Encore Boston Harbor still predicts two-year ramp up dramatic win

The fourth quarter of 2019 showed their Chinese properties in domino effect. The company executives said they continued their winning ways against Somerville. See page 7 for more photos.
Lever was the first African-American to hold a top administrative position in the Middlesex District Attorney's Office. At UMass, Lee went into private practice and served on the Board of Directors for the Massachusetts Coalition Against Domestic Violence. In 1998, Lee announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of Middlesex County District Attorney. Lever was unopposed in the primary election and was easily elected to the office of Middlesex County District Attorney. In 2002, Governor Swift nominated Lever to serve in the Governor's Office of Policy Coordination. In 2009, Governor Deval Patrick nominated Lever to the position of Undersecretary of Transportation. In May of 2012, Governor Deval Patrick nominated Lever to serve as Commissioner of the Department of Public Health. Lever's appointment is subject to confirmation by the Massachusetts Senate. Lever has been the driving force behind the passage of new legislation to protect the rights of the elderly, the disabled, and the poor. Lever has been a leader in the fight for affordable housing and has been instrumental in the development of many new housing projects in the area. Lever is also a strong advocate for education and has been involved in the development of many new educational programs. Lever is a strong supporter of the environment and has been a vocal advocate for the protection of our natural resources. Lever is a strong supporter of the arts and has been involved in the development of many new cultural programs. Lever is a strong supporter of the LGBT community and has been involved in the development of many new programs to support the rights of the LGBT community.

"What those "who were there" remembered about the struggle for civil rights, history continues to shift," said Sampson. Sampson grew up in Everett's Baldwin Avenue Park. When his brother, Al Sampson, became a police officer, Al developed a reputation as a community leader. Sampson remembers the day that his brother, Al, was shot down in Vietnam. Sampson still remembers his brother's last words: "I love you," to his wife and daughter. Sampson has written a book about his brother's life and the impact he had on the community.

Sampson is set to release a book about his brother, Al Sampson, and the impact he had on the community. Sampson's book, "Al Sampson: A Life of Service," is due out in March. Sampson is a former police chief and a community leader.

In 1966, Sampson was called to the Governor's Office of Policy Coordination. Sampson worked on a number of important issues, including the development of new educational programs, the protection of the environment, and the development of new cultural programs. Day before Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day is a beautiful time - bewildering, confusing.

Flowers that you would never give to someone you probably already tried in price. Our local grocery store sometimes sells a dozen roses for under $20, but they will be over $70 during Valentine's season. You can't go a week early and save either. They say about that and have already priced them higher. Those Valentine boxes of candy have been out for awhile. If you want to help you find a better box you had better go out in寻找 صفقة في الأسواق. I told someone about a man talking with his store on line and mail order受到了否定。The only boxes of candy left in his store late on Valentine's Day. They can't be given away and sold. The expensive boxes of candy left were the very expensive ones. He said the man had to say what he was giving to someone in love and being kind to special people. And I ate the entire box in one sitting. Those Valentine's Day给了我一个最好的机会来表达我对你的爱。It's certain that the expressions that you will be seen in the streets are not the same as others and some cute things. Women like candy, flowers and love. Valentine's Day gives you a perfect opportunity. It has a philosophy that the love I don't always understand or grasp, is a kind of love that I don't always understand or grasp. It's certainly the case that many of us do not need candy. I've known this out the year by my wife bought me a pound of really good chocolate. I think it was in the price box for a long time. I see, sometimes when we are treated too poorly and I make sure we don't get Valentine's Day. It's about warm feelings, love and kindness to special people. That has reached a critical point in February. I want to be a State Representative. I have a first-hand knowledge of our school's needs. The Everett Public Schools need a foundation for children to go on to pursue careers that are in higher education or the opportunity to enter the workforce. EPA grants a State Representative need to fight for them. Our school system needs more money and resources to help make these opportunities a reality. That is why I am fighting for the future of Everett and everybody else.

As a proud resident of the Everett Greater Boston, housing authority has many goals that are very important to our community. As a lifelong Everett resident, I have found that it is difficult to get what you need all the time. I have never forgotten that I work for the people of Everett and nobody else. On Friday, February 28, Malden Catholic High School will hold an art gallery reception featuring artist, José Estrella from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m., in the Girls Program Hub Gallery. On a quarterly basis, Malden Catholic proudly features the work of well known artists. This past February and March, fourteen original digital art pieces were on display highlighting the work of José Estrella, Portugal. José Estrella’s gallery reception is open to all and will be held at Malden Catholic School from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. on Friday, February 28.

Since 1932, Malden Catholic High School has shaped emerging leaders in our community, claiming a Noted Alumnus, a Senator, two ambassadors and countless community business heads among its alumni. Annually, graduates attend some of the nation’s most renowned universities including Harvard, Georgetown, Boston College, Cornell, Tufts, Georgia Tech, Boston College and Amherst College. Foundation students succeed in Malden Catholic’s co-educational model which offers the best of both worlds, single-gender subjects during the day and a co-educational environment and curricular opportunities after school. Malden Catholic is known in the community for its rigorous academics, SFV Scholars Program and award-winning program (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) with electives such as Robotics and Engineering Design. Malden Catholic curricula is designed to improve individual growth, prepare for leadership, principles, success outcomes along with integrating the Xaverian values of trust, humility, compassion, simplicity and faith.

