The six “Stooges” of World War II

By Ralph D’Agostino

Nearly everyone knows or remembers the movie and television comedians called the THREE STOOGES. The appeal of Moe, Larry, and Curley has spanned from vaudeville days of the 1920s to today’s marathon status on cable TV. The height of their success, however, occurred between 1934-1946, during the economic depression and World War II. Those same years also witnessed the incredible rise in political power of a trio of another sort – the despotic, war-mongers, Hitler, Mussolini, and Tojo.

While adult Americans hated the very sight of these enemies – younger ones, like myself, though despising them, saw a hilarious element in their very appearance and physical quirks. Let’s face it, they were unbelievably funny looking. No, that’s too mild – they were goofy, goofier, and goofiest.

•“Moe” Hitler: The most imaginative of fiction writers couldn’t have come up with such a weird character. This “Moe” could have been a solo on “Looney Tunes”. That half-mustache and slicked-down hair of his were objects of parody and lampooning that provided many hours of comic relief during those years.

•“Larry” Mussolini: If ever there was a Number 2, in all uses of that number, it was ‘Il Duce’ – the prancer and poser of strength and leadership. What an actor! If this “Larry” actually desired to convey that he was a reincarnate of the Holy Roman Empire, he convinced me, because that severe expression of his suggested that he just walked out of the men’s room of Rome’s Coliseum. He was eventually hanged by his own people, who finally decided it was better to have the trains run late than to arrive on time at death’s door.

•“Curly” Tojo: A misnomer for sure because this insect of a man was completely bald, though fully mustached, suggesting that he shaved his head as a symbol of strength. He rose to power as a strong advocate of “nationalistic” aims, including a sneak attack on America, of which Pearl Harbor was the eventual target. Not much to laugh about except for his appearance in uniform, dominated by medals and ribbons of various size that completely covered his jacket.

So, there you have it – six men who achieved fame or notoriety, or both, during the same span of time. The “movie” stooges feigned physical pain to each other with their slaps, jabs, and tricks of their trade, always in the pursuit of laughs. Those other stooges, however, without lifting a finger, caused pain, suffering, and death to millions and millions of people. Let’s never forget that.

Foundation Trust awards grant to Eliot Services in Everett

Staff Report

The Foundation Trust is delighted to award a grant to the Eliot Center in Everett to enhance their trauma-focused mental health services for low-resource, high-risk clients.

The grant establishes the Trauma Recovery Fund at the Eliot Services Everett outpatient clinic, and allows for the expansion of the Adjunctive Eye Movement Desensitization Reprocessing (EMDR) Program. EMDR is an innovative, evidence-based therapy to help people process distressing memories of past traumatic experiences and strengthen their internal coping resources. The new Trauma Recovery Fund will make this specialized treatment approach available to people who may not have been able to access it before, as EMDR sessions are 90 minutes in length and often not covered by Medicaid or third party insurance.

“This award has made it possible to offer extended-length EMDR sessions to clients, train staff in advanced EMDR protocols, and provide the books and equipment needed to provide the best care. We are excited to be able to broaden our scope of treatment to include complex trauma, OCD, phobias, panic disorders, and early trauma experiences,” says Eliot’s outpatient clinical supervisor, Julie Foss.

Dr. Joseph Spinazzola, the Executive Director of the Foundation Trust and an expert on complex trauma commented that “exposure to trauma, abuse, and violence are pervasive, and affect people of all ages and from all walks of life. Community mental health facilities play a vital role; many people with the highest need don’t have the resources to access specialty services through private practice. That’s why we are particularly impressed with how Eliot Services in Everett, spearheaded by Julie Foss, brings these advanced treatment approaches to diverse clients. The Foundation Trust is thrilled to be able to support Eliot Services in overcoming economic disparities in access to state-of-the-art, trauma-focused interventions.”

The Foundation Trust is a private operating foundation committed to uplifting vulnerable individuals and communities. Through our unique combination of philanthropy, grantmaking, educational resource development, scholarships, outreach and training, we are honored to be a part of efforts to advance inclusivity, overcome diversity, and transform trauma worldwide. ### MAKE THE MOST OF THE REST OF SUMMER

If nothing else, the Summer of 2021 has taught us an age-old lesson: The only thing that is certain about life is uncertainty.

Remember when President Biden told the country in the spring that his goal was to have the pandemic restrictions lifted across the country by July 4?

At that time, the Delta variant of COVID-19, though already responsible for a huge surge in deaths in India and other places, constituted only a tiny fraction of cases in the United States.

But by July 4, almost all of the COVID cases in the U.S., among both the vaccinated and unvaccinated, were attributable to Delta, which is many times more contagious than original COVID and proving to be far deadlier among the unvaccinated, particularly for younger age groups.

Today, COVID-19 is raging as never before and restrictions on our normal living are being reinstated.

The extent of the tragic and sad situation that has been unfolding in Afghanistan (though foreseeable by some) caught the U.S. government and the American people completely off-guard. Afghanistan registered barely a blip on the news cycle at the start of the summer, but now it dominates the news.

And although scientists have long warned us of the overall effects of climate change, the catastrophic weather events of this summer -- the floods, wildfires, and drought -- have been felt in every corner of the globe.

Then, as if to place an exclamation point on the extent of life's vicissitudes, just this past weekend, the wonderful Concert in Central Park was cut short by a lightning storm.

