EXASPERATED BY HIGH ENERGY COSTS? WAIT UNTIL THIS WINTER

Barely a day goes by without a news story about the high cost of gasoline and energy prices in general.

Economists and energy market experts point to a host of reasons as to why the market prices for oil and natural gas have skyrocketed in the past three months. The war in Ukraine only exacerbated what in any event would have been a world-wide energy crisis thanks to the decision by the OPEC+ nations and U.S. oil companies to limit output -- in order to reap huge profits for their shareholders -- despite increased world-wide demand in the aftermath of the pandemic.

However, whatever the reasons may be, they are of little consolation to Americans who must drive a car every day and who face record-high prices of more than $5.00 per gallon for regular gasoline.

It often is said by economists that higher energy prices effectively are a tax on consumers. But higher energy costs are even worse than a tax. We're paying higher gasoline prices for the exact same product, but with higher taxes, at least in theory we'd be getting more services for our tax dollars.

The only ones directly benefiting from higher energy prices are the shareholders of the major oil companies and the dictators in places like Saudi Arabia and Russia.

But as painful as higher energy costs are right now, the real crunch will come this winter, when Americans in the northern half of the country will face costs for heating oil and natural gas that never have been seen. We paid $3.00 for a gallon of heating oil this past winter -- but the price right now from our heating oil dealer is nearly $6.00. At that price, a delivery of heating oil of 175 gallons -- about 2/3 of a tank -- will be more than $1000, a figure that truly will be a hardship for many of us.

So let's start praying now for a mild winter -- and get used to the idea of taking shorter hot showers, dropping the thermostats in our homes, wearing sweaters during the day, using extra blankets at night, and sealing up the drafts through our doors and windows.

GUEST OP-ED

Protecting our children from the shooters

Dr. Glenn Mollette

Most federal career politicians end up very wealthy. They make good salaries. They have great health insurance and very nice retirement packages. They typically develop political action committees that cover expenses the government doesn't pay. When they retire, they can donate campaign funds they have accumulated throughout the years to their own non-profits and administer the funds.

Most Americans know how lucrative a lifetime of "public service" can become and few really care. Most of us have more to worry about than the jet setting life styles of our rich and famous U.S. Senators and Representatives. What torches many of us is their inability and often refusal to do anything. Too many of them are spineless wimps who are terrified of casting a vote that might hinder their re-

You've probably noticed that most and often all of the Republicans vote the "party line" and all the Democrats do the same. How does this help us?

I'm tired of the red vs the blue and vice-versa. Doesn't anybody have an opinion that differs from their grand ol' party?

It's obvious that Americans are torn into shreds over the gun issue. There is no perfect answer. However, doing nothing isn't working to save the next group of children begging for help in 911 calls.

The least our leaders can do is raise the age to 21 to own any kind of labeled assault weapon. Personally, I would push for 25 but honestly there is no golden number. Old people can go crazy with assault style weapons as easy as eighteen-year-olds. We've seen more school shootings from those under 21 which makes it a reasonable place to start. Establishing a six-month waiting period to buy an assault style weapon will not hurt anyone. Background checks are vital but again will not be a cure-all because often the shooters have unblemished backgrounds.

All schools must pay for a couple of armed guards to patrol and protect their students. Even then a surprise attack by two or three people with assault style weapons and body armor could easily overpower guards carrying semi-automatic weapons. Yet, the presence of armed security is better than leaving our children defenseless.

One local county I know fairly well has several schools spread out over the county. They have one sheriff and he has two underpaid deputies. By the time he and the deputies could ever possibly even show up, dozens if not a multitude of children would be dead. This sheriff's department is very underfunded and would have to wait for state police to arrive. The local state police post is one hour away. It is unimaginable how many children could be killed. Such school systems have no choice but to come up with armed security guards to protect the children.

Who ever dreamed you would read something like this in your local paper? I never dreamed of a country where it would need to be written.

gan questioned the validity of changing contracts saying, "Contracts should not be in front of us."

The committee voted in favor of the superintendent's position to deny the request by a 7-2 vote.

After the vote was taken, an email from MT's owners was read to the committee saying, "We withdraw the fuel surcharge request. We feel that we are caught in the political crossfire."

Ward 6 Committeeman Michael McLaughlin then spoke briefly on his original motion to amend the existing contract to allow a 4.5% fuel surcharge retroactive back to March 1 with an end date of June 30. "I have been under attack for weeks," McLaughlin said. "We should give vendors the opportunity to be heard."

He then offered to send his motion "back to sponsor" and that ended the debate. The committee voted unanimously to approve McLaughlin's request, which essentially put the matter to rest.

LETTER to the Editor

LEAD BY EXAMPLE IN PROMOTING EQUALITY

To the Editor,

Members of the Haitian, Black communities, and Latino communities are writing to demand that the city of Everett take immediate action against its executive employees involved in the racist and discriminatory comments directed at Haitians, Blacks, and other Communities of Color in Everett, after careful review of media reports that surfaced over the past few days, but that can be documented back to 2018. The partners signing and supporting this letter are calling on the city to request the termination of all parties involved in such appalling and dehumanizing behavior in an era where the entire nation is trying to reconcile its fracture social fabric and the City of Everett, home to hard-working immigrants is reeling from previous racist incidents.

Until a complete investigation determines the full extent of the city employees involved in this behavior who are still currently in their position, in violation of all ethical standards, and discriminatory practices based on race, skin color, gender and / or national origins. Further, we demand that the city refrain from any implicit or explicit, direct or indirect acts of retaliation towards individuals and or groups who have openly spoke up against these discriminatory behaviors.

“Everett’s strength lies in the diversity of its population. Over two-thirds of Everett’s population are people of color, and as such our leaders have a moral and legal responsibility to lead by example in promoting equality, equity, and overall respect toward all citizens, and vocally reject and denounce any racist discourse or behavior. The community expects more than mere expressions of regret but also a commitment to accountability.” Says the Rev. Myrlande DesRosiers, director of the Everett Haitian Community Center.

“The racism expressed by Everett officials is reprehensible,” says Brian Concannon, Executive Director - The Institute for Justice and Democracy

We unequivocally call for action to ensure that symbols of hate in any form have no home in Everett. Our hope is that this incident serves as a catalyst for meaningful change and a wake-up call to eradicate racially insensitive language and behavior both in public and private conversations. We concur with other allies in our community that: “the resignation of those who think casual racism is a joke and ignore that their power and influence lead to the systemic and exclusionary policies and budgets prevalent in our little city. For too long, excuses have been made, and opportunities for action given. No more. “

The partners involved are currently involved in a consultative process to determine all necessary venues to address this issue and meet with the officials of the City with the goal of putting Everett as a City and its communities on the path to trust and reconciliation.

