ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

TEAM CAPONE WORKING HARD EVERY DAY!

Team Capone is door knocking, phone banking, sign holding and working hard to earn your vote every day!

Samantha (DeFlumeri) Hurley announces her candidacy for Ward 3 School Committee

Samantha (DeFlumeri) Hurley announced her candidacy for School Committee of Ward 3. Th following is her statement.
Hello Everett.

My name is Samantha (DeFlumeri) Hurley and I am running for School Committee in Ward 3. I am a 4th generation life-long Everett resident. I grew up on Kinsman Street next to St. Joseph’s Church and currently reside on Franklin Street near Glendale Park. I am married to a local Everett firefighter and together we have three children who attend Everett Public Schools since pre-school.

My favorite attribute of this great city is that our community is a family. In my family, we enjoy giving back to the community through school fundraisers, charitable walks, the city-wide clean-up, and memorial day flag placement (just some of our children’s favorite events). I appreciate the sense of familiarity, connection, and hope these events instill in our children and many generations to follow.

I am a dedicated youth volunteer with Everett Girl Scouts for over 12 years. I am currently serving as a Troop Leader, Service Team Promoter, and Fall Fundraiser Mentor. I have received the Green and Growing Award, Volunteer of Excellence Award, and GSEMA Appreciation Pin for my commitment and dedication through the years. If elected, I will apply this same dedication, commitment, and persistence as a School Committee member.

If elected, I look forward to addressing the overcrowding in both our schools and classrooms, the under-staffing issues among educators, facility upkeep and the possibility of building expansion, artistic and expressive programs introduced to our elementary schools, open communication and transparency from our administration, and exploring vocational and apprenticeship opportunities so that ALL our students are set to succeed in life.

Again, my name is Samantha Hurley, I am running for School Committee in Ward 3 and I will never stop Putting Students First! Today’s youth are tomorrow’s leaders and I look forward to being a part of their journey to greatness. Thank you for your consideration.

to the Malden Line to be a continuous walkway of almost six-miles. The area encompasses four parks — Encore Park, Gateway Park, City Landing, and Rivergreen Park — with planned walkways connecting all parks.

Perhaps the most ambitious part of the plan calls for a construction of a boathouse and dock near River Green Park.

DeMaria has committed more than $1 million in this year’s budget to undertake the planning, permitting, design, engineering, and grant-writing for the final pieces of the project to be put into place.

It was only a few years ago that much of this area was overgrown with invasive plants that blocked access and views of the river. In addition, the land itself was contaminated.

al area. The future of this area is bright. I envision a vibrant area for all residents to utilize including open green spaces, a regulation baseball and softball field, a regulation track for our track and field team, a practice area for the Everett gold team, and a formalized dog park. There is no longer a need for dirty, industrial uses and heavy trucking in that area,” said DeMaria.

However, the work of redoing the waterfront is not only about creating new parks. Much work over the last few years has been dedicated to removing the phragmites that are not indigenous to New England. These invasive plants, as well as the so-called Tree of Heaven plants, spread quickly, overwhelming most of the native plants.

Over the last several years, these species have been controlled and are being slowly eradicated from the area. In addition, tion, on the last Earth Day, more than 30 trees were planted in the area. The goal is to return the area to native marshland that not only will create filters for the water in the river, but also be able to absorb stormwater runoff from Everett in order to prevent flooding. Public access to view the wetlands close-up will be available by means of pathways.

All of the hard work over the past several years seems to be paying off. Testing of the Malden River and the shoreline reveal that the pollution rates are well below EPA-allowable levels.

City officials also are optimistic that if everything proceeds on schedule, next year there could be the additional activity of rowing on the river.

“Providing state-of-the-art parks for Everett’s youth will pay dividends in the future of our community,” said DeMaria.

Eric Rizza is an employee of the Police Department and has worked with the City of Everett for 20 years.

What do you do in the City?

“I am a Police Officer, K-9 Handler at the Everett Police Department. I’ve been a K-9 Handler since 2005 and together with the K-9, we search for drugs. The first dog I worked with retired in 2014, and now I’m working with my second dog, Jugo. Jugo specializes in searching for the odor of narcotics to assist the Drug Units.”

What is your favorite part about working for the City?

“I really enjoy interacting with the community. Most people like dogs, so everyone loves it when we attend a community event. Jugo is always a hit, and he enjoys being around everyone too.”