If the Summer of 2020 was notable for lockdowns, the Summer of 2021 will be remembered as a real-life version of Whack-a-Mole, when we never were able to regain our footing on the path to normalcy because of all of the obstacles that continuously sprung up along the way.

There are just two weekends left in the Summer of 2021, our Summer of Uncertainty.

We hope that all of our readers will make the most of the summer days that are left, but do so safely.

THE UNVACCINATED ARE REBELS WITHOUT A CAUSE

For the majority of our readers -- who are vaccinated (because we live in Eastern Mass.) -- the reasons being given by those who refuse to get the shot, even when they are dying in the hospital, are inexplicable.

The most-often heard statement from the new COVID cohort is that they were exercising their "freedom" from the tyranny of government officials who have been urging Americans to be vaccinated.

However, freedom isn't free, as those who are filling the critical care beds in our hospitals are learning the hard way. Further, their freedom to die affects the rest of us, both by spreading the disease among their fellow citizens and pushing our healthcare system to the brink.

Ironically, getting a COVID-19 vaccination shot is among the least demanding of the many impositions on our freedom that all of us experience as Americans each and every day.

Even in our free society, we live with restrictions on our behavior in everything we do. No one has the right to walk naked down the street, to drive a car as fast as they want, or to not pay taxes, to name just the most obvious examples of restrictions on our personal freedom.

More to the point (no pun intended), many vaccines already are mandated from the time we are born in this country in order to attend public schools.

In addition, unscrupulous politicians (Trump, Cruz, DeSantis, et als), together with disingenuous social and traditional media, are amplifying this corrupted notion of absolute freedom.

Ultimately however, the decision to get the vaccine remains a personal choice. But as we watch the suffering among the unvaccinated, their pathetic plight brings to mind the title of the classic James Dean movie, Rebel Without a Cause.

Yes, the unvaccinated may be exercising their "freedom."

But in the final analysis, what was the point of it all?

GUEST OP-ED

Public safety should always be a top priority

institutional knowledge more senior members could have shared. By the time these new members were hired, those members with 30 or more years of experience on the job already left. Extensive experience and invaluable mentorship possibilities vanished. This wasted opportunity should never be allowed to happen again. Moreover, when a Department is understaffed, as Everett was, we don't qualify for grants to cover the cost of additional firefighter personnel. The inability to receive free funding for firefighters is another wasted opportunity that should never happen again.

I want to see police officers back on the beat in our neighborhoods. The increased interaction between residents and police officers is beneficial on many fronts. First, officers and residents will get to know one another better. These interactions will foster a level of trust that will improve communication. Improved communication will better enable officers to effectively address resident concerns. The working relationships between residents and officers will improve and will enhance the safety of our neighborhoods. I would also like to study the feasibility of a satellite police station in Everett Square to increase accessibility.

As a community, we need to do a better job addressing mental illness homelessness and addiction issues. The extent of the problem is open and obvious - in the center of Everett Square and throughout our entire city. We can't continue to ignore reality.

As Mayor, Public Safety will always be a top priority. For other areas of concern or ideas, please visit my webpage at www.fredcaponeforeverett.com

Committed to improving the city's environmental resources

about its beautiful waterfront, but you may not know exactly what went into making it that way. The process involved dredging pollutants and putting down clean sand, which helped marine life return to the waters. They also creating a living shoreline -- one of only two in Massachusetts -- which is a more natural barrier versus a typically used seawall. What was once a contaminated Montesanto chemical plant has now become a major point of pride within the city.

Beyond the Harborwalk, you'll find a walking path to Gateway Park, which has further opened up previously inaccessible waterfront. Keep heading north and you'll find Rivergreen Park. A former GE site, this Malden River strip of land has been completely overhauled.

There are now more than two miles of shoreline available for public enjoyment, including playgrounds, parks, ballfields and a kayak and a canoe launch, which has long been a goal of the Mayor, and became a reality last year thanks to a partnership with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA). But this is only the beginning... A vision plan is currently underway for a Riverwalk that will include many more amenities and improvements. Some ideas are a seating plaza at Gateway Park, a mooring field, an overlook pier, an additional kayak launch at Gateway mall and a seating area, a boardwalk, additional shade structures and improvements to Village Landing Park. A community boathouse and crew dock for the high school is also in the works at Rivergreen Park. Vegetation is being thinned for better views across the area, and there are plans for an extension of the Everett Riverwalk up to National Grid, ultimately connecting with the Malden Riverwalk.

Everett's Fermentation District is another example of new waterfront accessibility. This up-and-coming neighborhood is home to several breweries and distilleries and will soon be the site of a new housing development. It has become a destination for both residents and visitors and has furthered Everett's stock as a desirable place to live.

At a recent public forum and the city's Earth Day celebration, the Mayor further discussed his Riverfront Development Plan, which was prepared by Shadley Associates and made possible by the MWRA and Friends of the Malden River. You can view the plan here: <https://fb.watch/5C8HKljT3u/>.

As Mayor DeMaria remains focused on his vision of a fully restored waterfront and giving complete access of the river back to the people, it's safe to say that the development will only continue to make Everett a more beautiful, clean, and safe community for all.

SUPPORTING SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS

To the Editor,

My name is Gerly Adrien. I am running a people-powered campaign to become the next Mayor of Everett. As a Small Business Owner, I have experienced what it means to take each day step by step. But as a current City Councilor At-Large, I'm also aware of the potential this city must create opportunities for all of us - especially when it comes to entrepreneurship. This is why I am introducing my initial "Supporting Small Business Owners" plan this week. Furthermore, I welcome all feedback and suggestions.