Dear Editor
Portal To Hope (PTH), the award-winning non-profit organization serving domestic violence crime victims in Everett, Lynn, Medford, Malden, Winthrop and neighboring Massachusetts communities, is facing a 27% budget cut effective July 1. Already operating as a small-funded nonprofit, PTH relies on $179,900 in federal funding from the Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) to serve an average of 900 people each year.

Drastic cuts to VOCA will leave PTH to operate on $131,490 in fiscal year 2023 – a severe reduction. Considering that PTH spends less than 5% on administrative costs where its management team already volunteers time to carry-out administrative functions in order to dedicate funds for direct care service programs, the 27% budget cut will strap the organization and eliminate its Emergency Shelter program. “In talking with the public, they are as perplexed as we are as to why government keeps cutting funding to agencies serving some of our most vulnerable community members – especially when they realize all the helpful services that we provide,” said Linda Morris, a survivor who has been sharing her time as a Victim Advocate at PTH for seventeen years. “As a survivor whose own life was impacted by a family member killed by her abuser, I struggle to understand why PTH and similar agencies are forced to beg for funding every year,” said Morris.

VOCA funding is administered by the Massachusetts Office for Victim Assistance (MOVA); and MOVA announced that 124 programs and 220 victim services jobs across the Commonwealth are impacted by the drastic cuts to VOCA funds. “A state investment is critically needed to sustain and stabilize victim services across the Commonwealth to continue supporting victims and survivors,” announced MOVA.

PTH’s Founder, Deborah Fallon, a survivor of violent crime, is appreciative of the work that MOVA and the Victim and Witness Assistance Board (VWAB), which is chaired by Attorney General Maura Healey, are doing in partnership with the Massachusetts Legislature to bridge the funding gap via the “VOCA Bridge Act”. “MOVA and VWAB have been outstanding partners in our work serving people impacted by violent crime,” said Fallon. “Every person has the right to live free from abuse, and while PTH and like programs are already undated and focused-in on providing direct care services to people, we look to MOVA, VWAB and our legislators as our advocates in helping us to remain fully funded.”

MOVA announced that the Massachusetts Legislature named a Conference Committee to “reconcile differences between the House and Senate final budgets”. Conference Committee members are: Representatives Michlewitz, Ferrante, and Smola and Senators Rodrigues, Friedman, and O’Connor. MOVA continues to advocate for a fully-funded VOCA Bridge to sustain services for victims and survivors and is “requesting that the Conference Committee maintain the $20M investment included in the House budget to bridge one-year of impending cuts” to VOCA funded programs for fiscal year 2023.

To help support these efforts, please call PTH (781) 338-7678 or email portaltohope@aol.com. “Over the course of our own lives, many of us, unfortunately, will know of someone whose life has been impacted by domestic violence crime. We are reaching-out to people to call their legislators to ask that they support the fully-funded intentions of the VOCA Bridge Act passed by the Massachusetts House,” said Fallon. “We appreciate the public’s support.” For more information about MOVA, please visit www.mass.gov/mova. FRESH AND LOCAL

Rice entrées

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

Asian Fried Rice, New Orleans Jambalaya, Spanish Paella, Korean Bibimbap, Thai Pad Kra Pao, Italian Risotto, and Cuban Arroz Con Pollo are a few of the many rice entrées from around the world. Some are reserved for special occasions, while others are quick meals that use up leftovers. A few are adaptable to any rice you have on hand. Today we'll share our favorite rice entrées.

Fried Rice

Sam Sifton of the New York Times called fried rice, "... a brilliant and addictive way to use up leftovers that comes together in about 20 minutes. It can accommodate practically any vegetable languishing in your refrigerator, and adding leftover cooked chicken, pork, beef, shrimp, or tofu isn't a bad idea either."

Fried rice is made all over Asia. Today cooks from well-known chefs to students cooking in college quarters add their twist to this classic fast meal. When we have leftover rice, our approach is to pull out the wok or a skillet and a couple of eggs and clean out the vegetable bins.

Our best tip is to have everything: rice, protein, aromatics like ginger and garlic, and your favorite sauce mixture ready to go into the pan as needed. Fried rice is a fast stir-fry and will be most successful when the cook keeps moving.

Risotto

Once you master making risotto, you can have dinner on the table in about half an hour. Put your broth on the stove to warm, chop an onion, sauté it, add the rice to toast, give it a dose of wine, and begin adding your broth. Stay nearby and stir every so often. When you're not mixing or adding stock, grate the cheese and prepare your butter for the last step of enriching and adding creaminess to your risotto.

You can add pre-prepped vegetables, meat, or seafood. Think asparagus in spring and sautéed winter squash in fall. Mushrooms, shellfish, and lemon are other favorite risotto flavors around here.

Yes, you can make it with supermarket arborio rice. However, you can up the dish's quality by finding a carnaroli or vialone nano rice at an Italian market. Carnaroli, our favorite, is starchier rice with grains that hold their shape well and makes it easier to create a successful risotto.

Spanish Paella

Paella is a complex dish that is easier with more minds and hands to execute the steps. We have made it with friends on their outdoor grill. Cooking it over glowing coals adds a smoky flavor. Paella is a perfect summer gathering project. The non-cooks can bring the wine, cheese, and bread and do the cleanup!

Stuffed vegetables are another great rice entrée. What's more, you can make something like these stuffed Yummy Peppers from leftovers!

We are fortunate in Boston to have delicious paella on the menu at area restaurants, including Atlantico Boston and Toro, both in the South End, and Taberna de Haro in Brookline.

Chicken and Rice Variations

Many cultures have a chicken and rice combo as an entrée. We made a successful Arroz Con Pollo for a Cuban friend who missed this dish when she moved to Boston. All around the Caribbean, each island has its version of this meal. The Brazilian version is Galinhada.

We often order Chicken Biryani as Indian takeout and have recently discovered West African Jollof rice with chicken as a new favorite.

One more bonus for rice entrées is that some can accommodate dietary needs and choices from gluten-free to vegan. In the case of dishes like fried rice or risotto, you can serve a base dish with add-ins available for those with specific preferences or needs.

EAST COAST, WEST COAST SHERIFFS AGREE TO FRIENDLY WAGER ON NBA FINALS

The momentum leading up to the long-awaited matchup between the Golden State Warriors and Boston Celtics has garnered much attention, including from the sheriffs of both San Francisco and Middlesex County, Massachusetts.

San Francisco Sheriff Paul Miyamoto and Middlesex Sheriff Peter Koutoujian - colleagues and friends through Major County Sheriffs of America (MCSA) - spoke by phone this weekend, agreeing to a wager for charity.

“It’s been 58 years since we’ve faced off in the Finals and I am confident that our Warriors are going to take the trophy,” said Sheriff Miyamoto. “But everyone will be a winner because the runner up has to make a donation to benefit the Boys and Girls Club of their respective county.”

