Council discusses impacts of lithium battery facility

By Cary Shuman

The Everett City Council discussed the safety impacts of a lithium battery storage proposal for 20 acres in the Docklands District of the city at its meeting Monday night.

"The only good thing I can see from this project is that it will be union-built, Ward 1 Councilor Wayne Matewsky said. "We've been exposed to too many hazards, chemicals, and fire safety issues over the years. I was hoping for something like an Assembly Mall activity regarding hotels and restaurants.'

Fire Chief Joseph Hickey expressed his serious concerns about the project, especially if a fire were to occur at the facility.

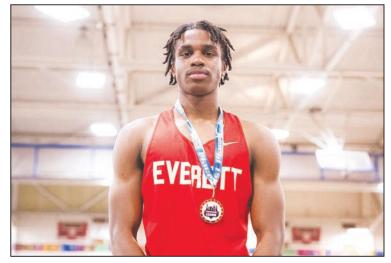

In the end, the Council voted to send a letter to officials and schedule a meeting with State Representatives Joseph McGonagle, Judith Garcia, and Dan Ryan, State Sen. Sal DiDomenico, and Congresswoman Ayanna Pressely to discuss the issue and express its concerns about the safety of the proposal. Councilor Michael Marchese also requested the presence of representatives from the Davis Company at the meeting.

Fire Chief Joseph Hickey expressed his serious concerns about the safety of the project, noting that a lithium battery fire would have to burn out itself over the course of time as opposed to being extinguished by firefighters through regular procedures.

During the discussion with Chief Hickey, Councilor-at-Large Katy Rogers highlighted the need for a new fire station in that part of the city.

"The development of a lithium battery facility further highlights the urgent need for a new fire station," said Rogers. "I want to ensure we have a modern state-of-the-art safety facility in this vicinity to serve the growing needs of Everett."

TRAFFIC SPEED CAMERAS ARE A BAD IDEA -- RED LIGHTS ARE BETTER

As our regular readers know, when it comes to the issue of motor vehicle safety, we take a back seat (pun intended) to no one.

However, we believe that the budget put forward by Gov. Maura Healey that would allow local and state authorities to place traffic speed cameras on our roadways is misguided.

In a nutshell, the legislation provides that tickets for $25 may be issued to persons operating 11 miles or more over the speed limit and $100 to those driving more than 25 over the limit. A first offense within any two-year period would result in a warning. In addition, the tickets would not go on a person's driving record for insurance purposes. They would essentially be the same as a parking ticket.

Our objections are as follows:

First, state law requires that, absent exigent circumstances, a police officer must issue a citation for a moving infraction at the time and place of the violation. This ensures that the officer is giving the citation to the person who is committing the violation. However, the traffic cameras only will be capturing a license plate, which means that the ticket will be sent to the registered owner without regard to whether the owner was actually the operator of the vehicle. If your child (or spouse, friend, or somebody else) is speeding in your car, you're stuck with the ticket and the hassle of trying to prove your innocence.

Second, local authorities (who are limited to installing one camera per 5000 of population in their communities) presumably will be installing these cameras on their most heavily-traveled roadways. However, this invariably means that non-residents, who may not be familiar with the speed limit on those roads, will be the ones who will be subject to getting a ticket. This will be doubly true because the speed limits on almost every local road in this state are poorly-marked and often change (up or down) without warning. In some communities, there is a discreet sign at the entrance to the town that the speed limit in that community is 25 m.p.h. "unless posted otherwise." Given the scattershot nature of speed limit postings across the state's 351 cities and towns, issuing speeding tickets based on a camera will be inherently unfair and arbitrary.

Third, the cameras will not deter those drivers who are the real problem: Habitual traffic offenders who speed excessively on a routine basis. In fact, the cameras will give them a green light (again, pun intended) to speed. If the tickets under the new system will have no real consequences for either their license or their insurance premiums, these habitual offenders will be able to drive as they like with impunity. For the juvenile-minded members of the Fast and Furious crowd, the ticket will not even be a slap on the wrist.