My husband, David Lindsey and I always wanted to start a small business. We wanted a space where everyone was welcomed and felt at home. We have been small business owners for 3 years now. Tipping Cow Ice Cream (www.tippingcowicecream.com), which provides nut-free and dairy-free options, is in Somerville, near the neighborhood I was born in. Tipping Cow was awarded Boston Magazine's Best of Boston 2020 for Best Ice Cream, Food Network Magazine's Best ice cream for Massachusetts for 2021 and Top 40 Ice Cream across the country. We are opening our second location in Boston in the Charles Speedway. We understand what it means to save up and wait for customers to come by. We know what it means to have rent increases. I love being a Small Business Owner and know small business owners are the lifeline to cities like Everett.

Under my leadership, I will ensure the fight for economic growth is universal and for all. Below are some of my sugges-

Back to School: Pencils, crayons and COVID vaccines required

Staff Report

Going down the list of back-to-school supplies and needs this year, one will find crayons, pencils, a calculator and vaccines.

Vaccines for COVID-19 are the newest hot topic this year for back-to-school as parents wrestle with the idea of vaccinating children age 12 and over – particularly the 12-14 year old age group – and health care providers continue to assure parents that the vaccines are safe and a good idea for getting kids back to the classroom.

Dr. David Roll, a primary care doctor practicing in the CHA Revere clinic and CHA Everett, said it has been a hot topic with parents who are coming in and discussing the idea of vaccinating their children, but he also said in going back to school he can see very little down-side to vaccinating those 12 and up.

“There’s a lot of interest out there about vaccinations and questions about vaccinations now,” he said. “I’m definitely spending a lot of time talking with my families here about getting their kids vaccinated and doing that before school. I’m encouraged to see the number that are eager to get the shot because I think it’s very safe and effective vaccination for the age groups that have been studied so far.”

Those with children 12 and up can have them vaccinated with the Pfizer vaccine, and that’s widely available in Everett. But the decision likely will soon spread down to lower age groups.

Dr. Roll said there are ongoing studies right now for ages 5-11 and they’re expecting a report on the safety for that age group by September. Also, he said, studies on ages 2-5 should come soon after.

“It won’t be long before the vaccine will be available to all ages of kids,” he said. “There’s even studies of six months to 2 years going on. I don’t think it will be long before the shot is available to all ages soon. It could be before the end of the year.”

That means parents of all ages by the end of the year will have a decision to make, and while vaccine mandates are not in place for Everett students, the vaccine – when approved – will most likely be strongly encouraged.

He said a lot of parents are worried about the speed at which the vaccine was developed.

“I find a lot of parents who are worried because the vaccine has been developed quickly and they are concerned there might be long-term side effects that won’t be discovered for years to come,” he said. “They were developed quickly but that wasn’t because they skimped on the studies to prove effectiveness. The numbers and quality of tests was quite comparable to what’s done in a standard vaccine trial...The other thing that accelerated it was the government backing manufacturers before they finished the trials. You would never do that without government backing because it wouldn’t make business sense. The studies were high-quality and they were thorough studies even it was done quickly.”

He added that long-term side effects are extremely rare in a vaccine product, and any side effects would likely happen soon after taking the shot and not many years later.

Another key reason in Chelsea, Everett and Revere that he recommends child vaccinations for COVID-19 is due to the fact that they interact with many age groups – sometimes living with elderly relatives in close quarters.

“Kids don’t live in a bubble,” he said. “They’re in the community and many times live in families with elderly grandparents. As time goes on, the immunity in vaccinated grandparents might wane...It’s a good way to protect everyone in the family. Anything that can be done to keep the whole family healthy is a good idea.”

Dr. Roll said it can’t be stressed enough that the vaccines also help children break out of isolation that they’ve been in for a year, now being able to confidently see their friends without the worry of contracting or spreading COVID-19. That, he said, is an amazing thing that within a year, the vaccines were available and distributed to the population. He said the miracle of that innovation cannot be overstated.

“These are really life-saving vaccines and it is one of the most impressive accomplishments I’ve ever seen in health care to get this safe a vaccine to the public,” he said. “I did not hesitate to give the vaccine to my own kids. They got vaccinated and they would probably recommend that to other parents.”

Back-to-school gear for academic skills development

From mathematics to music to new languages, skill development and knowledge acquisition are easiest with the right tools. Set your child up for a successful year with the best back-to-school gear.

- Reinforcements: Flash cards, a tried-and-true technique for reinforcing classroom lessons, have gone digital. Check out Quizlet, a site that features flash cards, games, diagrams and study guides on a range of subjects, including foreign languages, science subjects and even practical computer skills like Photoshop, Excel and PowerPoint. With content accessible online or on the mobile app, students can quickly and conveniently cram for their exams on-the-go.

- Practice makes perfect: Whether your child is learning to play piano for the first time or mastering their skills, the right keyboard can make all the difference. To that end, consider outfitting your student with a Casio Stage Piano from the brand’s CDP line.

The CDP-S150, for example, delivers a natural grand piano sound and feel in a slim case that’s barely larger than the keys themselves, making it a great choice for those who practice in a bedroom or dorm room. Since it weighs only 23.1 pounds and is capable of running on either its included power supply or AA batteries, this model provides both portability and convenience.