Besides the donation, the losing sheriff will pose for a photo, wearing the apparel of the 2022 NBA Championship team, which will be posted to social media.

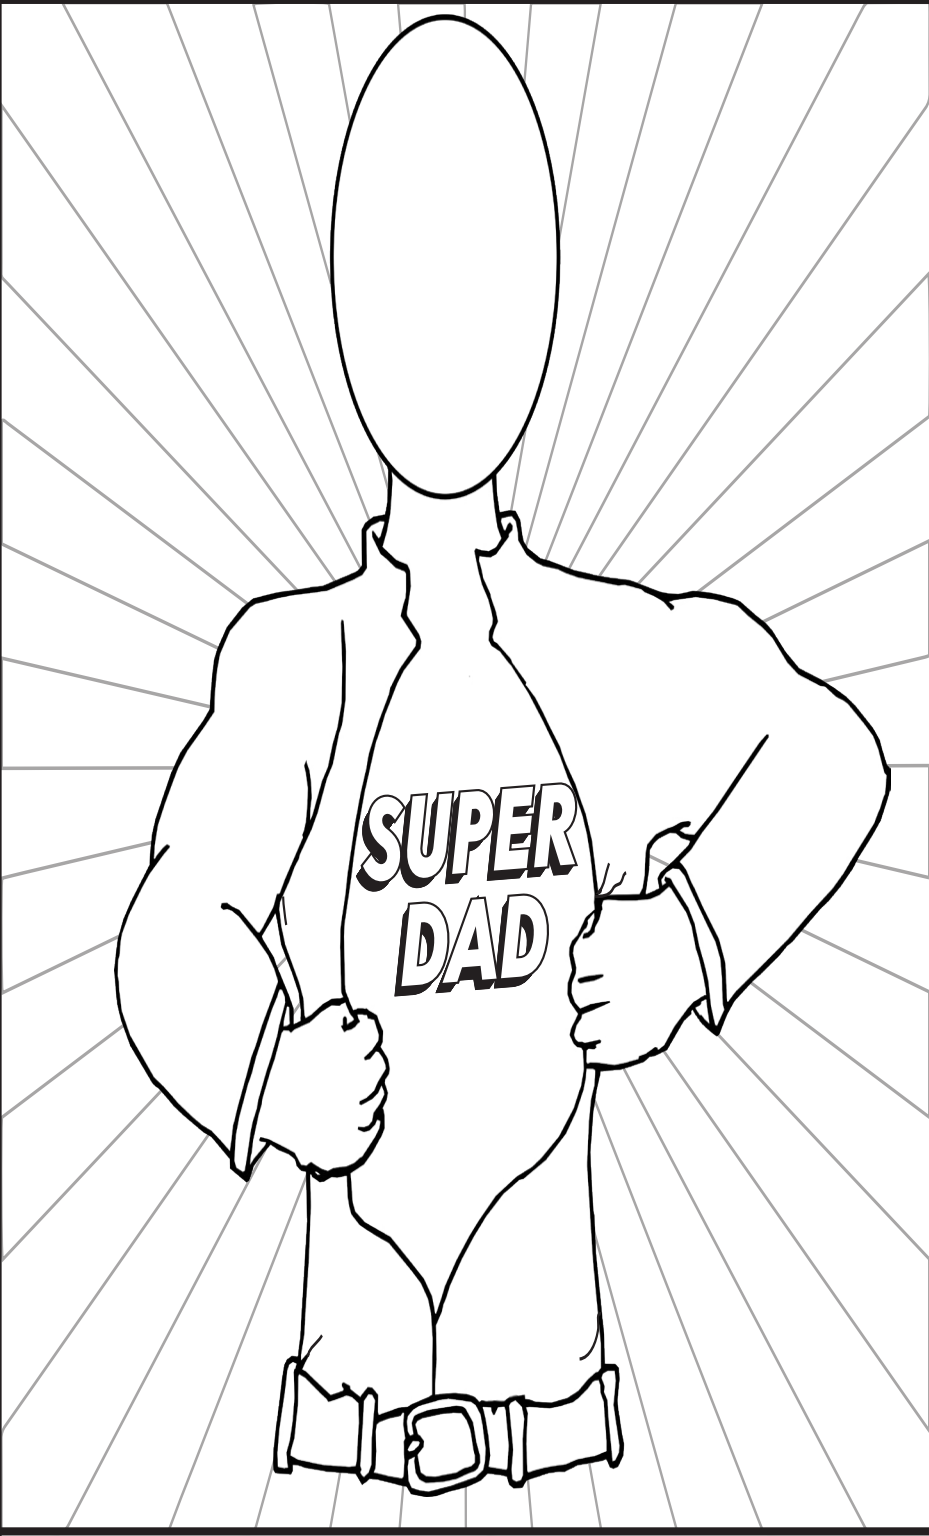

“Golden State and the Bay State are leaders on and off the court. Sheriff Miyamoto and I, as well as our staffs, have partnered through MCSA to improve our agencies and the crucial work of sheriffs. However, this week we are rivals,” said Sheriff Koutoujian. “I have no doubt that Sheriff Miyamoto will be donning Celtics green come next week as we hang banner 18 in the Garden.”

“Our only Green is Draymond Green,” said Sheriff Miyamoto. “I’ve already bought a blue and gold DubNation sweat shirt for Sheriff Koutoujian. I respect him and admire the work he’s done for his community but at the end of this series, we are hopeful that the trophy will stay in the Bay... the San Francisco Bay.”

Joking aside, the real beneficiaries will be the children of Boys and Girls Clubs in San Francisco and Middlesex counties.

EBNHC LET’S GET MOVIN’ ANNUAL 5K HELD SATURDAY

On Saturday at East Boston Memorial Stadium the East Boston Neighborhood Health Center’s (EBNHC) Let’s Get Movin’ program held its annual 5K race to combat obesity in the area. Let’s Get Movin’ is a program of the Health Center that promotes healthy lifestyles in the community through physical activity and nutrition education programming. The annual 5K was hosted in partnership with the New Balance Foundation.

EBNHC is combating childhood obesity through its Let’s Get Movin’ program. Obesity and related conditions like diabetes and heart disease, disproportionately affect EBNHC’s patient population, the majority of whom are Spanish-speaking. The pandemic has heightened these issues across East Boston, Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop – and the health center is responding by working to improve access to physical activity.

Runners in the EBNHC Let’s Get Movin’ Annual 5K race through East Boston Memorial Stadium to combat obesity.

Runners started the race that took participants through the greenway and ended back at the Stadium with a morning of festivities.

Runners spring to the finish line during Saturday’s race.

The Let’s Get Movin’ team was on hand to offer healthy snacks and information on healthy lifestyles.

Residents cheer on the runners during the annual 5K.