What is the biggest lesson you’ve learned from your role?

“The biggest lesson I’ve learn would be to treat people how you want to be treated. You really have to give people a fair chance because you don’t know what’s going on in their life.”

What do you like to do when you are not working?

“I like to spend my time outside of work in the outdoors. I fish, hunt, and field trial dogs in the woods.”

Almeida-Barros brings $35,000 for homeless students gousing

Ward 5 School Committee Member Marcony Almeida-Barros announced $35,000 in new funding to assist the Everett Public Schools (EPS) homeless students this school year. The money will help reduce truancy, assist with food and case management, and improve graduation rates, as part of EPS Student Homeless Assistance Program initiated by Almeida-Barros. To date, this one-of-a-kind program in a public high school has brought nearly $100,000 in funding to EPS since its inception.

Part of this year’s subsidy was possible thanks to the continued assistance of the Massachusetts Housing and Shelter Alliance (MHSA), who has heard Marcony’s call since he joined the School Committee. State Senator Sal DiDomenico also assisted to secure additional funding for this program through the state budget this year. “Being able to address housing stability for our most vulnerable students has been a top priority of mine,” said Almeida-Barros.

EPS Student Homeless Assistance Program was initiated in 2018 as a pilot program. When Almeida-Barros heard about the homeless student population, he invited in the MHSA visit Everett High, and initially won a $30,000 grant to help homeless students and their families in crisis to cover emergency expenses for food and housing. In the program’s first year, 11 students received assistance with rent, food, and case management through Youth Harbors, a local organization working with students in housing crisis, to improve absenteeism, school grades and graduation rates.

“One of the proudest moments I’ve experienced was when I attended the special graduation ceremony at Youth Harbors, whose assistance to several EHS students helped them overcome difficult barriers to graduate,” Almeida-Barros said. “It proved that investing in our kids by providing housing stability will give them a chance to succeed.” The program is administered by EHS Guidance Department and Youth Harbors.

THE PERNICIOUS EFFECTS OF SOCIAL MEDIA

The recent revelations about the harmful influences of social media upon young people that first appeared in the Wall St. Journal and then before Congress with the testimony of a former Facebook employee (who had provided the Wall St. Journal with the documents for its expose) have demonstrated once again to the world what we already know about these platforms: They will do anything just to make a buck.

The former Facebook employee provided the Journal with Facebook’s own internal research that shows that Instagram (which is owned by Facebook) can have a negative effect on teen mental health, especially among girls. The Facebook researchers concluded, “We make body image issues worse for one in three teen girls.”

In addition, the researchers concluded that its algorithms on Instagram can steer users toward content that can be harmful.

Yet despite its own research, Facebook has done little or nothing to address this issue, as well as a host of others, ranging from spreading disinformation to human trafficking.

The reason that Facebook and other social media companies can get away with such atrocious behavior is that they are shielded from civil and criminal liability by a federal law, known as Section 230, that was enacted in the mid-1990s before any of today’s popular social media platforms even existed.

Thanks to Section 230, a social media platform cannot be sued for libel (unlike traditional media such as ourselves) and cannot be prosecuted for any role it may play in enabling a criminal enterprise.

The information that was brought to light by the former Facebook employee once again has highlighted the pernicious effects of social media upon our society in general and young people in particular.

More significantly, the Facebook Papers show that these companies never will police themselves because they place profit above anything else. Their irresponsible behavior essentially is part of their business model.

Congress needs to repeal Section 230 -- it’s as simple as that.

Transforming Everett’s transportation future

By Mayor Carlo DeMaria

One of the wonderful things about Everett is its proximity to some of the best economic, health care and educational centers in the nation. The investments this Administration has made to our transportation infrastructure has made Everett a great place to live for generations of families and new residents who want to live in neighborhood communities and have convenient access to work, school and medical facilities. Our investments in roadways, sidewalks, rapid transit lanes, and bike and pedestrian access are part of the reason Everett is recognized as one of the best places to live north of Boston.

It is important for us to understand that transportation is not just about moving people and goods from place to place. It is important for us to think of our transportation system in a bigger way-how it moves not only us and goods forward, but also how it moves our City forward and creates investment that makes the housing market more secure and delivers new streams of funding for years to come.