- Organization: Organization is not exactly an academic skill, but mastering this life skill has the potential to improve grades and make the learning process easier. Seek out tools that help students keep both their hard copy paperwork and digital files organized, as well as teach good habits. Mountable wall files can help reduce desk clutter and provide a sorting system, whereas new digital tools like Evernote can streamline both note-taking and review.

- Higher-order thinking: By conveying the appeal of mathematics in a way that does not just rehash textbook exercises or ask students to memorize formulas, students will be motivated to explore the depths of this fascinating subject. You can foster this type of higher-order thinking by powering your child’s learning with a high-quality calculator designed for their coursework. Handling the tedious calculations, students will have the bandwidth to discover different possibilities for arriving at answers, while focusing on the concepts behind the calculations. The scientific calculator models from Casio can handle hundreds of math functions and their graphing calculators feature a natural textbook display to help students more easily visualize mathematical concepts.

- Gaming and sports: While video games may seem like a school-year distraction, they can actually provide specific benefits to budding athletes, so don’t shy away from them completely. Research has shown that gaming in general can improve hand-eye coordination, and it’s also shown that games designed to mimic actual sports play can help build real-world skills.

There’s no doubt about it. The tools students need to thrive today look quite different from the past. However, these tools can help students take both their skills, as well as their comprehension of subjects, to new heights.

COVID-19 vaccine requirement for Executive Department employees announced

Governor Charlie Baker issued an executive order requiring all Executive Department employees to provide proof of COVID-19 vaccination on or before October 17, 2021. The COVID-19 vaccine is the best and most effective way people can protect themselves, their loved ones and their community from the virus.

All Executive Department employees will be required to provide proof that they have received either the required two doses of the Moderna or Pfizer or the single dose of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine by October 17. In the coming weeks, employees will receive information about the process by which they may provide this verification to the Commonwealth. This process will be made available well in advance of October 17. All documentation related to an employee's COVID-19 vaccinations will be maintained confidentially. The policy applies to both employees working in-person and those who are teleworking.

As new CDC guidance regarding booster vaccine doses is issued in the future, Executive Branch employees will also be required to provide proof they have received those doses by a deadline to be established. Employees for whom vaccination is medically contraindicated or who object to vaccination on the grounds of sincerely-held religious reasons may be entitled to an exemption from the requirement to demonstrate vaccination. The Administration will provide further guidance in the coming weeks for employees who may wish to seek such an exemption.

Executive Department employees who are not vaccinated or approved for an exemption as of October 17, 2021 will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. The Administration will continue to work with its union partners regarding this policy, and specific ramifications of non-compliance for staff represented by unions will be discussed well in advance of October 17 with each employee union. Management employees not in compliance as of October 17, 2021 will also be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Vaccines are widely available in Massachusetts, with over 900 locations available at the Commonwealth's Vax-Finder website, including locations with walk-up appointments. Massachusetts remains a national leader in vaccinating its residents, with over 85% of adults having received at least one dose. This has supported significant progress in protecting the Commonwealth's residents: Massachusetts has one of the lowest COVID-19 hospitalization rates in the country.

DEMARIA HOLDS WARD 5 COMMUNITY MEETING

Mayor DeMaria hosted an in-person Ward 5 community meeting for the City of Everett's Ward 5 community at Swan Street Park on Tuesday, August 17. "My Administration and I have enjoyed meeting with the community over the past few months," said Mayor DeMaria. "Throughout our community meetings, I have learned about the issues and concerns facing the neighborhoods of Everett. Residents asked questions and shared concerns, and we are working to find solutions."

We need a Mayor to fight for everyone.

As a City Councilor, I made a pledge to put the people first, and as a candidate for mayor, I am doubling down on this effort.

Together, we can move Everett forward by being more transparent as to where we are investing city funds, and ensuring that our businesses, families, and services needed for our residents are being prioritized in our spending.

We cannot afford another four years of lack of investment and lack of support to our Small Business Owners. Everett needs change. Join me in this fight to win for our future.

"We were paying for millions of gallons of water that were either being lost in the ground or to customers who were not paying their water fees because they had disconnected their meters. It was estimated that the city overall was paying 20 percent more in our yearly water bills," he said. But fast forward to today, and the average Everett rate-payer has the third lowest water bill in the entire MWRA system.

"My Administration and I meet frequently and go over all of the ongoing projects in the city," DeMaria explained. "Today, there is consistency from all of the city departments, since many projects have ripple effects with other projects. Just as no city department operates in a silo, so too, no project is built-in a silo."

There is little doubt that the Encore Casino has started to be the explosive catalyst for many developments, both public and private, that either have been started and completed or are about to be built in Everett. DeMaria points out that the land that Encore sits on was a 40-acre brownfield and his vision to get a casino was a longshot. The other potential site, Suffolk Downs, had all the political muscle behind it.

However, DeMaria came up with a better plan and the State Gaming Commission awarded the license to Encore. As a result, a property that for years had been netting a mere $300,000 in tax revenue for the city's coffers has turned into an annual $30 million windfall.

"We continually are applying this process to other old sites that are generating more revenue and not burdening our existing taxpayers," said DeMaria.

So what now?

"We cannot stand still," DeMaria said. "We need to have a number of projects shovel-ready for the next wave of public infrastructure projects."