Runners were greeted with a medal once they crossed the finish line.

Let’s Get Movin’ staff and youth participants in the program rang bells and cheered as runners came across the finish line.

Some of the early finishers crossed the finish line in about 30 minutes.

Runners and spectators were treated to music throughout the day.

Saint John’s High School and Malden Catholic to start new Thanksgiving football tradition

A new Thanksgiving Day tradition is set to begin this November as the Saint John’s Pioneers and the Malden Catholic Lancers battle on the gridiron as part of their regular Catholic Conference season on Wednesday, November 23. In a coin toss held on Thursday, June 2, it was determined that this year’s game will be held at Malden Catholic’s Donovan Field at Brother Gilbert Stadium in Malden, Massachusetts - with future games alternating with Pioneer Field at Saint John’s in Shrewsbury.

“We are delighted to end our football season with a new tradition that will enhance the experience for both teams and provide tremendous enjoyment for our entire community,” stated John K. Thornburg, Malden Catholic President. “The Catholic Conference is regarded as one of the most accomplished sports conferences in terms of its winning reputation and we look forward to an exciting matchup.”

“As a Xaverian Brothers Sponsored School, much of what we do is steeped in long standing tradition. To begin a new tradition in partnership with a school within our XBSS network is exciting,” shares Saint John’s Headmaster Alex Zequeira. “Our schools share a commitment to Catholic education and a focus on the whole person making this game about more than a final score, but about a longstanding tradition of excellence and to the deep-rooted relationships that exist in our respective communities.”

More information regarding ticketing will be released as the event nears. Since 1932, Malden Catholic High School has shaped emerging leaders in our community, claiming a Nobel Laureate, a Senator, two ambassadors and countless community and business heads among its alumni. Annually, graduates attend some of the nation’s most renown universities including Harvard, Georgetown, Brown, Cornell, Tufts, Georgia Tech, Boston College and Amherst College. Foundational to student success is Malden Catholic’s codivisional model which offers the best of both worlds, single-gender academics during the day and integrated social and extracurricular opportunities after school. Malden Catholic is known in the community for its rigorous academics, SFX Scholars Program and award-winning STEM program (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) with electives such as Robotics and Engineering Design. Malden Catholic curriculum is designed to improve individual growth mindset, leadership principles, success outcomes along with integrating the Xaverian values of trust, humility, compassion, simplicity and zeal. <https://www.maldencatholic.org/>

Founded in 1898 and located in Shrewsbury, MA, Saint John’s High School is a Xaverian Brothers Sponsored college preparatory Catholic school that embraces tradition and innovation and educates

EHS Roundup

EHS SOFTBALL DROPS 2-1 HEARTBREAKER IN STATE TOURNEY OPENER

The Everett High softball team dropped a heart-breaking 2-1 decision at Concord-Carlisle in a preliminary round contest of the Division 1 MIAA state softball tournament

The Lady Crimson Tide entered the tourney as the 33rd seed in D-1, while the host Lady Patriots came in as the 32nd seed.

The contest was a scoreless duel through the first three innings until Concord-Carlisle broke through for two runs in the fourth. Everett responded with a run in the fifth, but that would prove to be as close as the Lady Crimson Tide would get on the day.

EHS star pitcher Celeste Fuccillo tossed all six innings, allowing just four hits and the two earned runs, while striking out five Lady Patriots and walking only one.

Concord-Carlisle scored its runs when the #3 Lady Patriot batter in the C-C line-up doubled and came home on a base hit by the C-C cleanup hitter, with the runner just beating the throw to the plate.

The clean-up hitter tried to advance to second on the throw home and ultimately was awarded third when the umpire ruled -- in a seldomly-seen call -- that the Everett girl taking the throw at second from EHS catcher Kaylee Rossi was obstructing the base runner.

She then scored on a base hit to right field.

Everett responded with a run in the fifth when Emma Longmore doubled with one out, moved to third on a passed ball, and scooted home on a sacrifice bunt by Jayla Davila.

The Lady Crimson Tide went down 1-2-3 in the sixth and made a last-ditch effort in the seventh when Bryanna Mason singled with two outs, but that would be as close as Everett would get to notching the equalizer.

The Lady Crimson Tide had their opportunities throughout the game to break the game open.

Everett threatened to score in the opening inning when Longmore reached second on an overthrow to first of her ground ball and Rossi drew a base on balls, but a timely hit was not to be had.

Everett again put two runners on base in the second inning on base hits by Gianna Masucci and Fuccillo, but could not produce any runs.

There was more frustration for Everett In the fourth when Masucci singled and stole second, but was left stranded.

The Everett defense was superb throughout the contest, the highlight of the day coming in the sixth when, after a Lady Patriot base hit with one out, shortstop Masucci snared a grounder, stepped on the bag at second for the force, and then threw to Mason at first for the double-play.

“This was a tough loss because defensively, our girls played amazingly,” said EHS head coach Stacy Schiavo, who earlier this season notched her 300th career coaching victory. “Offensively, we just could not get the hits. We made contact, but just hit the ball right at their fielders.

“I thought that after the double play, when the girls were hyped up, that we would have come around, but it didn’t happen,” Schiavo continued. “We practiced all week with the batting cages and just couldn’t get the hits when we needed them.

“A 2-1 loss is harder to swallow than 10-0,” Schiavo added. “We knew this team was beatable, so losing by one run hurts.”

Despite the season-ending loss, Schiavo and her crew have much to be proud of for their outstanding 2022 campaign, their first full season in three years.

“We still have the co-

GBL championship this season, as well as the long-lasting friendships that they made,” said Schiavo. “This team showed such heart throughout the season. After the first week, you could see everyone forming friendships, hearing words of encouragement when they made mistakes, and team bonding.

“This was such a great group of kids to coach,” Schiavo continued. “We only lose two seniors this year, so I am hoping for a repeat for the GBL.”

Fuccillo turned in one of the most-memorable performances ever by a Lady Crimson Tide pitcher.

Celeste struck out 203 opponents in just 107 innings of work. She tossed five shutouts, including two no-hitters and a perfect game, and finished with an ERA of 2.80.

In the hitting department, the top Lady Crimson Tide performers at the plate were: Kristi Skane with 20 singles, seven doubles, two triples, two homers, 19 RBI, a batting average of .437, and a slugging percentage of .676; Emma Longmore with 19 singles, seven doubles, two triples, one homer, seven RBI, a batting average of .403, and a slugging percentage of .59; and Emilia Maria-Babcock with 19 singles, seven doubles, nine RBI. a batting average of .473, and a slugging percentage of .600.

Speedy Jayla Davila led Everett with 33 runs scored, followed by Emma Longmmore with 30, Kayley Rossi with 27, and Kristi Skane with 25.