We have made significant investments in our streets and sidewalks. We have advocated each year for the City to invest its own capital dollars to repaving roads and repairing sidewalks. While other communities choose to rely upon only state roadway funds, this Administration recognizes that maintaining the streets and sidewalks that we use every day is an essential service that our residents deserve. The investment made by the state also will allow for major renovations to Ferry and Elm Streets.

We also have found innovative ways to help our residents get where they need and want to go. Everett is a model that other communities are following for Rapid Bus Transit. Creating bus lanes for morning and evening commutes helps eliminate conflicts for buses with vehicle traffic and reduces roadway congestion. We are working with the City of Boston to expand these bus lanes to include center bus lanes that will extend to Lower Broadway and Rutherford Avenue to provide residents the ability to access connections at Haymarket and North Station.

There are additional measures in place to reduce congestion within Everett. Our Administration proposed a Traffic Demand Ordinance that prohibits new developments from having any off-street parking permits. The City’s software will prevent permits from being issued to tenants at these sites. Eliminating parking creates space to build housing units instead of parking spots. These housing sites are being marketed to residents who embrace a lifestyle that isn’t dependent on owning a car. Developers support these residents by providing them with T passes and shuttle services to stations, access to bike racks, and providing access to bike and car sharing services.

There is more work to needed as part of our transportation vision. We will continue to advocate for the expansion of the Silver Line Service. We are awaiting the announcement from MassDOT about funding for the Mystic River Pedestrian Bridge that will connect Everett and Somerville. We also are fighting for the electrification of the commuter rail to include a stop at Encore now and creating a subway stop there in the future because of modernizing public transit will open important economic doors for Everett and its residents.

Transportation is one of the critical elements of Everett’s continued economic development strategy that will bring benefits to all our residents. Transit oriented development will bring more affordable housing options, additional job opportunities and additional ways to move the city forward with less congestion. The work that we have accomplished and the efforts under way will enable us to realize the future of Everett that will benefit us all.

Carlo DeMaria is the Mayor of Everett.

Charter changes belong with the people

By Fred Capone

Our Charter is akin to the city’s constitution. It sets out the powers and restrictions of government. Amending the Charter was a slow, tedious process. It was studied by a group elected for that specific purpose. Proposed changes were presented to Everett voters, and were accepted in November 2011.

There are two ways to change our Charter. One, present the matter to the voters to decide. The alternative is Home Rule Petition, where a measure is approved by the City Council and Mayor and sent to the State House for adoption. Although Home Rule petition is an option, I feel charter amendments should be decided by the people, not 12 elected officials.

Since your Charter vote, your elected officials have changed the Charter multiple times without your input. One change was extremely self-serving, allowing an elected official to take a job with the City after only 30 days from stepping down. The prior timeframe was 1 year. Among other changes were adding the mayor as a voting member of the school committee, and changing the way Ward councilors and school committee members are elected. Elected officials should not decide how they are elected! I voted NO on every charter change proposal, not because I didn’t see merit in the piece but because I feel that the voters should make the decision.

One proposal I wanted to support was term limits. I spoke in favor of the sentiment, but stated I would be consistent and vote no as charter changes should be decided by the people. I was thrilled when the Council passed the matter. Term limits only required the mayor’s signature to become a reality. Sadly, our mayor vetoed it! The mayor approved every prior charter change, but stopped when one was proposed that could negatively impact him.

This is just another example of this mayor serving his own interests rather than those of the people. As your Mayor, your interests will be served – not mine. For other areas of concern or ideas, please visit my webpage at www.fredcaponeforeverett.com.

LETTERS to the Editor

I SUPPORT MAYOR CARLO DEMARIA
To the Editor:
The election on Nov. 2, is critical for Everett, a progressive and diverse city that continues to thrive under the leadership of Mayor Carlo DeMaria. The Mayor knows this city, has led this city; he brings results to this city. Look around us. The enhancements to our resources, industry, transportation and real estate are undeniable. These things come about by quarterbacking, not Monday morning quarterbacking.

In uncertain times, I want an experienced leader, one that is both tested and prepared. We can’t afford to be fumbling around in the dark without a flashlight. Carlo DeMaria, four more years.

Joseph Merrullo

WE’RE JUST GETTING STARTED
To the Editor:
Being a City Councilor has taught me that nothing is accomplished alone and it takes teamwork to get the job done. Since I was first elected, I have worked tirelessly to build the relationships it takes to be an effective public servant. I have worked even harder to earn your trust and build your confidence by ensuring your needs continue to be met by City Hall in an efficient manner and that your voice continues to be heard. I’m still as excited to do this job as I was on the day I was first elected.