And that brings us to our fourth problem with the new law: Relying on traffic cameras to enforce the traffic laws on the main roads in our state will make our roadways less safe. Traffic stops by police officers do not merely deter unsafe drivers, but they also remove from our roads persons who have suspended licenses, court warrants, vehicles that are unregistered and uninsured, and drivers who are under the influence -- 40 percent of speeding drivers in fatal crashes had a blood alcohol content of 0.08 percent or above. A camera will address none of those issues -- leaving criminals and those under the influence to operate on our roads without fear of the possible consequences.

More broadly, if communities take the cheap way out, so to speak, by replacing officers with cameras, the entire community will be a lot less safe. We realize that every city and town in the state will soon be facing major budget issues and that many cities also are having a hard time filling the ranks of their police departments, but there is no substitute for having police officers patrolling our streets. In our view, if these cameras begin to replace police officers, our communities will be far less safe.

Finally, there is no doubt that most of these speed camera tickets will be issued to otherwise law-abiding and safe drivers, including many seniors, who might happen to exceed by a few miles the statutory threshold for a few seconds. We are being only semi-facetious in suggesting that drivers who obsessively are watching their speedometers and looking for changes in speed limit signs will add immeasurably to the plague of distracted driving. Driving 11 miles over the speed limit on most of our roadways is not unsafe, but the new law would punish normal everyday driving behavior.

But we have a better suggestion: If our state officials want to introduce traffic cameras, we think they should do so at red light intersections. More than 1100 persons nationwide, of whom half were pedestrians and bicyclists, were killed (and more than 100,000 were injured) in 2022 by motor vehicle operators who ran red lights. Statistics show that red light cameras reduce serious accidents of the horrific "T-bone" variety by 25 percent (although there is some evidence that rear-end accidents may increase).

Large, clear signage at every red light intersection proclaiming that cameras are in use would be a huge deterrent to anyone who might be tempted to run a red light (i.e., every driver on the road).

In addition, by requiring that communities must conform the light signalizations on their local roads to nationally-accepted standards, this will make intersections safer for everybody.

So we urge our legislators, if they are inclined to introduce traffic cameras in Massachusetts, to allow these devices to be placed at red light intersections in order to achieve the goal of improving roadway safety with the least amount of intrusion upon everyday, law-abiding citizens.

"We hope this slate of fun and educational programming brings some new and curious minds to our properties next week. Our team of park interpreters looks forward to meeting and welcoming students across the state.'

To celebrate school vacation week, DCR is waiving parking fees at parks offering programming. In addition to offering programming DCR is extending public skating hours during the week at its agency-managed

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement apprehended an illegal Brazilian fugitive wanted for armed robbery in his home country. The officers arrested the 38-year-old alien in Everett on Jan. 22.

We will continue to prioritize public safety by arresting and removing egregious alien threats."

U.S. Border Patrol apprehended the Brazilian alien Oct.

Critical and significant drought conditions declared in several regions

Special to the Times-Free Press

Following nearly six months of below-normal precipitation, Energy and Environmental Affairs (EEA) Secretary Rebecca Tepper declared the Central and Northeast regions have been raised to a Level – 3 Critical Drought. The Southeast, Cape and Islands regions have been elevated to a Level – 2 Significant Drought. The Connecticut River Valley and Western regions still have their previous statuses: Level 2 - Significant and Level – 1 Mild Drought.

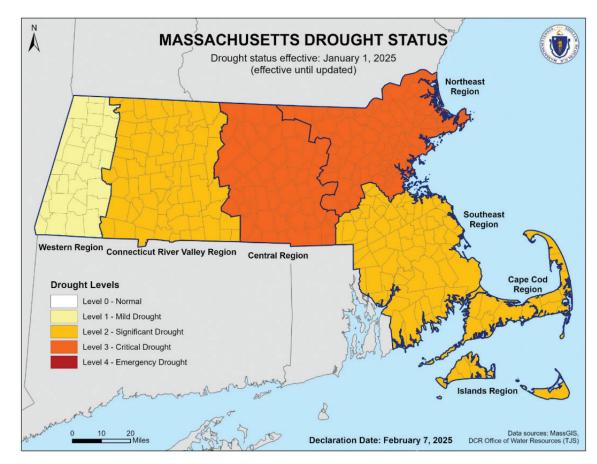

As outlined in the Massachusetts Drought Management Plan, a Level 3 – Critical Drought, Level – 2 Significant Drought, and a Level – 1 Mild Drought require detailed monitoring of drought conditions. These levels also require ongoing coordination among state and federal agencies to implement water use restrictions. Additionally, engagement with municipalities, including local Boards of Health, is essential. This includes providing technical outreach and assistance to water suppliers and affected municipalities.