In the fielding stats, the top performers were: Bryanna Mason with seven assists, 78 putouts, and a fielding percentage of .944; Emma Longmore with 23 assists, 14 putouts, and fielding percentage of .860; and Gianna Masucci with 25 assists, 11 putouts, and a fielding percentage of .818.

Sarai Velez
Special Presentation

Welcome students, families, and faculty to graduation day for the class of 2022. Every one of you has made an impact on the graduates who sit here today.”

My name is Sarai Velez, and I am thankful to be able to give you this speech. In January of 2021 I was diagnosed with Hodgkin’s Lymphoma. I am lucky. But that’s not why I am here. I am not here to talk about me, but to talk about a fellow classmate of ours who tragically is not walking across the stage today. Christina Troville should be here. But she is not. We even have a seat saved for her where she should be sitting. Christina passed away following complications from her second lung transplant, in December of 2020.

And this is why I am

Graduate of the Class of 2022, Sarai Velez spoke of her friend, Christina Venita Troville, who passed away from illness, and would have been in the graduating EHS Class of 2022. In Christina’s memory Sarai presented Jamette Troville (Christina’s mom) an Everett High School cap and gown and her name was called as a graduate.

tina and her family. I met Christina my freshman year. We had English and math together. She was quiet and loved listening to music, but when we would talk, she loveeeeeed to talk to me about her love life. I remember always looking forward to hearing her talk about what was going on in her life. Christina was kind. She listened when I talked in class, and even though we were not best friends, she made me laugh when she would “roast” people in class.

Our freshman year, our advisory teacher made us write letters to our future selves. I want to end this speech from the letter that Christina wrote in 2018. “

And Now I would like to present Christina’s mom with her Diploma, and cap and gown.

So if Christina’s mom, Jannette Troville can come up and if everyone can clap it up for her while she’s coming, thank you.

EHS Principal Erick Naumann welcomes the graduates and their families.

Representing Mayor Carlo DeMaria, Roberto Velasquez spoke to the graduates.

Speeches

“Success is Being You”

Jackelyne Abranches

Welcome to our Faculty, administration, members of the School Committee, honored guests, families, friends, and most of all to my fellow members of the class of 2022.

My name is Jackelyne Abranches, and I have the privilege to speak with you today as a representative of our senior class. I would like to begin by taking a moment to express my gratitude for so many people who are here today. To our families and communities for your support, to our teachers and staff for your guidance, to the health department for helping maintain our safety throughout this pandemic, and our lunch staff and custodians who provide for almost 2400 students and staff. Thank you to all of you for everything you have done for myself and my classmates throughout our time in Everett Public Schools.

The constant disruptions, transitions, shutdowns, re-openings, and all the uncertainty of the last two-plus years has been difficult for all of us, but together we have made it through.

I’ve lived in Everett

my whole life and attended Everett schools since first grade at the Whittier School. I have gotten to experience some wonderful moments in those years. I can say with certainty that I am here today because of the influence of many strong leaders and mentors in our community. I want to give a special thank you to Ms. Nicole Capra for giving me the opportunity to speak on behalf of my class. Her support has cultivated a strong group of young adults in Everett. I also have to recognize the strongest woman in my life, my mother, Lucy. My mother has instilled in me the importance of education and learning. Because of this, I have been given the opportunity to be the first person in my family to go to college. So many people in our world do not get that advantage, so I want to remind us all that our graduation is a great privilege we have earned. Obrigada mãe. Te amo

I would also like us all to give a round of applause for our class of 2022.

The class of 22 has gone through so much change and overcome so many challenges. I am proud of all we have done, both individually and together. We paved the way for elevation in Everett. We are the first class to experience the full Academy model, which provided so many of us with valuable skills for our futures. We have been a hard-working class. Student-athletes from our class have been awarded over 2 million dollars in athletic scholarships to college. So many others received over 100,000 recently on Scholarship Night. Many others are going into the workforce or the military. Our graduates have earned many great opportunities for our future.

As they say, it takes a village to achieve these things, and Everett is that village. We overcame the complications of getting an education during a time riddled with a pandemic. But our class shouldn’t solely be remembered for being the “COVID class.” We are so much more than that. We are the hope for our future. Through all these challenges, we’ve learned to be a resilient, courageous, and driven group of young adults. And now we will lead our own lives out in the world.

At the start of the year, my yearbook class was asked to describe Everett High in one word. Our class came up with words like community, strength, survivors, intelligence, and diversity. But one word that came up over and over was: spirit. Not only are we full of school spirit, but our spirits are also fueled by a passion to have our generation be the one that makes the world a better place. All the lessons we have learned, all the relationships we’ve created along the way, and all the memories we’ve had in this city have engraved a piece of Everett in each and every one of us, so that we may carry a little bit of Everett wherever we go.

Whether that be across oceans, or the next street over, wherever you go may you remember all that Everett has taught you. And Whatever you may do with your life, may you do it to your heart’s content. According to the legendary Maya Angelou herself, “Success is liking yourself, liking what you do, liking how you do it.” The past 12 years has prepared us for a lifetime ahead. What you decide for the next part of your journey is up to you. But along the way, may you remember to always put yourself first. Make sure you are happy and content with what you are doing. We can only do so by enjoying every little moment in the present and having hope for the future .

To all of you for being a part of our lives and helping shape the class of 2022, thank you and “Roll Tide!”

“In the Moment”

Shawn Sheik Senior Class President

Good morning, family, friends, dignitaries, faculty, and most importantly, the senior class of 2022. My name is Shawn Shiek, and it is my absolute honor to be up here speaking to all of you on this monumental day as your class president. Don’t clap. It basically means I won a popularity contest by 13 votes, half of you don’t want me up here.

Before I begin, I’d like us all to give a round of applause to all of the amazing teachers, advisors, coaches, and mentors that got us all here.

Without their support and guidance, I don’t know where we’d be. And also one last round of applause for our wonderful custodial staff that have to clean up after all of us have our Taylor Swift moment.

Today we gather in this beautiful stadium one last time to celebrate our achievements. We made it to graduation. Whether you flew, walked, or crawled through these last 4 years, we are all here wearing the same cap and gown and celebrating the same achievement of meeting the bare minimum requirement to be a functioning member of today’s society.

That is not to downplay the significance of this day. I see it as a challenge for all of us to continue to strive for excellence. Let this graduation be a stepping stone into a bright future filled with more graduations, more cords, and more hoods.

Let me just remind us all that times looked a lot different a few years ago. It feels as if it was yesterday I was walking home with my friend Ahmad after a signature AP review session with Mr. Bailey when we got word that the world was to shut down for a few weeks. So what, a few weeks off and then finish out the rest of sophomore year strong, no questions asked?

Oh, how wrong we were.

This pandemic has brought an insurmountable amount of pain to us as a society and as a graduating class. We missed out on some of the highlights of our junior year. We had to consistently adapt and overcome the new obstacles that came with living and learning during a pandemic.