In Everett, people expect one thing from their elected officials; results. As your city councilor, I have ensured that your tax dollars continue to be spent wisely on public safety resources, the education of our students, infrastructure improvements and the beautification of our city. During the COVID-19 Pandemic, I worked closely with and supported the DeMaria Administration’s efforts to distribute masks, food, financial assistance, testing and vaccines to residents that were in need.

As our City emerges from the COVID-19 Pandemic, the future is bright. We are in a position that other cities can only envy, as we have the means to transform formerly blighted and contaminated industrial sites into major new employers for our residents. For the first time in generations, we have access to waterfront parks and open spaces that give the city’s children more room to play and grow up healthy. This will all continue to happen with private investment in our community and not your local tax dollars.

Everett’s best years are undoubtedly ahead of us. Look around and you will see positive change everywhere. Confidence in our community is high. People believe in Everett. We must work together to make sure that we maximize all of this positive growth while protecting and improving our quality of life. The decisions we make today will shape our city for generations to come and we must work closely together to seize every opportunity for positive action.

While we are an exceptional city, we face some of the same problems that every major city across the country faces, like making sure that our residents can afford to live here and that our families struggling with the health problem of addiction can access the resources and support they need. We must continue to work together on these challenges that impact so many of our residents, while recognizing what a privilege it is to perhaps be able to truly help with the issues that touch people’s lives.

Our work in city government is not about any one of us, it’s about ALL of us and the community we live in. By working as a team, we have positively impacted the lives of the people of Everett. Serving on the Everett City Council has been a tremendous honor and I look forward to continuing serving the residents of Ward Three. On Tuesday, November 2nd, I humbly ask for your vote so I can continue to serve the City I love.

Thank you
Anthony DiPierro

HORSES OVER AMERICA COME TO LAFAYETTE SCHOOL

Another stop on their tour through the City Of Everett, the Horses Over America team of Retired U.S. Army Lt. Colonel Gerry Scott, Hercules the horse, and Molly the Labrador Retriever made their easy to the Lafayette School. They attracted a lot of attention as they made their way up Edith Street to the delight of kids and adults.

The mission of Horses Over America is to create partnerships between the police departments of America's 15,000.00 towns and cities and 15,000.00 horse owners (up to 30,000.00 horses) for the mental health needs of our nation. Our nation's population was facing enormous strains on its emotional and psychological health pre-COVID-19, now worsened following COVID-19, leading to historically high levels of loneliness, disconnection, depression, suicide, autism, a range of emotional disorders and often drug overdosing.

At the root of the problem our population feels disconnected and the broad national partnership with many of our 2 million horse owners and use many of our almost 10 million horses as an antidote will create a cost-effective magical connection.

After arriving at the Lafayette School Gerry Scott, Hercules, and Molly are greeted by surprised and curious spectators.

Brother and sister Sephora Pierre and Chris Noel are thrilled to pose with Molly.

Pental and Ada Tsang are amazed at meeting Hercules, who was very interested in what they just got at the produce department at the nearby Market Basket.

fast start and it set the tone for the entire game,” said head coach Robert DiLoreto.

Cam Mohammed scored on a 20-yard run to make it 20-0 in the first quarter. Mohammed also caught a 36-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Kamari Ellerbe. Syeed Gibbs rushed for a 20-yard touchdown for another score.

“I felt we played really well against Lynn Classical,” said DiLoreto. “The players were focused. Having home games with fans in attendance really adds to the excitement. We’re getting back more toward normalcy having the band, and the students, and community members at the game. I feel our team fed off that energy in a positive way.”

GBL title game versus Revere

Everett travels to Della Russo Stadium Revere Friday (6 p.m.) for what amounts to the Greater Boston League championship game. Revere is 4-1 and unbeaten in league play. A huge crowd is expected for the matchup.

“It’s nice to see the GBL rivalries back,” said DiLoreto. “We’re all excited about that. We feel that going forward that the league is the best thing for all of the cities involved. Revere seems to be clicking on all cylinders, so we know we have a challenge ahead of us, and we need a good practice week of preparation to get ready for this game.