"Even with winter weather, several regions in our state are facing below-average precipitation," said EEA Secretary Rebecca Tepper. "To avoid overtaxing our water systems, we must prioritize indoor water conservation. It's essential that everyone follows state guidance and local water restrictions to ensure our drinking water stays available for everyone."

Over the past month, most of the state received between 1-2.5 inches of rain and snow, which is 1-13 inches below normal. Overall, most of the state has been in an 8-13 inch deficit since August. The Cape and Islands region is experiencing a 3.8-6 inch deficit in precipitation. Despite the recent rain and snowfall, streamflow and groundwater have worsened in nearly all regions, and recharge that typically occurs at this time of the year to reservoirs and groundwater lagging. Residents can report dry environmental conditions they are experiencing and submit photos to support state drought monitoring efforts here.

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MassDEP) will continue to provide technical assistance to communities on managing their water systems, including assistance on the use of emergency connections and water supplies.

It is important to note that the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) water supply system is not experiencing drought conditions, as defined within its individual plan. However, private well users and other sources of water within the same river basins are impacted by drought conditions. All sources of water, regardless of their location or type of withdrawal, ultimately draw from the same river basin. It is important for all users to do their part to conserve water.

Below are recommendations for communities and individuals living and working within a Level 3 - Critical Drought, Level 2 – Significant Drought, and Level 1 – Mild Drought region, including those utilizing a private well. Residents and businesses are also asked to check with their local water system in case more stringent watering restrictions are in

For Regions in Level 3 -Critical Drought

Residents and Businesses:

- Minimize overall water
- Follow state water conservation actions and any local water use restrictions;
- Monitor total household water use shown on your water bill for sudden increases, which often indicate leaks. Use the MA Home Water Use Calculator tool to evaluate household water use;
- Fix any toilet or faucet leaks immediately. Check for leaks in homes and businesses regularly by:

Checking water meters for constant dial movement

Using dye tabs to check for toilet leaks

Conducting regular inspections of all pipes and fixtures, including those located in utility rooms, crawlspaces, and other hidden areas

- Use dishwashers rather than handwashing dishes. Run the dishwasher only on a full
- Aggressively reduce indoor water use by:

Reducing shower length and consider using a shower timer

Running washing machines only on a full load

Not letting water run while brushing and shaving

Replacing old fixtures and appliances with water-efficient ones. Make sure toilets, faucets, and showerheads are WaterSense labeled

- Stop all non-essential water use; and,
- Be extra cautious with outdoor fires, grills, and flammable materials.

Immediate Steps for Communities/Municipalities:

- Provide timely information on the drought and on water conservation tips to local residents and businesses taking advantage of the state's library of outreach materials;
- Enforce water use restrictions with increasingly stringent penalties;
- Strongly discourage or prohibit washing of hard surfaces (sidewalks, patios, driveways, siding); personal vehicle or boat washing; and,
- · Establish or enhance water-use reduction targets for all water users, identify top water users and conduct targeted outreach to help curb their use.

Short- and Medium-Term Steps for Communities/Municipalities:

City of Everett Holds Monthly Lunch and Learn

The City of Everett recently held its Lunch and Learn for the month of January at Everett City Hall. This month's program, entitled "Cultural Understanding in the Workplace," is the first in a three-part series. This month's program focused on cultural humility and how it can be utilized in the workplace to enhance collaboration and the services that are provided by the City.