Online classes were quite a struggle, yet these same classes often forced the utmost creativity and tenacity out of us. Setting alarms in 10 minute increments to stay awake, missing classes because of “wi-fi issues”, and awkward unmuting moments were staples of online learning.

Despite how much sitting on zoom for 6 hours a day chipped away at our spirits, we weathered the storm and got the job done. But let’s be honest, that’s not the worst thing EHS has put us through. I’m talking about TikTok challenges turning into vandalism, and everyone missing soap and paper towels in the bathroom. (You know who you are.) Ruthless.

Moving past all of our pandemic woes, we still had an amazing senior year. I had the pleasure of being a member of both the marching band and the soccer team, and I could not be prouder of our school spirit and the camaraderie we have.

The bonds we have all built with our teammates on and off the fields, classrooms, and stages, are something I hope all of us can continue to cherish for many years to come.

The bus rides home after a big win, the practices after a tough loss, and the feeling of getting back in shape after the off season is something I’ll never forget. Special thanks to the coaches that put up with all of the shenanigans that come with coaching angsty high schoolers, and especially our athletic director Ms. Turner for listening to all of those late bus phone calls. We appreciate you more than you can imagine.

I definitely have to give a special shout-out to the band program for the amazing year we had despite our run-ins with Covid and other frustrations. Mr. O’Brien and Mr. Sachetta have fought tooth and nail for all 22 of us here and that’s also not to mention the immense amount of support that came from Senator Sal DiDomenico and our band families.

The “triple crown” happened this year. We were able to go to Hawaii, Dayton, and Washington D.C. That is unheard of. I can guarantee you we’ve aged Mr. O’Brien and Mr. Sachetta by roughly 5 years this past year, but I hope they got some enjoyment out of all of it.

I can not thank all of our wonderful staff enough for making all of our senior years so memorable.

As some of you may be catching on to this now: this speech is merely a long thank you list. “He’s going to Princeton, he must have something profound to say.” I can not offer any of you any more life advice than you could probably give yourself. But here is just some food for thought.

For many of us, this graduation is far larger than ourselves. Growing up to honor the sacrifices of immigrant parents is incredibly difficult. Many of you, including myself, are first generation students getting ready to navigate through college even though getting there once felt impossible.

This graduation is the fruit of our families’ sacrifices. All of those people that made massive sacrifices for you to succeed all get to see you walk across this beautiful stage today.

To my own parents, thank you for taking that one way flight from Pakistan to America. I could never imagine how difficult it must have been to leave everything behind to start a new life but I hope it was worth it to see Dad rock that Princeton hat.

Before I wrap things up here and let the memories roll in, I have one final request of the senior class: be present today. Live in this moment. It’s finally here after 120 credits and a pandemic. Soak this all in. The real world woes set in tomorrow roughly around 9 A.M. Take all of those pictures, make all those cringey tik toks.

It’s your graduation. Own it.

And with that, I leave you with a quote from the great Roman poet Virgil, “Fortune sides with him who dares”.

To the class of 2022 it was a pleasure being your senior class president.. Shiekster out.

EVERETT HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION 2022

Speeches

“Food” for Thought”

Emma Santos
Class Valedictorian

Welcome graduates, faculty, parents and families.

I first want to thank all of our teachers, our guidance counselors, our deans, Mr. Naumann and Dr. Tringali, our superintendent Ms. Tahiliani and administration, and all of the dignitaries here today.

I would especially like to thank our amazing office administrative assistants, custodians, and cafeteria staff, without whom the school would undoubtedly crash and burn.

I would also like to thank my mom, my dad, and my grandmother, for their constant unwavering support these last four years.

And I’d especially like to thank my grandfather. While I’m sad he could not see me here today, I wouldn’t be here without his love and encouragement.

One thing that high school students often complain about after they graduate is that they didn’t learn any “real-life” skills. Sure, we never learned how to do taxes, but at least we learned the important things, like that the Battle of Yorktown was in seventeen seventy...seventeen eighty...was it sixteen seventy...? Well, we learned most things.

Anyways, to make up for that, I thought I’d share with you some wisdom on one valuable life skill that my family has taught me throughout the years. Hopefully you can take some of the lessons that I’ve learned from it and apply them to your own life as we step out into the world.

Today, I’m going to share some advice on how to cook.

The first piece of wisdom I’d like to share with you all, which is courtesy of my fabulous grandmother, is that a few eggshells in your batter is totally fine.

As we go through life, you are inevitably going to end up with eggshells in your batter. If you are clumsy and forgetful, like me, you are probably going to have a lot of eggshells. However, if you throw the whole thing out, you’re going to waste a lot of really good batter just because of a couple of stray eggshells.

As we trek through life, no matter how hard we try to do everything perfectly, we’re going to make a lot of mistakes. Along with that, a lot of things are going to go wrong, even things that are 100% not our fault.

As people, we have a tendency to focus on the negatives. But life is a beautiful thing. And unlike cake batter, we don’t get to remake it if it goes bad. So as we go forward in this world and make all the mistakes and encounter all the obstacles, don’t forget to take a step back and look at life as a whole. A cake with a few eggshells can still be a good cake. And a life with a few bumps in the road can still be an amazing life.

So, my fellow graduates, as we go through life, remember to appreciate every cake—and every moment—to the fullest extent of its beauty, even the crunchy bits.

The second piece of wisdom I’ve learned is from my mom, and it is that recipes are merely a suggestion, to be heeded with much caution.

Life is so often reduced to a book of formulas. Start with one college degree, add a cup of day and night grind, half a cup of working your way up the corporate ladder, a teaspoon of mind-numbing conformity, a pinch of palm-greasing, bake at 450 for 15 minutes and congratulations, you’ve made a cookie-cutter picture of success! It’s got a briefcase and everything.

Now that formula may work for some people, and I don’t mean to put down those for whom it does. But if you pick a recipe for your life when you’re young and follow it to a “T”, there’s a chance you’ll find out later that it turned out pretty bland. Sometimes you have to add a few extra ingredients here and there to make a recipe that tastes best to you.

Adding extra spice to your life could be something as simple as dyeing your hair blue or painting your room with stripes instead of solid; or it could be something huge like changing your entire career trajectory. Whatever happens in life, we should never feel the need to confine ourselves to one path if our happiness may lie outside of it.

Having a recipe for life can be a great place to start, but life is a chance to experiment and create our own unique recipes along the way. And, quite frankly, if everyone followed the same recipe for their life, this world would have no flavor at all.

The third piece of wisdom I’ve learned is that sometimes things get burnt.

It’s an unfortunate but inevitable part of cooking. The most important thing

I’ve learned, though, is that nothing will become unburnt by leaving it in the pan with the heat on and allowing it to reduce to ashes.