Biggi offered full scholarship to Bentley

If you see Everett High football star Jayden Biggi, you should congratulate him on receiving a full scholarship offer to Bentley University, an elite institution known for its superb business curriculum.

Biggi is having an excellent season as the Tide’s starting offensive guard and defensive tackle.

The Boston College running backs coach attended the Everett-Lynn Classical game to scout JC Clerveaux and Everett offensive linemen, while UMass/Amherst representatives were expected to be at an Everett football practice Tuesday.

Former EHS standout Isaiah Likely had a school record-setting 99-yard touchdown reception in Coastal Carolina’s 52-20 win over Arkansas State. Likely had eight catches for 232 yards and scored four touchdowns for the No. 15-ranked Chanticleers, who are 6-0.

BREAKING BAD: Running back Richie Malloy (22) breaks away from the tackle of Lynn Classical’s Kyle Durant (4).

UNSTOPPABLE OFFENSE: Everett’s Ismael Zamor (3) fights for yardage after catching a pass.

SIDELINE STOP: Everett’s Moses Seide (5) takes down Lynn Classical’s RJ Faessler after a short gain.

EARLY AND OFTEN: Everett’s Darrion Green (6), Cam Mohamed (2) and Shane MacKenzie (97) celebrate with Pedro Rodrigues (14) after Rodrigues returned the opening kickoff 65 yards for a touchdown and set the tone for Everett’s 44-0 win over Lynn Classical Friday October 8 at Everett Stadium.

TURN AND GO: Everett running back Jayden Clerveaux (4) pivots and then found daylight to race for a 30-yard touchdown that put Everett up 13-0 less than two minutes into the game.

EHS Roundup

EHS BOYS SOCCER DEFEATS MALDEN, 3-1

The Everett High boys soccer team turned in excellent performances against Medford and Malden, its chief rivals for the championship of the Greater Boston League, with a tie and a victory this past week.

Last Tuesday coach Pedro Blas and his crew overcame a 2-1 deficit late in the game to earn a 2-2 deadlock with Medford, with whom the Crimson Tide are locked in a tight race for the top spot in the GBL.

Senior Luan Cruz scored both of the goals for Everett, including the tying tally with 10 minutes left in the contest. Medford and Everett previously had dueled to a 1-1 standoff in their first meeting of the season.

Cruz’s clutch goal allowed the Crimson Tide to remain even in the loss column with the Mustangs. Both Everett (6-1-2) and Medford (5-1-5) have one loss apiece in the GBL, but Everett has more wins and has two games in hand.

Two days later the Crimson Tide earned a 3-1 victory over Malden, the third place team in the league. Dan Cadet reached the back of the Golden Tornado net for two goals and junior Gui Meireles added another marker.

“The game with Malden was a little bit sloppy for us,” said Blas. “We had a tough time controlling the ball, but found a way to come together as a team and win. I really liked that our bench stepped up, especially after having some of our starters go down with injuries.”

The Crimson Tide now have their fate in their own hands as they approach the final third of their GBL schedule. Blas and his crew have a busy week ahead. They were scheduled to take on Chelsea yesterday (Tuesday) and will host Lynn Classical -- who handed Everett its only loss of the season -- tomorrow (Thursday).

They will entertain non-league rival Lynn Tech on Saturday and trek to Lynn English next Tuesday.

EHS FIELD HOCKEY TEAM TOPS MALDEN

The Everett High field hockey team defeated Greater Boston League rival Malden, 6-3, in its only contest this past week.

Robert Fuccillo struck the back of the Malden net for four goals to pace the Crimson Tide to the victory. Teammates Adam Marshall and Kaylee Rossi added a goal apiece.

“We had great offense and defense against Malden,” said EHS head coach Melissa O’Donnell.

O’Donnell and her crew have a busy week ahead with five games in eight days. They are scheduled to host GBL foe Revere today (Wednesday) and will entertain non-league opponents Northeast Regional on Friday and St. Mary’s of Lynn next Monday. They will make the long trek to Hamilton-Wenham next Tuesday and return home to face Malden next Wednesday.

EHS GIRLS SOCCER DEFEATS MALDEN, 2-1

The Everett High girls soccer team played well in both of its contests this past week, earning a split against Greater Boston League opponents Medford and Malden.