The mayor listed several projects that he would like to move into the planning stages.

Education was on the top of his list.

DeMaria pointed out proudly that he attended and graduated from the Everett public schools. His oldest daughter is a recent Everett High graduate and his youngest daughter attends the public schools and is in Grade 7.

"I want the schools to be what they were for me," he added. "I want to expand vocational programming. For too many of our students, college is not an option and they leave Everett High without a marketable skill like being a plumber, electrician, or auto mechanic. Nothing is more positive than having a job and earning a good wage. We cannot let our students leave our schools unprepared for the world."

DeMaria is talking with

The new Police Station will be built on the adjacent site of the Everett Rec Center on Elm Street. The old Police Station will be razed and a multi story parking garage is being planned that can service the parking needs of the high school, police station and users of Glendale Park.

DeMaria has attracted new development in housing and industry, which in turn is generating more revenue streams for city coffers.

However, the possibility of Amazon locating a facility off Air Force Road is a non-starter for DeMaria.

All of these new projects will be vetted through community meetings. "We held more than 60 community meetings on Encore," DeMaria said, adding "We will do the same for all new projects.

"My team and I are committed to making Everett the best city that it can be," DeMaria concluded.

FOUNDATION TRUST AWARDS GRANT TO ELIOT SERVICES IN EVERETT

The Foundation Trust is delighted to award a grant to the Eliot Center in Everett to enhance their trauma-focused mental health services for low-resource, high-risk clients.

The grant establishes the Trauma Recovery Fund at the Eliot Services Everett outpatient clinic, and allows for the expansion of the Adjunctive Eye Movement Desensitization Reprocessing (EMDR) Program. EMDR is an innovative, evidence-based therapy to help people process distressing memories of past traumatic experiences and strengthen their internal coping resources. The new Trauma Recovery Fund will make this specialized treatment approach available to people who may not have been able to access it before, as EMDR sessions are 90 minutes in length and often not covered by Medicaid or third party insurance.

“This award has made it possible to offer extended-length EMDR sessions to clients, train staff in advanced EMDR protocols, and provide the books and equipment needed to provide the best care. We are excited to be able to broaden our scope of treatment to include complex trauma, OCD, phobias, panic disorders, and early trauma experiences,” says Eliot’s outpatient clinical supervisor, Julie Foss.

Dr. Joseph Spinazzola, the Executive Director of the Foundation Trust and an expert on complex trauma commented that “exposure to trauma, abuse, and violence are pervasive, and affect people of all ages and from all walks of life. Community mental health facilities play a vital role; many people with the highest need don’t have the resources to access specialty services through private practice. That’s why we are particularly impressed with how Eliot Services in Everett, spearheaded by Julie Foss, brings these advanced treatment approaches to diverse clients. The Foundation Trust is thrilled to be able to support Eliot Services in overcoming economic disparities in access to state-of-the art, trauma-focused interventions.”

The Foundation Trust is a private operating foundation committed to uplifting vulnerable individuals and communities. Through our unique combination of philanthropy, grantmaking, educational resource development, scholarships, outreach and training, we are honored to be a part of efforts to advance inclusivity, overcome diversity, and transform trauma worldwide. ## NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGION

CHELSEA HITS 40,000 RESIDENTS

CHELSEA - After a disappointing Census effort last year due to being hindered significantly by COVID-19 and a distrust among the populace of the federal government, the official numbers came out last week and Chelsea showed a surprising increase in its count – climbing above 40,000 residents for the first time in a long time.

While many would agree that in reality Chelsea is likely at about 55,000 residents, the numbers on paper were always quite low and the City is named a hard-to-count community by the Census officials.

In 2010, the City was profoundly disappointed when its numbers came back at 35,177 residents, a tremendous undercounting that caused the City to lose millions in federal formula-funded programs over the last 10 years. Last week, though, many said it was a pleasant surprise to see that Chelsea had registered 40,787 residents in the count, as some had said it looked like early on that the City may decrease in population from the 2010 number.

It was a growth of 5,610 people and one of the larger growth numbers statewide, even despite trying to count people in the ravages of COVID-19 in a city hit harder than most in America in 2020.

The 40,000 number was a key number for the purposes of federal funding formulas and also for the coming redistricting process to determine state representative, state senate and U.S. Congress seat geographies. Clearly, many in Chelsea have been talking over the last six months about trying to get an all-Chelsea seat like Everett has, though most likely Chelsea would need to add a piece of East Boston if that were to happen – maybe Eagle Hill area. Such a configuration would work as East Boston grew substantially in the Census 2020 figures, going from 40,508 in 2010 to 43,066 in 2020.

Chelsea was once again predominantly Hispanic, with 67 percent of the population counted as Hispanic, though that's likely a gross undercounting despite being one of the largest population percentages of Hispanics in the state. Chelsea has been a predominately Hispanic community since the 2000 Census when they broke 50 percent in the count.

It was a similar story in surrounding cities, with Hispanic populations growing in Everett (28.3 percent) and Revere (33.6 percent).

The White alone population came in at 20.6 percent, and the Black population was at 6.4 percent. The Asian population was a 4 percent.

Interestingly, Chelsea's

number of two or more races was quite high, at 32.8 percent, and is likely reflective of the high Hispanic population – as well as a general trend nationwide for people choosing two or more races.