Sometimes, as long as you catch it in time, your burnt food will be only slightly burnt and still very delicious. And other times, the best way to save a dish that has gone south is to throw it out and start over.

We’re going to encounter a lot of problems throughout our lives, and while not all of them will be fixable, nearly all of them will be manageable. The most important step in any problem is to take that first action and turn off the heat.

As long as we are willing to take small steps to tackle problems when they arise, we’ll be able to handle anything that hits us. Many of us will become future leaders and problem solvers. And the world is burning...metaphorically, but in some cases also quite literally. It will be our responsibility not to let it burn.

So from this day forward, let us be brave enough to turn off the heat and begin tackling the world’s problems one step at a time.

The last piece of wisdom I’ve learned about cooking I learned from my grandfather, and it’s that what you make doesn’t actually matter unless you are sharing it with other people.

I honestly don’t remember much from my time here at EHS. What I do remember are the moments that were spent with my best friends: singing karaoke in the back of the band bus, after-school Dunkin’ Donuts runs in

20 degree weather while slipping and falling on ice, playing Among Us on Zoom during quarantine in our pajamas (perhaps not our finest hours).

One of the mistakes I first made going into high school was that I thought either I had to be comfortable alone, or I had to dilute who I was in order to fit in. But I never realized how lonely that was until I found friends who I could be completely and unrestrainedly myself around.

Even if you’ve been zoned out for the entirety of this speech, which I totally understand, please zone back in for just a second, because this is one piece of advice that I cannot stress enough. Find people who love and accept you for who you are,

and when you find them, don’t let them go.

If you’ve found those friends here at Everett High School, make sure to stay in touch as we all go about our separate futures. And if you haven’t found those friends quite yet, don’t worry. There are 7.8 billion people in the world and they are all so incredibly different. We’re all going to find our people.

I hope you can take some of my advice on learning how to cook. I expect you all will become “master chefs” now.

Congratulations Class of 2022. I’m so, so proud of us, and every one of us should be extremely proud of ourselves. May the rest of our lives be nothing short of spectacular.

Thank you.

“Humble Beginnings to a Promising Future”

Breetika Maharjan
Class Salutatorian

Thank you, Mr. Naumann!

Good morning to our distinguished guests, and to the families, teachers, friends, and all the supporters of the graduating class of 2022.

Three days ago, I approached Mr. Naumann’s office, frantic and anxious, having no idea what to say to you all today. Mr. Naumann gave me his wise words of advice, which were, “Be kind, be courteous, don’t hang around at Walgreens’ - no wait, that was after.

Seriously, what he really said was, “Write from the heart.”

I am here now, hoping to give honor to those words.

As I look into the crowd of people today, we see the people we’ve been with for some time now. Some we know from the playgrounds of kindergarten, others from our eighth-grade classrooms, some we pass by in the halls of the high school. Maybe we even see a few people we’ve never seen before.

We’ve all taken different paths to get us here today, and I believe that there is more that connects us than divides us. We are all from Everett, where diversity is our strong suit. It is what defines who we are. It creates our community. We embrace many cultures as we walk through Main Street with the smells of the Brazilian pastels, Nepalese momos, Salvadoran pupusas, and so much more rich food that I’m already getting hungry just thinking about it.

Many of us have the good fortune of speaking more than one language in our homes.

We all come from humble beginnings one way or another. Many of us have had to help our parents translate medical forms for school. Or called someone on behalf of our parents because our “American” accent would be easier to understand. Many of us have had to take on an extra job to help support our families while also juggling homework and the stresses of high school.

Many of us take care of our younger siblings so our parents could go to work, giving us the added responsibility of being a teenage parent.

All of us sitting here today have been made extraordinarily stronger by the sacrifices we’ve made to get to this point.

We all come from humble beginnings, whether it be from our stories or the generations before us. My father, for example, grew up in the farmlands of Nepal. He sold crops and grain to earn enough money for clothes, food, and shelter for his family.

Like many of you, my mom and dad gave up their comforts and everything known to them back at home to come to a country they were barely familiar with. They brought their three-year-old daughter, hoping that her future would be bigger and brighter than their own. They realized the value of education and the opportunities in the United States, and they worked day in and day out to help their little girl achieve the dreams that they’ve never gotten to have themselves.

Every day, like many of us, I strive to make the sacrifices my parents made, for me and my little brother, mean something. As we gather here today, we each have the necessary tools to prepare for what is yet to come. We each have the power to seek any opportunity that comes our way.

I remember March 12, 2020, the day that everything in our world changed. I remember hearing the bizarre news of this airborne virus spreading rapidly throughout the world, but mainly I was shocked with the fact that we had a month-long break from school.

The first few weeks of quarantine will always be a blissful memory. The world was in a panic, and then there were people learning how to make bread, coming up with new Tik-Tok dances to popular songs, and binge watching shows on Netflix until Netflix itself has to tell you to take a breather.

These shared experiences show that we are the class of resilience, perseverance, and hope. Despite the uncertainty looming over our heads for the past years, we’ve been able to overcome every insane obstacle that came our way.

But we were not able to jump over these tribulations alone.

Personally, I want to thank my friends for keeping me sane and having those lunch zoom calls during virtual learning where we would play the popular game Among Us. I want to thank my mom for making sure I always had something to eat when I was going from zoom call to zoom call, neglecting how much time had gone by with me staring blankly at a screen.

I want to thank the Everett Crimson Tide Marching Band for being one of my second homes for the past 6 years of my life. Even a global pandemic could not stop the band getting back together.

I also want to take a moment to acknowledge the efforts of the wonderful teachers and staff who have helped me and many of us throughout our academic journeys. Not only were they able to transition from an entire year of online learning, they’ve welcomed students with open arms to a post-virtual learning world, helping with the social and emotional toll it has left many students.

There are so many more people that I would like to thank, but that would drag this ceremony past lunch time.

Fellow graduates, our humble beginnings are what makes us stand out in this unsteady world. Our experiences in Everett will continue to resonate with us as we each venture off into different paths. We all have the tools we need to start the next chapter of our lives. Do not underestimate the power we have to make a difference. The power we hold when we’re united together can bring waves of change.

We are all ready to leave our mark in the world. I am honored to be in the presence of such a remarkable class of graduates. I am excited for what the future holds for each and every one of us.

There are many problems in the world, we know. But the ones who can find the answers are sitting here today. N. R. Walker wisely said in one of their novels, “Whenever you find yourself doubting how far you can go, just remember how far you have come. Remember everything you have faced, all the battles you have won, and all the fears you have overcome.” Congratulations to the class of 2022! Our best is yet to come!

A graduating senior's cap decorated for the Class of 2022.

Roberto Velasquez represents City of Everett at EHS Graduation

Roberto Velasquez, representing Mayor Carlo DeMaria and the City of Everett, spoke at the Everett High School Class of 2022 graduation ceremony at Everett Stadium.