Last Tuesday, coach Sheryl Steeves and her crew came up on the short end of a 3-2 decision to Medford. Sophomore captain Layla Betancur-Cardona and freshman Yelsa Garcia scored the goals for the Lady Crimson Tide.

“It was a very close game,” said Steeves. “Our goal keeper, senior captain Mariana Madrigal Orrego, really stepped up to keep us in the game.”

Two days later the Everett girls earned a 2-1 victory over Malden. Garcia supplied the offense for the Lady Crimson Tide, reaching the back of the Lady Golden Tornado’s net twice to account for the Everett goals.

“We worked hard to come out with the win,” noted Steeves. “The whole team played hard right through the end of the game.”

Steeves and her squad were scheduled to host Chelsea yesterday (Tuesday) and will travel to Lynn Classical tomorrow (Thursday). They will entertain Lynn English next Tuesday.

EHS GOLF TEAM IS SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

Although the Everett High golf team dropped both of its matches this past week to Greater Boston League foes Medford (50-22) and Somerville (40-32), EHS head coach Steve Gallagher saw some good signs from his squad.

“We are playing very well off the tee, but continuing to struggle around the green,” noted Gallagher. “Junior Matt Turilli rolled the ball well this week. But the putts just didn’t seem to fall when we needed them.”

Gallagher and his crew finish up their season this week with a tri-match against Somerville and Lynn English tomorrow (Thursday).

Camille Manning

July 16, 1928 - October 3, 2021

Camille Manning, 93, of Exeter, NH and formerly of Chelsea - beloved mother, grandmother and friend to all, died peacefully on Sunday, October 3 with family by her side.

Camille was a devoted mother to three children: John Manning of Clinton, NY, Adele Fee of Seabrook, NH and Amelia Emerson of Sanborn-ton, NH. She was a dearly-loved grandmother to four grandchildren: Jessica (Fee) Sprouse of Stoneham, MA, Matthew Fee of Raymond, NH, Janelle (Emerson) Phillips of Hoschton, GA, and Lauren Emerson of Sanborn-ton, NH, as well as great-grandmother to Zara May, Luna Jane, Violet Ann and Henry Cash Sprouse of Stoneham. Camille was also a dear mother and grandmother-in-law to: Bonnie Manning, Bob Fee Jr., Randy Emerson, Kelly Scott Sprouse and Ben Phillips and "Auntie Camille" to many nieces and nephews. All share in mourning the unique and memorable woman affectionately referred to as "Gram."

Born in Boston on July 16, 1928, Camille was the youngest of Salvatore and Amelia LaRiccia's eight children: Sylvia (Pennacchio), Angelina (Welsh), Consalvo, Phyllis (Perkins), Anthony, Jane (Pellegrino) and Gloria (Fallstich) - part of a loving Italian family in a close-knit Chelsea neighborhood. Shortly after World War II, Camille left high school to work as a switchboard operator for New England Telephone, an occupation she worked at throughout her life. She met her 'wonderful husband,' John Dee Manning Jr., a handsome young Coast Guardsman from Arkansas, at a Chelsea High School football game - a love story she enjoyed retelling again and again. Cherished by her husband throughout their 57 years of marriage, Camille spoke affectionately of him daily after his passing in 2004.

"Camille with the Zeal" was a devout Witness of Jehovah, and spent nearly 50 years enthusiastically sharing the good news of the Kingdom with all. Her strong faith in a promised resurrection gave her the strength to face her terminal diagnosis of heart failure with courage.

She loved beautiful clothes, shoes and handbags and was always impeccably dressed, often reciting this little poem with a smile "a little powder, a little paint - makes you look like what you ain't!" She deeply appreciated the compassionate care provided by the staff of Langdon Place Assisted Living of Exeter, and Beacon Hospice. She had an abiding love for music, played piano enthusiastically and often and was observed joyfully singing just days before her passing.

Camille was well-known and loved by her large extended family and many friends for her lifelong course of gracious hospitality and warm-hearted generosity. She will be dearly missed and never forgotten.

All are invited to join a Memorial Service for Camille, being held via Zoom video-conference on Saturday, October 30 at 1:30 p.m.

A Triumphant Return

Everett boxer Greg Vendetti claims WBC Silver middleweight title

By Cary Shuman

Making his return to the ring after a one-year hiatus, Greg “The Villain” Vendetti took care of business and took home a title belt from Connecticut.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Vendetti hadn’t boxed since his WBA world title bout against Erislandy Lara on national television on August 29, 2020.

