Award of Honor'

Barry Berman, CEO of Chelsea Jewish Lifecare, an affiliate of Legacy Lifecare, recently received the notable 2025 Dr. Herbert Shore Award of Honor from the Association of Jewish Aging Services (AJAS). It is presented to the outstanding executive professional who best exemplifies the goals and ideals of AJAS as well as service to older adults and severely disabled individuals.

Karen Flam, Chair of the AJAS Awards Committee and past recipient of the award, drove to Chelsea from Montreal to surprise Barry with the award. Berman was sitting in the lobby of the Leonard Florence Center with Ruth Katz, President & CEO of AJAS, when Karen suddenly appeared and announced that Barry was this year's Award of Honor recipient. Karen was surrounded by Chelsea Jewish Lifecare staff, residents and Barry's family members.

"I am surprised and overwhelmed with gratitude," said Berman immediately after Karen presented him with the award. "I have known about the AJAS Award of Honor throughout my entire career, but I never imagined I would be the recipient of this important honor. The fact that my peers are the ones who voted for me means more than I can say."

Barry Berman has devoted his career to building the long-term care community in Chelsea and surrounding areas by developing innovative models of care. He has been the CEO of Chelsea Jewish Lifecare for 47 years. Mr. Berman is a past board member of the Chelsea Soldier's Home and has served on the Massachusetts Governor's Council of Assisted Living, as well as on the Board of Directors for the Massachusetts Assisted Living Facilities Association, the Massachusetts Aging Services Association, LeadingAge Massachusetts and the ALS Association Massachusetts Chapter.

"I was so happy to be with everyone at Chelsea Jewish Lifecare to honor Barry where he 'lives,' said Flam. "Barry exemplifies what it is to lead with a heart and a brain. He so deserves this recognition!"

Berman is also a past recipient of the "Leaders of Tomorrow" award from McKnight's Long Term Care News, the "Award of Honor" from LeadingAge for his work in expanding the world of possibilities for aging services and the "Changemaker Award" from the Center for Innovation.

"Barry demonstrates for all of us – every day – that it is possible to bring mission, vision, and humanity together to always do the best for residents," said Ruth Katz. "He supports residents in living their best lives. The Dr. Herbert Shore Award of Honor is AJAS's most prestigious award and we are thrilled to present it to Barry Berman. It is an honor to count Barry and Chelsea Jewish Lifecare among our members."

losophy, in 2023.

"I'm excited to begin my first head coaching opportunity," said Guttentag. "Everett has some fantastic athletes, and I look forward to helping them become outstanding wrestlers and student-athletes."

A proud Michigan man

Of course, the first questions asked to the new coach was: How great was your college experience at Michigan and did you get to watch Everett football star Mike Sainristil compete for the national champion Wolverines?

"I'm a huge Michigan football fan, of course, and legitimately my friends and I consider Mike Sainristil one of our heroes," related Guttentag. "He made some of the biggest plays and produced some of my favorite sports memories in my life. I was able to be in Houston to watch Michigan win the national championship."

Guttentag also stayed close to the mat at Michigan, organizing and overseeing the school's club wrestling team.

"I loved my time in Michigan," said Guttentag. "My dad [Steven] went to Michigan. My grandfather [Joe] went to Michigan. I'm third generation Michigan."

And rounding out the Maize and Blue tradition is his mother [Stacy Winnick], who is a graduate of the University Michigan Law School.

"Michigan is not only the best school in the Big-10, it's the best school in the world," boasted Eli while smiling broadly.

Part of an amazing family tradition in wrestling

Eli Guttentag was a four-year standout in wrestling at Bethesda Chevy Chase High School in Maryland, just outside of Washington, D.C.

He was a multi-time county and regional champion, a state finalist and two-time semifinalist. His weight divisions ranged from 106 pounds as a freshman to 132 pounds as a senior.

"Both my brothers (Ike Guttentag and Drew Guttentag) wrestle at Wesleyan University," noted Eli. "They're fantastic wrestlers. I taught them everything they know. I want that on the record."