Not surprisingly, Chelsea's foreign-born population was 45.4 percent, higher than most in the area. Other Census tidbits included:

- Chelsea's owner-occupied housing unit count was 25.9 percent.

- The median value of owner-occupied housing units was $350,800.

- The average persons per household was 2.96, which was quite high, but not much different than Everett, which was 2.87 per unit.

- The mean commute time for Chelsea residents was 34 minutes.

- The percentage of the population living in poverty was 18.1 percent.

- The youth population in Chelsea was much larger than many places, with 34.7 percent of the population being 18 or under. By comparison, Everett was 28.3 percent and Boston was at 15 percent.

- Women made up 48.3 percent of the population.

The total U.S. population for 2020 was 331,449,281, and demographically nationwide the White alone population was on the decrease at 60.1 percent of the national population. The largest non-white group were Hispanics at 18.5 percent of the national population, with Black populations also on the decline at 13.4 percent nationally. Asians make up 5.9 percent of the total national population in 2020.

MAKING THE BEACH MORE ACCESSIBLE

EAST BOSTON - On Saturday, more than 125 individuals with disabilities came together to enjoy a fun-filled day at Constitution Beach.

The Beach:Ability at Constitution Beach program was created several years ago through a grant from Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Better Beaches program with support by DCR's Universal Access program. The yearly event hosted by Triangle, Inc. highlights programs that make Massachusetts public beaches, like the one in Eastie, accessible to the disability community.

As part of this year's event, Save the Harbor/Save the Bay donated beach wheelchairs to three local non-profit organizations serving the disability community of greater Boston.

"It fills my heart with joy to see people of all ages and abilities come together on a beautiful summer day to celebrate clean water at Constitution Beach," said Rep. Adrian Madaro, who Co-Chairs the Metropolitan Beaches Commission and was instrumental in securing funds to make Beach:Ability possible. "Thanks to Triangle, Inc. and Save the Harbor/Save the Bay for taking the lead and making it happen again this year."

CEO of Triangle, Inc. Coleman Nee said Triangle was excited to return to Constitution Beach for its second Beach:Ability event.

"For many in the Disability Community, awareness of these amazing beaches and/or perceptions of their accessibility have, in the past, presented barriers to a fully inclusive public waterfront," said Nee. "We hope that this event helps change those beliefs and highlights the great work of our partners at DCR's Universal Access Program and Save the Harbor/Save the Bay to ensure that equipment such as mobi-mats, sand wheelchairs and floating swim chairs are available at all of Massachusetts public beaches."

Executive Director of Save the Harbor/Save the Bay Chris Mancini said as part of Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's steadfast commitment to accessibility, inclusion, diversity, and equity, he was thrilled to partner with Triangle to make sure the region's amazing public beaches are welcoming to the disability community.

"We are proud to extend these efforts by donating additional accessible sand and swim wheelchairs to area nonprofits serving the disability community, including the South Boston Neighborhood House, ARC of the South Shore, and Triangle," he said.

Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Director of Development Patricia Salic was also moved by Beach:Ability and thanked all those that took part. She took a few moments on Saturday morning to thank Save the Harbor's Better Beaches program and policy partners and event sponsors. These included Harpoon Brewery, JetBlue, the Richard Saltonstall Charitable Foundation, P&G Gillette, National Grid, Comcast, Beacon Capital Partners, Mix 104.1, Boston Centers for Youth & Families, The YMCA of Greater Boston, The Daily Catch, Boston Event Specialists, the Blue Sky Collaborative, and Keezer Sportswear for their support, as well as the nearly 1,000 individuals who contributed to the support of the Harpoon Shamrock Splash.

Saturday's event was one of scores of events planned for the region's public beaches from Nahant to Nantasket this summer, as part of Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Better Beaches program partnership with DCR. McGee will receive the award at a Sept. 30 ceremony. The Excellence in Gateway City Leadership Award is named in memory of Bill Carpenter, who served as mayor of Brockton. Mr. Carpenter died while in office in July, 2019.

DEVELOPMENT RECEIVES APPROVAL

REVERE - The Revere Conservation Commission unanimously approved Redgate Development's plans for stormwater and wastewater management for its proposed development on the G and J Towing site.

Redgate is looking to build a 291-unit apartment development at the site located at 22 Whitin Ave., just beyond the General Edwards Bridge, and adjacent to Gibson Park.

The vote at the Aug. 11 meeting followed presentations before the Commission by Revere's Chief Planner and Zoning Coordinator Frank Stringi, Redgate Vice President Libseth Bello, and engineers Katie Cruz of Hancock Associates and Anders Bjarngard of GZA GeoEnvironmental.

Before the vote, Ronald Clark, candidate for the Ward 5 seat on the City Council, raised concerns about the overall project.

"The pumping station on the Lynnway, from what I'm told right now, can't handle as much as one more toilet bowl," said Clark.

Clark also questioned other segments of the city's master plan for the area, including the boatyard property, and the traffic plan for the site.

"There's no traffic plan in effect as of today, so right now we've got to assume they're going to be using the Lynnway, with much more traffic coming in and out, especially if this thing gets built prior to this traffic design being completed."

Clark also wondered aloud about the construction of the new fire station in Point Pines "and how it's going to affect this traffic plan they're coming up with."

Al Fiore, a candidate for the Ward 5 seat, also brought up the Point of Pines fire station and the lack of progress on the project for several years. Fiore also cited what he believes will be the negative impacts of Redgate's 291-unit development on the Point of Pines neighborhood.