Mayor DeMaria could not attend this year's EHS graduation ceremony due to a prior commitment he made to represent the City on other business.

Velasquez, an alumni of Everett High School's class of 2005, was born and raised in Everett and currently works for the City of Everett as a Human Resources Generalist. He went to the Hamilton School – now known as the Kevarian School – and the Parlin School as a child.

In his speech, he mentions the similarity he sees between the current graduating class and his own back in 2005.

“Appreciate the bonds you have built in the community of Everett because that hopefulness for the unknown we had back in ‘05, I see it here again, and especially in you, class of 2022,” said Velasquez.

Mayor DeMaria said he couldn't have asked for a better person to represent him and the City of Everett. Velasquez gives back to the community through the programs he helps facilitate for the City's youth, which is his passion. Programs like Mayor DeMaria's Summer Youth Program, Digital Navigators, and Languages Through Comida are just a few of the ways he works with Everett's youth.

“I hope that Roberto's example inspires you as much as he inspires me and all those who work with him,” said DeMaria. Working with the youth in our community and giving back to Everett is one of his passions. He uses his education and the experiences he is gaining to create opportunities for other young adults. My hope is that every graduate of EHS is able to find their passion and a way to make a difference just like Roberto is doing.”

Mayor Carlo DeMaria and the City of Everett would like to congratulate the EHS graduating class of 2022.

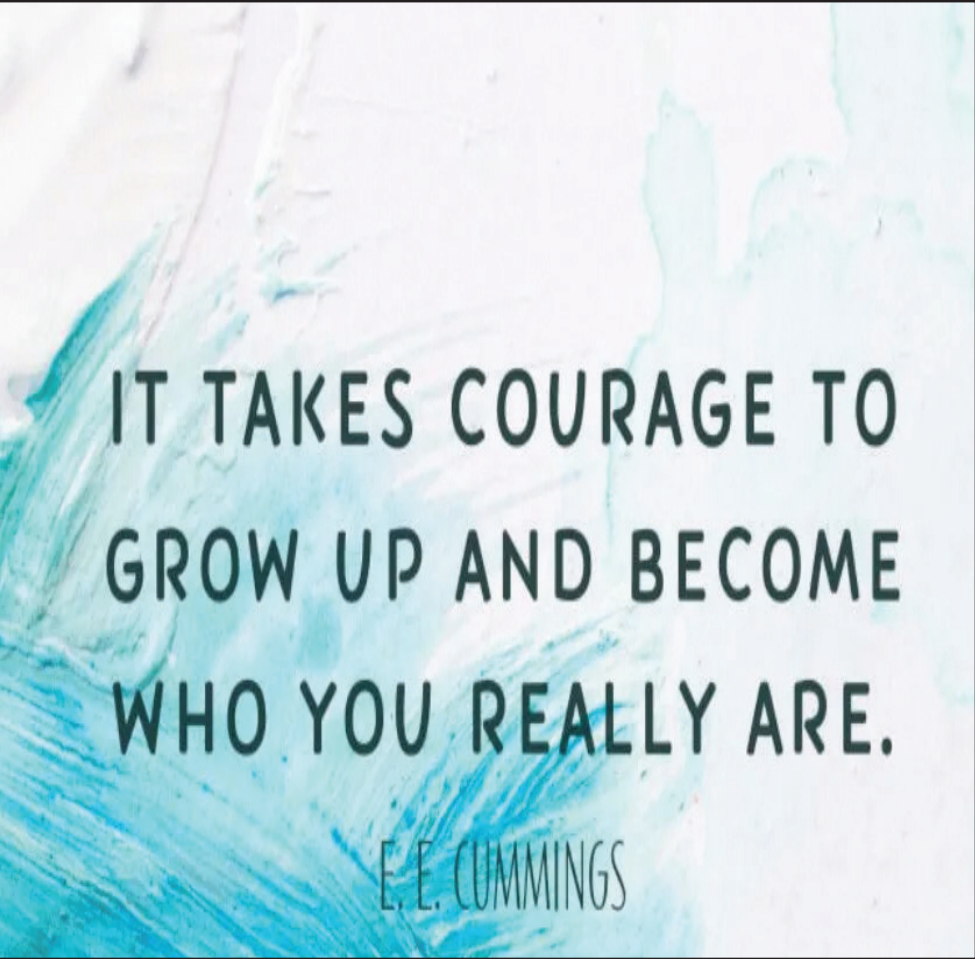

I'd like to congratulate the Everett High School Class of 2022 for all the hard work, determination, and challenges you had to overcome to get to this point,” said DeMaria. Your journey during these past four years has been truly unique, and I commend you for pushing through all the challenges our world has thrown at you. That's why I truly believe that you all will be one of the strongest graduating classes because your perseverance showed you can take on any challenges you may come against in the future.”

It was a beautiful morning at Everett Stadium.

MAYOR DEMARIA CONGRATULATES KIWANIS SCHOLARSHIP AWARD RECIPIENTS

Mayor Carlo DeMaria recently attended the Everett Kiwanis Scholarship Awards luncheon at the Crimson Café at Everett High School.

The event was held to award graduating EHS seniors who are part of the Kiwanis Club scholarships for their postsecondary education.

Lunch was prepared and served by students who are part of the high school's Culinary Arts program. Items on the menu included Chicken Picatta and Baked Haddock served with rice and sauteed broccoli and Julienne red and yellow peppers. For dessert, the items offered were Peach Cobbler, Chocolate Molten Cake, and Carrot Cake.

After guests ate lunch,

Mayor DeMaria and State Representative Joe McGonagle awarded citations to students to honor their scholarship awards. Not every student who was awarded a scholarship was present at the luncheon.

Mayor DeMaria and the City of Everett would like to congratulate the students on being awarded the scholarships and wish them the best of luck in what they decide to do after high school.

Students who were awarded scholarships are as follows:

Ersilia Cataldo Matarazzo Memorial Award: Gitalia Boyce

Ersilia Cataldo Matarazzo Service Award: Brandon Ho

Ersilia Cataldo

Matarazzo Humanitarian Award: Eduarda Ferreira Herdy

Ersilia Cataldo Matarazzo Empowerment Award: Samaga Pokharel

Frank Woodward Award: Jackelyne Abranches

Dr. Sidney Listernick Award: Benjamin Pezo

Culinary Arts Award: Rebecca Ribeiro

Everett Kiwanis Award: Sarai Velez

Everett Kiwanis Award: Alyssa Hurley

Everett Kiwanis Award: Celeste Fuccillo

Everett Kiwanis Award: Olivia Parziale

Everett Kiwanis Award: Shani-Purpes Headley

Everett Kiwanis Award: Briana Rodriquez