Pleased to return to the wrestling scene

Guttentag, who began wrestling in the second grade, is happy to be back in the sport after a one-year hiatus, during which he did a lot of traveling.

"I could not be more excited to be back in wrestling," said Guttentag.

Guttentag has more than 10 Everett High wrestlers competing for the team and hopes to increase that number.

"It's a good turnout, but I hope to build it up," he said. "We have about 35 wrestlers total who will compete in 14 weight divisions. We're excited about the season ahead."

From Maryland to

Michigan to Massachusetts, Eli Guttentag has been a goodwill ambassador for the sport of wrestling, and he hopes to make his mat (pun intended) as the scholarly leader of the Crimson Tide program.

EHS GIRLS BASKETBALL FALLS TO REVERE 42-27

The Revere and Everett girls tipped off their 2024-2025 seasons with one of their typical Greater Boston League battles of tight defense and physical play in the paint. Revere's early season offense was sharper than Everett's, and Revere took the decision in this one, 42-27, at Everett High School Thursday December 12.

SCORE TWO: Clarice Alexis steps away from Revere's Kritanjely Ruiz (5) on the way to two Everett points. See Page 10 for more photos.

EYES UP: Nicole Damaceno looks toward the basket as she fends off Revere defender Allyson Olliviera.

POWER MOVE: Emilia Maria-Babcock grimaces as she fights her way around Revere's Shayna Smith.

MEETING RESISTANCE: Everett's Manal Bouhou forces her way toward the basket as she is tightly guarded by Revere's Belma Velic.

EHS BOYS EDGE REVERE 59-55 IN SEASON-OPENER; HOST SOMERVILLE ON FRIDAY

Cristian Vasquez took some deep breaths and then calmly sank two clutch free throws with 4.8 seconds remaining to seal an exciting 59-55 triumph for the Everett High boys basketball team in the Crimson Tide's 2025 season-opener at Greater Boston League (GBL) rival Revere this past Thursday.

The free throws capped a superlative performance by Vasquez, who finished with a game-high 24 points and four steals on the night. Cristian provided a spark for coach Gerry Boyce's squad from the moment he came off the bench in the opening period, hitting a three-pointer that erased a 10-7 Revere lead and then hitting a short jumper and another trey that helped propel Everett to a 19-13 advantage at the end of the first period.

When the home-team Patriots made a run to start the second period, Vasquez drained another triple and hit a soft jumper from the wing to maintain the Tide's edge at the half, 30-25.

Boyce's crew came out firing after the intermission, quickly enlarging their advantage into double digits, 40-29, thanks to a nice reverse move by Geordiell Luna Morales off an offensive rebound, a hoop by Richardson Lamerique, and a pair of treys by Tyson Chunn and Vasquez. When Adam Ait-messaoud snuck away for a layup on a fast-break outlet pass and was fouled for a three-point play and Vasquez swished a mid-range jumper to increase the Everett bulge to 45-29, the Tide appeared to have the game well in hand.

However, the Patriots proved to be a pesky opponent, scoring the final six points of the period to stay within striking range, 45-36, at the third buzzer. A nice move inside off the glass by Luna Morales re-upped the Everett lead to double-figures at 47-36 to start the final eight minutes, but Revere soon went on an 12-1 tear, led by their senior all-star Ethan Day, and the Patriots brought the contest back to level at 48-48 with 4:50 to go.

The Tide's Richardson Lamerique stopped the Revere momentum with a nice bucket inside with 3:40 to play and Aitmes-saoud sank two key free throws to make it 52-48 with under three minutes to go.

Two free throws by Revere's Day were offset by another bucket down low by Lamerique, leaving matters at 54-50 inside of two minutes remaining.

PCSS celebrates outstanding fall season in school athletics program

Pioneer Charter School of Science (PCSS) has just celebrated an outstanding season in athletics. While the school is highly regarded for its academic programs, the achievements of its student-athletes and its alums who have transitioned into coaching roles have also contributed significantly to its tradition of excellence within the Massachusetts Charter School Athletic Organization (MCSAO).