Ward 5 Councillor John Powers, who voted in favor of Redgate's proposal at a City Council meeting, said after the meeting that the "fire station had nothing to do with the Conservation Commission meeting – nothing whatsoever."

"They're doing asbestos removal at the station right now," said Powers. "I'm told by the people doing the work that the fire station will be leveled by the first week in September. The meeting had nothing to do with the fire station. The fire station is going to be built. They're working on the demolition now. That was not to place to discuss the fire station."

WINARC RECEIVES GRANT

WINTHROP - The Teamsters Local 25 Autism Fund has partnered with the WINARC (Winthrop Advocacy Resources Community) again this year to sponsor the Tee-Ball Program. Local 25 has been a sponsor since the inception of the program in 2019.

The WINARC Tee-Ball Program is open to children ages 3-10 years old and is a true community activity. High school students and adults volunteer as buddies, so each player is paired with a buddy for the game. 25 players are participating in the program this year.

"The Teamsters Local 25 Autism Fund is proud to sponsor the WINARC Tee-Ball Program again this year," said President Sean M. O'Brien. "Our mission continues to be to give back to the communities where our members live and work. To some it may just be a children's tee-ball game, but to the players this is their World Series every Sunday. Whether they hit the ball or make it on base doesn't matter. They are part of a team and learning life skills that will stay with them beyond the season.”

“We are excited to be able to run the WINARC Tee-Ball Program again this year after missing out on last year due to the pandemic,” said Rita Mansfield, WINARC board member and program coordinator. “We all missed out on so much this past year, but especially children who don’t fully understand the pandemic. The donation by Teamsters Local 25 Autism Fund is integral to our program’s success and we are grateful for their support once again.”

The Teamsters Local 25 Autism Gala is the marquee fundraising event for the fund. The gala was not held in 2020 or 2021 due to the pandemic, but the organization was still able to support many autism organizations. “Despite having no event and other challenges posed by the pandemic, I am happy that we have been able to fund our grantees again this year. The Teamsters Local 25 Autism Gala will be back stronger than ever, and our mission will never slow down,” said O’Brien.

WINARC was founded over fifty years ago by a group of parents and young adults with disabilities. This grassroots organization of families recognized the need for social and recreational participation in the community for their children, and they committed their efforts to creating those opportunities. Through the tremendous support of Winthrop and its surrounding communities, WINARC’s community partnerships with businesses and families have ensured the successful operation of its current programs, as well as the development of new programming to fulfill the ever growing needs of children and adults with disabilities. The mission is to enhance the lives of individuals with disabilities.

The Teamsters Local 25 Gala for Autism is rescheduled for January 8, 2022, at the Boston Convention & Exhibition Center. Teamsters Local 25 is the largest Teamsters union in New England with more than 12,000 members. A SHORT STORY ABOUT GROWING UP WITH AN UNFAIR ADVANTAGE.

POLIO.

As one of the last American children to contract polio, Jeffrey Galpin grew up in a world of iron lungs and body casts, alone with his imagination. His story would be dramatic enough if it was just about his battle with this dreaded disease.
But Jeffrey Galpin did more than survive polio. He went on to a list of achievements in medical research—including being the principal investigator in applying the first gene therapy for HIV/AIDS.
Dr. Galpin actually credits his own incurable condition for giving him the focus that made him so passionate in his research. His story leaves us with two of the most contagious messages we know. Don’t give up, and remember to give back. If Dr. Galpin’s story inspires just one more person to make a difference, then its telling here has been well worth while.

Pressley visits child care home amidst calls for a just recovery

Congresswoman Ayanna Pressley joined the Care That Works coalition today to uplift the demand for a universal, equitable, and flexible child care system that benefits working families, low-income communities, and communities of color across the Commonwealth. Until we have a universal child care system, options for nonstandard schedules (early morning, late evening, overnight, and weekend) remain scarce. The Care That Works’ Pilot is seeking to bridge the gap for families in need of child care for nonstandard schedules (beyond 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.).

“This pilot takes critical and necessary steps in creating flexible solutions that ease child care challenges for families during the pandemic. As we continue working to build a just and equitable recovery, childcare must remain front and center. I’ll continue fighting to ensure any bold reconciliation package does just that,” said Congresswoman Ayanna Pressley (MA-07).

During the pandemic, Massachusetts saw hundreds of licensed family child care providers and center-based providers close permanently with little to no relief available until it was too late. But even before the pandemic, parents were struggling to find affordable, accessible child care. The lack of affordable, professional child care options for nonstandard schedules is a major gap in the system that hurts parents who work or seek work with those schedules.

“We need resources like the Care That Works pilot. As caregivers, we try to provide what we can – but without the assistance of our legislators, labor, and community allies – working families face challenges finding child care that works for them,” said Maria Estevez, Maria Estevez’s Family Child Care. “The pandemic has only exposed the inequalities working families bear, but with the pilot, we are working towards a more just recovery.”

Patriots team plane used to deliver lifesaving aid to Haiti

In the wake of the devastating, 7.2 magnitude earthquake that struck southern Haiti on Saturday, August 14, the Kraft family and the New England Patriots have stepped in to help Build Health International (BHI) and Partners in Health (PIH) deliver lifesaving supplies and personnel to Haiti to aid in ongoing relief, recovery and rebuilding efforts.