After shaking off some ring rust in the opening rounds in the Sept. 24 main event at the Hartford Civic Center, Vendetti earned a 10-round split-decision victory over Jimmy Williams to capture the World Boxing Council (WBC) Silver junior middleweight title.

The “split” part of the decision irked Vendetti’s trainer, Joe Ricciardi, somewhat (one of the judges had Vendetti winning by a 99-91 margin), but Ricciardi was very pleased with his fighter’s overall performance in his opponent’s backyard.

“I honestly felt Greg was going to knock him out, but what happened was the 13 months of not being in the ring caused some ring rust, but after a few rounds, he got some bounce in his motion, and Greg just pummeled him with a barrage of punches,” said Ricciardi.

Vendetti, who trains at the Broadway Boxing Club that is run by Dennis Willcox and Joe Ricciardi, felt he was in control of the fight from the opening bell.

“I thought we won every round, but I got the belt and that’s the most important thing,” said Vendetti. “I did learn that ring rust is definitely a real thing. I never really experienced that kind of layoff before, but it did take a few rounds to warm up.”

Vendetti said he applied all his boxing skills in the fight, showcasing his pressure, power, footwork, and head movement throughout the bout.

“I felt going into the fight, I was well-prepared and had fought better fighters, so I had a lot more experience than my opponent,” said Vendetti. “It was definitely a different experience than fighting during the COVID-19 era when there were no fans at my last fight.”

He sees the new title belt as a step forward in his quest to be the undisputed champion in his division.

“It’s definitely a good win – it puts more eyes on me,” said Vendetti. “I feel we’ll get another big fight soon.”

Ricciardi said Vendetti is rising in the WBC rankings and the team is looking at its options.

“The fight we’re really trying to get is [former welterweight world champion] Danny Garcia,” said Ricciardi. “We’ll feel it would be a great fight for Greg style-wise. We’d love to have the fight at Encore [Boston Harbor].”

Indeed, Vendetti is now considered one of New England’s brightest boxing prospects. His previous fight at Encore drew a tremendous crowd, and the hope among the entire Boston boxing community is that Encore hosts a major boxing show in 2022 and Greg Vendetti tops the card.

Meanwhile, some are questioning whether Vendetti may want to change his villainous nickname. “He may be the villain to his opponent, but he’s one of the nicest, most admired guys in the entire sport because of his grit, his determination and his dedication to his craft,” said one observer. “There are many people rooting for him to be champion of the world.”

Villain or not, the future is bright for Greg Vendetti.

State health officials announce eighth human case of West Nile Virus in Massachusetts

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) last week announced the eighth human case of West Nile virus (WNV) in the state this year. The individual is a male in his 50s who was exposed to WNV in Middlesex County.

Twenty-seven communities in Essex, Middlesex, Norfolk, and Suffolk counties are at high risk and 71 communities are at moderate risk. There are no additional risk level changes associated with this new case.

“The risk from WNV is starting to decline but some risk will remain until the first hard frost,” said Acting Public Health Commissioner Margret Cooke. “Although people over the age of 50 are at greater risk from West Nile virus, all ages can be affected. People should remember to take steps to prevent mosquito bites anytime they are outdoors.”

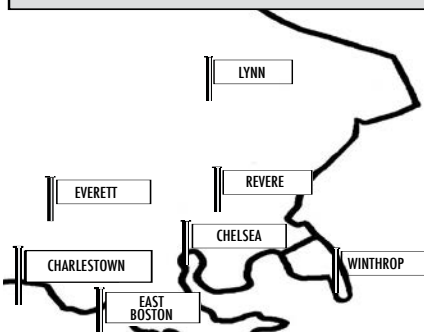

While WNV can infect people of all ages, people over the age of 50 are at higher risk for severe disease. Most people infected with WNV will have no symptoms. When present, WNV symptoms tend to include fever and flu-like illness. In rare cases, more severe illness can occur.

People have an important role to play in protecting themselves and their loved ones from illnesses caused by mosquitoes.

More information, including all WNV and EEE positive results, can be found on the Arbovirus Surveillance Information web page at www.mass.gov/MosquitoesandTick-sor by calling the DPH Epidemiology Program at 617-983-6800.