“Pioneer Charter is proud of its athletics program and all it has achieved this season,” said PCSS Athletics Director Phil Signoroni. “We are known for our academic accomplishments, which are central to everything we do. But don’t count us out when it comes to athletics. It’s been a stand-out year for our teams, and we’ve become a school to beat in the conference.”

Notably, this year’s Girls Cross Country team won the MCSAO Championship meet this October in Stoneham. Coach Nick Ciavarra, who also coaches the boys’ soccer team, won MCSAO North Division Girls Coach of the Year. This was the second championship win for senior and Captain Marwa Yeznasni, who won the silver medal in the championship race and was named Lady Panther of the Year, a PCSS award given to the best female student-athlete.

The 2024 Boys Cross Country team, led by sophomore Naasson Charles, finished tenth in the MCSAO Championship meet, and senior captain Walter Villanueva. The team finished 7th in the MCSAO Championship meet.

The Girls Volleyball team finished fourth place at the MCSAO tournament this year. The Lady

Panthers won their quarterfinal match against the Collegiate Charter School of Lowell but were eventually defeated by their sister school, Pioneer Charter School of Science II (PCSS II), in the semifinals. Despite losing in a preliminary match, the team made history by qualifying for the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association (MIAA) State Tournament for the first time. Individual honors included juniors

PCSS Senior Kelvin Souza, 17, cherished his last season on the PCSS Varsity soccer team

Sabrina Bocaneli, Sofia Salhi, and Emelyn Witkowski, who were named to the MCSAO North Division All-League team.

In soccer, the Lady Panthers finished third in the MCSAO tournament, winning in the Quarterfinal game against Salem Academy. The team eventually lost 1-0 to Boston Collegiate in the Semifinals. PCSS Junior goalkeeper celebrated making the MCSAO North Division All-League team.

In his second year as Boys’ Head Coach, Pedro Calegari led the team to a second-place regular season finish in the MCSAO and its highest-ever ranking in the MIAA tournament, entering as the #11 seed. The team went on to win its second-ever MCSAO Championship and its first in ten years, and out of 48 participating schools across the state, the Panthers advanced to the quarterfinals, ultimately losing to the #3 seed, Bromfield School, in the MIAA Tournament.

Seniors Kelvin Souza, Rayane Chaibi, Hussein Al-Arashi, and Daniel Taye were named to the MCSAO North Division All-League team.

Calegari is a familiar face in PCSS athletics. He graduated in 2013 and was a member of the school’s first-ever soccer team. In 2024, Coach Calegari was named the MCSAO North Division Coach of the Year.

“This was the best year in PCSS Boys Soccer history,” said Coach Calegari. “Our team was filled with talent, and they played for each other. We succeeded because of their dedication to the program and their academics. Next year, we can be the best team in the conference.”

PCSS’s mission is to prepare educationally under-resourced students for today’s competitive world. Through a rigorous academic curriculum emphasizing math and science, PCSS will help students develop the academic and social skills necessary to become successful professionals and exemplary community members. Balanced by a foundation in the humanities, a character education program, career-oriented college preparation, and solid student-teacher-parent collaboration, PCSS will meet its mission.

Revere then turned the ball over on its next two possessions. However, two misses at the FT line by Everett and a Revere bucket left matters at 54-52 with 15.8 on the clock.

After an intentional Revere foul, Jayden Alsaïndor stepped to the charity stripe and sank both shots to make it 56-52 with 15.0 to go. After an end-to-end drive by Revere’s Day closed the gap to 56-54 with 7.6 remaining, Vasquez hit one-of-two FT shots with 6.7 on the clock. A Revere player then did likewise (after an Everett foul underneath after Vasquez’s free throw), making it 57-55 with 6.0 to go, setting the stage for Vasquez’s clinching free throws for the 59-55 finale.

As much as the contest demonstrated Everett’s offensive prowess both inside and from long-range, the Crimson Tide’s ball-hawking and trapping defense resulted in numerous takeaways that prevented Revere from effectively mounting a consistent offense and proved crucial in thwarting Revere’s comeback effort down the stretch.