Thanks to the generosity of the Kraft family and working with the Baker-Polito Administration, the Patriots plane will be headed to Haiti today. On board are volunteer ER doctors, nursing managers, project engineers, and infrastructure specialists to support BHI and PIH teams already on the ground.

When it arrives in Haiti, the plane will also be carrying close to 40 pallets of critical medical equipment, supplies, medicine, water and consumables that are desperately needed to treat trauma patients, including everything from hospital beds and suture kits to small generators.

Both BHI and PIH have long histories in Haiti. The organizations have partnered together on numerous projects across the country. After the 2010 earthquake, PIH and BHI worked together with local leaders, doctors, nurses, and staff to build the University Hospital in Mirebalais, a 300-bed, internationally accredited hospital for first-class training of Haitian physicians, nurses, and biomedical technicians.

“BHI was born following the 2010 earthquake in Haiti,” said BHI Co-Founder and Director Jim Ansara. “Over the years, we’ve completed more than 60 projects across the country. Following this latest tragedy – thanks in no small part to the incredible generosity of the Kraft family, the New England Patriots, and partners across Massachusetts – we’re mobilizing to provide urgently-needed expertise and materials to aid in the recovery, and we’re committed to ensuring a reliable and immediate rebuild of critical health facilities across southern Haiti.”

Following Saturday’s earthquake, BHI and PIH personnel in Haiti were on site in the most impacted areas within hours, conducting rapid assessment and repair of critical health infrastructure and providing urgent trauma care to those injured. On the southern peninsula, St. Boniface Hospital, built by BHI and operated by Boston-based Health Equity International, was relatively unscathed and remained open to patients. BHI, PIH and St. Boniface teams, now reinforced by the additional personnel and material arriving on the Patriots plane, continue to provide direct care, relief, and repair, and are lending their logistics expertise to source, deliver, and distribute critically needed supplies and equipment.

“We are deeply grateful to the Kraft Family, the entire Patriots organization, Partners In Health and Build Health International for their incredible support and generosity in delivering these critical supplies and medical equipment to the people of Haiti during this devastating time,” said Governor Charlie Baker. “Our thoughts are with Haiti, its residents and their loved ones as the country recovers and rebuilds.”

About Build Health International:

Build Health International (BHI) believes that every person has a right to quality healthcare. In 2010, following the Haitian Earthquake, BHI built the Hopital Universitaire de Mirebalais (HUM), Haiti’s flagship teaching hospital. Since then, BHI has designed, built, and equipped over 200 dignified spaces for care in 26 countries, enabling local clinicians to work at their full potential. Working closely with Ministries of Health, partner organizations, and local workforces, BHI promotes sustainable design, empowers communities, and provides access to dignified and affordable healthcare in some of the world’s most vulnerable communities.

CITY PAWS

Healthy teamwork

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

Last year the American Heart Association (AHA) published “16 Science-Backed Reasons Adopting a Dog Could Be Good for Your Heart.” One of the findings was that those with dogs “... are more likely to reach their fitness goals than those without canine companions.”

We know that we found it was far too easy to put off or eliminate daily exercise in the time between dogs. Our dogs have helped keep us fit and they have improved our social connection to our community which is great for our well-being.

Make Health a Team Effort

Your dog depends on you to craft a healthy life for them. The editors of The Bark Magazine recently suggested that dog guardians create a plan for keeping those at both ends of the leash as healthy as possible. If you need the motivation to get more exercise, eat a more nutritious diet, deal better with stress, schedule routine medical checkups, and all the other self-care you need, you should do it for and with your dog.

If an increase in exercise and a diet change are part of your goals, start with checkups for both you and your canine teammate. Not only will this give you guidance on how to proceed in light of any issues either of you may have, but it will also share your intentions with both medical teams, who can then help you monitor progress.

When you have a dog, you exercise in all kinds of weather. Just be sure you are both “dressed” for the conditions. (Photo by Sergio Rodriguez)

As with any change, take it slowly. Start with a few extra blocks before you decide to run a 5K as a team. You know when your muscles ache, and your feet are sore. As the human in the pair, you should evaluate your dog’s condition.

You also have to make decisions about protecting your dog when you are exercising in various weather conditions. This time of year, you have to test the heat of the pavement and perhaps decide to walk on a dirt or grass path to prevent paw burns. You need to bring plenty of water for both of you. In rain and cold, you may want to protect dogs with thinner coats by using a jacket or boots to protect paws from salt in a New England winter.

Emotional Well-Being

The AHA also pointed out that scientific studies found, “When we see, touch, hear or talk to our companion animals, we feel goodwill, joy, nurturing and happiness. At the same time, stress hormones are suppressed.” This finding may explain why “Dog owners are 31% less likely to die from a heart attack or stroke than non-dog owners.”

At the same time, dogs benefit from companionship and bonding in our quieter moments together. As long as you learn the types of touch your dog enjoys and allow them to move away when they’ve had enough, it can improve your bond.

If your dog enjoys a good ear or tail scratch or a cuddle, you can substitute a dose of praise and a bit of touching for a food reward if canine weight loss is part of your team’s plan.

Building Community

The final way your dog can be a great teammate is by helping you stay connected to your community. Interacting with more people gives you more emotional support. It allows your dog to have more favorable interactions with people and dogs, which is good for preventing behavioral issues.

Think about making healthy living a team goal for you and all your family members, especially that ever so helpful dog.