Cohen Florence Levine Estates holds lively country western day

Cohen Florence Levine Estates Assisted Living was recently transformed into a colorful country jamboree. Festivities included popular country music songs, Western style food, creative costumes and fun-filled games.

The Activity Room was the place to be as staff and residents participated in such games as “Pin the Tail on the Donkey” and “Bean Bag” toss. Residents and staff came decked out in cowboy hats, bandanas, cowboy boots, western vests and more. To top the day off, residents enjoyed an outdoor concert, led by beloved Jimmy Honohan, who performed a medley of country music songs such as “Hey Good Looking,” “Your Cheating Heart” and “Margarita-ville.” The highlight of the concert: residents were treated to line dancing by the staff. Who knew we had such a talented staff?

“Our Country Western Day was a huge success,” said Kristen Donnelly, Executive Director of Cohen Florence Levine Estates. “It was hard to tell who enjoyed the day more –the residents or the staff!”

Let’s hope that Country Western Day becomes an annual event at the assisted living.

EHS CROSS COUNTRY DOES WELL VS. SOMERVILLE

Although the Everett High cross country team came up on the short end of its meet at Somerville this past week, coach Brendan Haesy was pleased with his runners’ overall performances on the Highlanders’ 2.5 mile course along the Mystic River.

For the boys, Wensley Mompremier finished in 6th place with a time of 15:35 and Samuel Desir finished in 7th spot with a clocking of 16:01.

Anthony Cooper came across the line in 10th place in 16:29, followed by teammates Matth Telson in 11th in 17:20, Sebastian Fong in 12th in 20:14, and Fausto Paniegua in 13th in 26:04.

On the girls’ side, Luca Jean Noel finished in 6th place with a time of 25:04. Olivia Lavaud finished in 7th with a clocking of 39:26 and Suzanne Ma-herjan came across in 8th position in 39:28.

“It was a good meet for both the boys and girls,” noted Haesy.

Haesy and his crew are scheduled to run at Medford today (Wednesday) and will host Lynn Classical next Wednesday at 7 Acre Park.

CRIMSON TIDE B SQUAD ROLLS

The undefeated Everett Crimson Tide B team traveled to Dracut this past Sunday to take on the Dracut Middies. With the exception of a pass coverage breakdown leading to a Dracut touchdown, the Tide dominated on both sides of the ball and came away with a 34-6 victory.

Everett’s offense, led by quarterback and captain Tyler Freni, is averaging 30 points a game and is really clicking heading into the tough part of the schedule.

Everett’s offensive line, manned by Omarian Ayalá, Armani Negron, Derek Soper, Eddie Skeffington, Anthony Capalino, Jacques Green, Nate Fuller, Antonio StJohn, opened gaping holes for running backs Brian Green, Chance Barreto, and Ousman Kaba who each scored touchdowns.

The Tide defense again owned the line of scrimmage with Guerlins Christalin, Adam Sherman, Lamar Tiblanc, Mizz Navavez, Dio Acosta, Jazz Gonzalez and the linebacking corps holding Dracut to negative yards on the day.

Everett hosts Billerica this Sunday at Everett Stadium. Come out and support your team!

was a member of the 11th Massachusetts Volunteer Company F. He was involved in over 20 battles including Williamsburg, Bull Run, and Yorktown.

In 1874, Boardman Dennett joined the Everett Fire Department and was appointed as the engineer and driver of the Joseph Swan Engine. Not long after his appointment, he became responsible for the Everett Fire Department's horses. For those of you who don't know, the fire engines were pulled by horses back in those days. At approximately 10:15

AM on December 1st, 1886 Boardman L. Dennett and his group of firefighters responded to a call. During the response, they had to pass railroad tracks where the safety gate was not functioning properly. While the Gatekeeper attempted to stop the train, he did not succeed. The first engine made it across the tracks in time, but the second engine- the one that Dennett was occupying was struck by the train. Dennett was killed instantly.

In his remarks, DeMaria said, "Our former Fire Chief David Butler was the biggest advocate for naming this station after Boardman Dennett. Chief Butler insisted that Boardman had not been given the recognition that he deserved for his heroic actions. It truly was an honor to join alongside the Butler family to dedicate Central Fire, the way that Chief Butler would have wanted."

Other speakers at the event included Acting Fire Chief Scott Dalyrmple and Sgt. David Butler, son of Former Fire Chief David Butler.

A large number of Everett officials and residents turned out for the dedication.