City staff were pleased to be joined by Bishop Regina Shearer, executive pastor of Zion Church Ministries. During the program, she engaged with City staff by encouraging attendees to think about past experiences of visiting another country or interacting with other cultures and sharing what was different than what they are used to in the United States or within their own culture. Following the exercise, she connected the experiences with the importance of listening, seeing, and respecting differences even if the individual does not fully understand the reason why a culture may do something a certain way. She also encouraged open dialogue between City staff to learn from each other and the different experiences they all shared to be able to better understand each other.

Lunch and Learn is a monthly program created and moderated by the City of Everett's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Department. The program is an opportunity for City staff to come together, share ideas and experiences, and discuss new topics while enjoying lunch. The series is a part of the City's commitment to engage, educate, and elevate.

EVEILLARD IS GBL CHAMPION IN 300

Everett High boys track star Kayshaun Eveillard brought home a first-place medal in the 300 meter dash at last Monday's Greater Boston League (GBL) Championship Meet that was held at the Reggie Lewis Athletic Center in Roxbury.

Kayshaun's sprint of 36.68 was faster by a nose -- by 0.01 (one one-hundredth) of a second, to be precise -- over Revere's Jeremy X, whose official clocking was 36.69.

The next highest-finisher for the Tide was Fabrice Michaud, who took a fourth-place medal in the shot-put with a toss of 40'-8.5". Teammate Gaetano Foster earned a sixth-place medal in the shot with his toss of 37'-7.5".

Lucas Nunez scored two points and earned a fifth-place medal in the mile with a clocking of 59.98. Luvens Hector scored a point and a sixth place medal in the 55m hurdles with a time of 8.88. Luvens also turned in a strong performance in the 300 dash with an eighth-place finish in 39.80.

The Crimson Tide boys also brought home some hardware in the three relay events.

EHS BOYS SET SIGHTS ON TOURNEY

The Everett High boys basketball team was scheduled to make the long trek westward down the MassPike to Worcester to take on North High School this past Monday. The teams had been scheduled to meet last Thursday, but the contest was postponed because of the snowstorm.

Coach Gerry Boyce and his crew, whose record stood at place medals with their time of 8-9 before the North contest, need to win two of their final three contests if they want to punch their ticket for a Journey to the Tourney. Teams need to achieve a .500 record for inclusion in the post-season MIAA state tourney.

> The Crimson Tide will conclude their 2025 regular season this coming weekend in the Dudley Davenport Tourney at Sharon High School on Sunday and Monday.

EHS GIRLS HOOP BATTLING TO THE END

Although the Everett High girls basketball team has come up short in its past few contests, EHS head coach Riley Dunn has been pleased with her squad's effort.

In a 61-44 loss to Greater Boston League rival Somervlle, Clarice Alexis led the Lady Crimson Tide with 15 points.

Last Saturday in the EHS gym, senior captain Emilia Maria Babcock was the leading scorer for Everett with 16 points in a 47-28 loss to nonleague foe Brookline. In a contest with GBL opponent Malden last Tuesday that was highlighted by Senior Night festivities, the Lady Crimson Tide came up short, 50-18. Gerniah Boyce turned in a strong effort with six points and six rebounds.

This past Friday, the Tide fell by a score of 50-37 to Lynn Classical.

"It was a tough, but hardfought loss," said Dunn. "We really saw some fight in all the girls. Our bench stepped up when people got in foul trouble. We fought until the end."

Senior captain Emilia Maria Babcock led the Tide with 12 points and pulled down six rebounds in three quarters of play. Julianna Rivera hit for double figures with 10 points to go along with two assists and three boards. Nicole Damaceno, "who worked relentlessly on defense," said Dunn, notched four points and hauled in 12 rebounds.

Phone: 781-485-0588 Fax: 781-485-1403

"We're looking to keep building and keep fighting as we finish the season strong," said Dunn.

The Lady Crimson Tide were scheduled to meet GBL rival Revere last night (Tuesday) and will entertain nonleague opponent Lowell tomorrow (Thursday) evening for a 6:30 opening tip. They will travel to two more nonleague foes, Gloucester next Tuesday and Marblehead next Thursday to wrap up their 2025 campaign.