“The team showcased a mix of determination and teamwork in the victory against Revere,” said Boyce. “Adam Aitmess-aoud and Jayden Sanchez emerged as defensive dynamos, applying relentless ball pressure that disrupted Revere’s offensive flow. Their ability to force turnovers and challenge passes energized their teammates and demonstrated their commitment to defensive fundamentals. Together, they also contributed significantly to setting up scoring opportunities, with Jayden S. providing crucial assists that reflected his understanding of teamwork.

“Rebounding played a pivotal role in keeping Everett competitive, with Henrique Pinto (who scored the Tide’s first points of the season on a nice drive on which Henrique drew a foul for a three-point play) and Geordiell Luna Morales stepping up to secure crucial boards,” Boyce continued. “Henrique’s ability to fight for both offensive and defensive rebounds helped maintain possession, while Geordiell’s hustle added depth to the team’s rebounding efforts. Their combined work on the glass highlighted the team’s tenacity and commitment to controlling the pace of the game.

“Cristian Vasquez and Richardson Lamerique led the charge on offense,” Boyce added. “Their performances were instrumental to the team’s overall success. Cristian demonstrated his scoring ability (24 points) and defensive skills (4 steals), leading the team in points and steals, while Richardson provided valuable support with his scoring (10 points) and rebounding. Their leadership on the court helped galvanize the team, encouraging younger players to push their limits and strive for improvement.

“Despite challenges, the Everett team’s spirit and teamwork serve as a foundation for future success,” Boyce added. “As they refine their skills and build on their strengths, fans can look forward to seeing this group grow and improve as the season progresses. With the right mindset and continued effort, the Everett basketball team is poised for a bright future.”

Boyce and his crew were scheduled to host the Lynn English Bulldogs, who always are among the top dogs of the GBL and with whom the Tide engaged in two epic battles last season, last night (Tuesday). They will entertain GBL foe Somerville on Friday evening at 5:00.

The Tide will compete in a holiday-week tournament on the Friday and Saturday after Christmas at King-Philip Regional. They will face Lincoln-Sudbury on Friday, and an opponent to be determined on Saturday.

EHS GIRLS HOOP HOSTS LYNN CLASSICAL THURSDAY EVENING

The Everett High girls basketball team will be seeking its first victory of the season when coach Riley Dunn and her crew host Greater Boston League (GBL) foe Lynn Classical tomorrow (Thursday) evening. The opening tip is set for 6:00. The Lady Crimson Tide dropped their season-opener last Thursday at the EHS gym to GBL rival Revere, 42-27.

Senior Emilia Maria Babcock turned in a fine, all-around performance with a team-high 11 points, seven rebounds, and three steals. Junior Nicole Damaceno came off the bench and grabbed six rebounds. Sophomore Kylee Nord saw her first varsity minutes and pulled down three boards and played solid defense.

“It was a tough loss to a strong Revere squad,” said Dunn, whose squad trailed by just five, 15-10, at the half. “Despite the outcome, it was a very promising start for our young team as they worked hard and hustled the entire game.

“Offensively, we shared the ball and got a lot of great looks,” Dunn added. “I’m excited to continue to work with this team and build that team chemistry. We’ll be looking to get our first win against an always competitive Lynn Classical team.”

After the contest with the Lady Rams, the Lady Tide are off until December 28 when they will travel for a non-league workout to Acton-Boxborough.

Eveillard finishes third in 300 at Winter Festival

Everett High track star Kayshaun Eveillard

picked up where he left off last spring with an outstanding performance in the 300 meter dash Sunday at the MSTCA Large School Winter Festival, which is the opening meet of the 2025 indoor track season.

Kayshaun, a junior, sped to a third-place finish among his 82 fellow Large School competitors in the 300, crossing the line in a time of 37.08, just 0.77 behind the winning time of 36.31 by Brockton’s Jarred Mighty.