EHS GIRLS BASKETBALL CLAIMS GBL CROWN
The Everett High girls basketball team clinched an undisputed and undefeated Greater Boston League championship with a pair of victories over GBL rivals Malden and Somerville this past week.

The Lady Crimson Tide concluded their league schedule with a perfect 8-0 record, thereby defending the GBL title that they had won in 2017, the last year before the GBL disbanded for two seasons to join the Northeastern Conference, only to get back together again for 2019-20.

The triumph over Somerville on Monday evening was a fitting celebration of Senior Night at which the six members of the Class of 2020, captain Carolann Cardinale, captain Maddy Duraes, Saunti Burton, Veronica Bento, Gianna Martin, and Stephanie Suavita, were honored for their contributions to the EHS girls basketball program.

For Burton, the evening was especially poignant. Saunti tore an ACL in the pre-season of fall volleyball and has been sidelined for the entire basketball season until she made her first appearance of the year in the starting line-up against Somerville Monday night. Burton then proceeded to score the first Everett basket of the contest to give her team a big morale boost.

However, Somerville hung tough and held a four-point lead, 66-62, with about four minutes to play. EHS head coach Tammy Turner called a propitious time-out to regroup her troops.

“We were pushing the ball too fast down the court on offense and either we would turn the ball over or take a bad shot,” said Turner. “I told the team we still had plenty of time left in the game and that we needed to play smart basketball. On defense, we also had to”.

correct a breakdown in our 1-3-1 zone that had allowed a Somerville player to get open on the baseline and hit three straight three-pointers.

The Lady Crimson Tide took to the floor after the timeout, made the necessary adjustments, and then increased the pressure on defense, especially at the top of the 3-1-1. The result was a ball-hawking defense, led by Andrea Masi and Cardeline, that led to steals and breakaway baskets, lifting Everett into the lead.

A three-pointer by Cardeline proved to be the pro-

vocal dagger that finally turned the game’s momentum in Everett’s favor down the stretch.

In addition to the offensive exploits of Cardinal and Maryka, Kayla Kinon had a nice scoring night for the Lady Crimson Tide.

DeMaria announces construction will begin to complete Northern Community Trail

Mayor Carlo DeMaria is pleased to announce major progress on the construction of the Northern Community Trail. The project is expected to improve the overall level of recreation and conservation in the area.

"This project is a testament to the importance of community investment," DeMaria said. "It will connect our residents to some of the most beautiful natural areas in the city, and it will provide a much-needed development for our community."
Lorraine “Lorrie” Bruno
Ten Year Everett Ward Councilor and past president of Everett Women’s Volleyball League

Lorraine “Lorrie” Bruno, a lifelong resident of Everett, entered into eternal rest on Friday, Feb. 7.

Born in Everett, Lorrie retired from Arbor Terrace as an administrative assistant. She was a devoted member of the Everett Women’s Volleyball League. Lorrie also represented the citizens of Everett as a ward councilor in the city’s North End for ten years, serving as their president in 2009. She was known as an avid sports fan both at home and on the local and national level.

She was the beloved daughter of the late Frederick and Mary (Vinukievich) Bruno, dear and devoted sister of Gary Ravanesi of Newton, former husband of formerly of Everett, Abby Picano of Tewksbury and the late Patrice Santaguida. She was survived by seven loving nieces and nephews, her husband, Dennis Lerman, and five grand- children, Marisa, Taylor, Vivian, Elana and Giada. She was also the cherished grandmother of Daniel A. Capria, Valentina, Adriana and the late Nicholas Capria, who was born in Beverly, succumbed to complications of COVID-19.

Lorrie was an avid sports fan both at home and on the local and national level. Her family was her priority. She made each and every child and grandchild feel special in their own way.

A short story about a Motorcycle

Richard Barth

Richard Barth, 81, of Beverly successfully combated his multiple sclerosis, an incurable disease, and ultimately enjoyed every moment of his life. Richard worked as a service manager for a Chevrolet dealership and, later, as a service manager for the Independent Newspaper Group’s Everett Street & Depot Street Coaches. He was an avid sports fan, a beloved husband of Sheila Lerman Barth, 78, of Beverly, succumbed to complications of COVID-19.

Richard was born in Beverly and spent most of his life in Newburyport, Lynn and Portland, Maine. He earned a bachelor’s degree in Statistics at Boston College and was the true pillar of his family. Richard was a steady, caring individual with an insatiable curiosity for life. He could chat with you off guard with his witty sense of humor. He was a skilled writer, an accomplished critic for all the arts. He was also a highly successful real estate agent.

Funeral arrangements were made at the Calamisano & Son Funeral Home, 63 Clark St., (Corner of Main St.) Everett. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett. Contributions in Lorrie’s memory to the Animal Rescue League. She was a devoted mother of Daniel A. Capria of Beverly, survivors by many loving family, friends and neighbors. She was a true force of nature and an inspiration to all who knew her. She was a true force of nature and an inspiration to all who knew her.

Sheila Lerman Barth, 78, of Beverly, succumbed to complications of COVID-19 on Feb. 7.

Sheila was loved by so many people. She was the devoted wife of Richard Barth, who passed away five days after Sheila; the proud mother of Lisa Wolowacki and her husband, Ralph, and “Nana” of Camer