North Shore Philharmonic Winter Concert Features music of Ravel, Barber, Rachmaninoff

Special to the Times-Free Press

Russian composer Sergei Rachmaninoff's demanding Symphony No. 3 and Maurice Ravel's delightful "Mother Goose Suite" highlight the program when Music Director Robert Lehmann conducts the North Shore Philharmonic Orchestra in its Winter Concert Sunday, February 23 at Swampscott High School auditorium.

Concert time is 3:00 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door or can be purchased in advance at www.nspo.org for $30, $25 for seniors and students. Children 12 and under are admitted free.

Also on the concert program is the First Essay for Orchestra by American composer Samuel Barber.

Rachmaninoff, renowned for his works for piano, wrote three symphonies, with some 40 years separating the first and third. Critics claimed that the Third was too much a "modern" piece and it was not well-received by audiences. Over the years, however, Rachmaninoff's Third Symphony has earned its place in the symphonic Repertoire for its orchestral color.

Ravel, well-known his affection for children and animals, originally wrote a piano suite for four hands based on the famous Mother Goose stories in 1908 and four years later wrote the Orchestration. The imaginative, medodic music evokes the wonderment of the characters "Pavane for Sleeping Beauty", Tom Thumb, the Laideronette—Empress the Pagodas, "Beauty and the Beast", and, finally, a celebration of nature in The Enchanted Garden.

Barber wrote the Essay for Orchestra in 1937—(it was later retitled "First Essay for Orchestra)—apparently at the invitation to the celebrated Italian conductor Arturo Toscannini, who conducted the first performance with the NBC Symphony Orchestra in a program that included Barber's now-famous "Adagio for Strings." The Essay form of musical composition develops a complex and thoughtful work from a single thesis.

The North Shore Philharmonic Orchestra is playing its 76th season. Staffed largely by volunteer players, the NSPO is committed to providing affordable access to quality classical music. The Orchestra strives to develop, train, and provide opportunities for young musicians, while providing a large range of programs covering the full range of symphonic and pops repertoire for a diverse public. ## Fire safety tips to keep your Valentine's Day safe

This Valentine's Day, make sure your romantic gestures stay memorable for the right reasons. When lighting candles and cooking a special meal, the National Fire Protection Association® (NFPA®) says to closely monitor food cooking on the stove or in the oven, and to use candles with cau-

"If you're celebrating Valentine's Day at home this year, your plans likely include a special meal and candles," said Lorraine Carli, vice president of Outreach and Advocacy at NFPA. "Our goal is to help ensure that everyone enjoys the holiday with fire safety in

According to NFPA, cooking is the leading cause of reported home fires and home fire injuries year-round. Unattended cooking is a factor in over one-quarter (29 percent) of reported home cooking fires and half of the associated

Simple cooking safety tips include the following:

Stay in the kitchen when frying, grilling, or broil-

- Have a "kid and petfree zone" of at least 3 feet (1 meter) around the stove.
- Keep a lid nearby when cooking. If a small grease fire starts, slide the lid over the pan and turn off the burner.
- you that you are cooking.

Candles are also a leading cause of home fires and must be used with caution and supervision. NFPA data shows that half of all candle fires started when a flammable object - such as furniture, bedding, curtains, home décor, or clothing – was too close to a lit candle. In 21 percent of home candle fires, the candle was either left unattended, discarded, or otherwise misused. More than one-third of candle fires (36 percent) started in the bed-

Consider using batter-operated flameless candles, which proved a similar look and feel to real candles while eliminating the risk of fire.

If you do plan to use real candles, NFPA recommends the following:

- Don't use lit candles in bedrooms, bathrooms, and sleeping areas.
- Use stable candle holders and place candles where they can't be easily knocked
- Keep candles at least Set a timer to remind one foot away from anything that can burn.
  - Keep hair and loose clothing away from the flame.
  - Don't burn a candle all the way down --- put it out before it gets too close to the holder or container.
  - Store matches and lighters up high, out of children's reach, preferably in a locked cabinet.
  - Never leave a burning candle unattended.
  - Blow out candles when you leave the room or go

In addition, NFPA encourages the public to make sure they have working smoke alarms and develop and practice a home escape plan.