Teammate Fabrice Michaud also turned in a strong effort at the meet with a toss of 40’-3.50” in the shot-put, a performance that placed Fabrice, a senior, in eighth place among the field of 42 competitors.

Junior Lucas Nunez had a nice 15th place effort in the mile with a time of 5:02.96.

“The Winter Festival is a development meet to see where the athletes are at before the start of the season,” said EHS track coach Jehu Cimea, whose squad is scheduled to face Greater Boston League rivals Medford and Revere in a tri-meet at the Reggie Lewis Athletic Center tomorrow (Thursday).

On the girls’ side, the top performances were turned in by senior Devornie Gomez-Walrond, who finished in 23rd place in the 55 meter hurdles with a clocking off 11.52, and sophomore Graziella Foster, whose toss of 23’- 1.75” placed her in 24th place in the shot.

Two men arraigned for flying drones from restricted Long Island

Special to the Independent

Two men were charged in Dorchester BMC with three counts each connected to flying drones in hazardous air space around Long Island and Boston Harbor on Saturday, Suffolk County District Attorney Kevin Hayden announced.

Robert Duffy, 42, of Charlestown, and Jeremy Folcik, 32, of Bridgewater, were each charged with trespassing, breaking and entering, and violating a municipal ordinance or bylaw. Judge Erika Reis released the men on personal recognizance and ordered them to stay away from Long Island and to not operate drones. Both will return to court February 6 for pre-trial hearings.

Boston Police responded to the abandoned homeless and hospital campus on Long Island via patrol boat at about 10:30 p.m. Saturday to investigate reports of unmanned aircraft being flown in hazardous proximity to Logan Airport. As officers searched the site they saw a light on in a building and a person walk by a window. Officers climbed to the second floor of the building by fire escape stairs and conducted a room search. Officers encountered Duffy and Folcik in the building. Duffy told officers he had been flying a drone and that it was in his backpack. Duffy and Folcik told officers they had been transported to the island on a boat owned by a third man. They said they did not know the man's name. Boston Police asked a State Police patrol boat unit for assistance in locating the third man but he was not apprehended.

Using data from the drone's serial number officers identified six recorded flights on Saturday and seven recorded flights on December 7.

"No trespassing" signs are posted on structures throughout the shuttered Long Island campus.

"There are many areas in Massachusetts to safely operate drones. But flying them from an area closed to the public while creating a potential public safety hazard in the process is conduct that will land people in court to answer to criminal charges, which is exactly what happened here," Hayden said.

Help us keep your Postal carriers safe

Snow in New England can be a beautiful sight as it glistens on the lawn, decorates tree limbs and adds a sense of wonder to the holidays. It can come as a blessing for skiers, plow drivers and kids yearning for a school-free snow day. But for postal letter carriers and other delivery personnel it can be a nightmare.

Icy walkways, wet leaves and rakes, toys or other trip hazards hidden under the snow can cause injury to a carrier trying to navigate a path to your mailbox. Keeping your walkway clear of snow, ice and other obstacles can not only protect people delivering to your home, but it can also help you avoid potential insurance claims or lawsuits resulting from slip and fall injuries sustained on your property.

Likewise, if your home is serviced by a curbside mailbox, keeping a clear path to and from your box is each homeowner's responsibility.

Letter Carriers are committed to delivering to every address every day, provided that it's safe to do so. With your help creating a safe environment, we can keep the mail moving and make sure everyone gets home safely at the end of the day.

On behalf of the more than 660,000 postal employees nationwide, we wish you a Joyous Holiday Season and a Happy and Healthy New Year.

EHS GIRLS BASKETBALL FALLS TO REVERE 42-27

The Revere and Everett girls tipped off their 2024-2025 seasons with one of their typical Greater Boston League battles of tight defense and physical play in the paint. Revere's early season offense was sharper than Everett's, and Revere took the decision in this one, 42-27, at Everett High School Thursday December 12.

THIS ONE TO EVERETT: Everett's Nicole Damaceno won this battle for a rebound as Revere's Belma Velic reaches in.
