Van Campen has the votes to be the next president of City Council

By Cary Shuman

Robert Van Campen, who made a triumphant return with his election as Ward 3 councilor in November, reportedly has the votes to be the next president of the Everett City Council.

Van Campen asserted that nothing will be official until his colleagues cast their votes on Jan. 8, but he did acknowledge that there is talk that he will be the next president of the 11-member Council.

"At the end of the day, if I get elected and have the votes to become president, I'm looking forward to serving in that capacity," Van Campen told the Everett Independent. "My goal would be to bring a stable voice to the debate, and I hope I can do that. I look forward to working with the new members, the existing members, the administration, and all the stakeholders in the community to keep things moving in the right direction and to try to get some stuff done."

A former deputy mayor and city solicitor for the city of Melrose, Van Campen is currently the general counsel for AFSCME Council 93, a labor organization. He is a graduate of Melrose High School, Suffolk University and Suffolk Law School and has law offices on Beacon Street in Boston.

Van Campen and his wife, Lisa, have been married for 18 years, and they have two children, Lily, 17, and John, 14. Robert is the son of Marie (Raneli) Van Campen of Everett and the late Richard Van Campen.

Van Campen said he will be attending the final meeting of the current City Council on Tuesday, Dec. 26 at which time the outgoing councilors will be recognized.

MSBA advances proposal to build new high school in Everett

Special to the Independent

Christmas came a little early to Everett this year with a vote by the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts School Building Authority (MSBA) to advance the proposal Mayor DeMaria has been advocating for to build a new high school facility that has the potential to alleviate classroom size in all current Everett Public School buildings.

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts School Building Authority (MSBA) advanced the proposal that Mayor Carlo DeMaria has been advocating for to build a new high school facility that has the potential to alleviate classroom size in all current Everett Public School buildings. Pictured is the current Everett High School facility.

The MSBA Directors voted at their meeting on December 13, 2023 to accept the recommendation to invite the Statement of Interest (the "SOI") for the Everett High School, serving grades 9-12, in the City of Everett (the "City") into the MSBA's Eligibility Period. The Eligibility Period is a 270-day process that formalizes the beginning of the MSBA's grant approval process for funding to construct a new school facility and includes a schedule with definitive milestones

MERRY CHRISTMAS

This is the most wonderful time of the year, to paraphrase the popular song, with holiday music playing in the malls and on our car radios, resurrecting our earliest childhood memories of Christmases-past.

We choose just the right tree, decorate it carefully with our family-heirloom ornaments, and when we first turn on the lights, it brings a smile to the faces of even the most-jaded among us.

Despite our hectic rushing to and fro, everybody, it seems, is in a good mood. We endure the traffic and the long lines in stores because we know that what we are doing will bring joy and happiness to others.

For those of us with young children, we get to see Christmas through their eyes, giving us a second chance to experience the wonder and joy that we felt when we were their age.

Although all of us celebrate the holiday season in our own way, the common thread is one of peace, joy, and happiness, regardless of religious or secular beliefs. Whether it be Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, or a Seinfeldian Festivus, the spirit of the season imbues us with a sense of togetherness that transcends whatever negativity may exist both in our own lives and in the world around us.

We wish all of our readers a Merry Christmas and a happy holiday season.

THERE'S STILL TIME TO HELP THOSE IN NEED

The stock market is booming and unemployment is near an all-time low, but there was the depressing news this past week that homelessness among Americans has increased by 12 percent in the past year.

The cold, harsh reality for many Americans in 2023 is that the promise of a booming economy still is only a dream in our country, where even those who are lucky enough to work full-time are barely getting by thanks to the crushingly-high cost of housing.

And for those who cannot find a job, or who are unable to work -- and especially for their children -- the holiday joy that most of us take for granted is just an illusion.

We recognize that in our hurry-hurry world where we barely have time to think, the Christmas season brings with it the pressure of last-minute shopping and holiday preparations. But we urge all of our readers, who have the means to do so, to take a deep breath and a brief "time-out" in order to consider doing something to make the holiday season a bit brighter for those who are less fortunate.

We can assure our readers that any gift of charity that you make, whether it be to a Toys for Tots program or to a Salvation Army Santa or a food bank donation, will be the most meaningful -- and most satisfying -- act that you can make this holiday season.

ENJOY THE LONG HOLIDAY WEEKEND SAFELY

The upcoming long-weekend means that most of us will be partaking in traditional gatherings with our families, friends, and co-workers to share the joy of the holiday season.

Unfortunately, this also means that many among us will be overindulging in holiday "spirits."

It is the responsibility of each of us to ensure that where alcohol is present, it is used responsibly, not only by ourselves, but by those around us at our holiday gatherings. None of us wants to wake up the next morning with the regret, "If only I had taken their car keys."

We wish all of our readers a happy, and safe, holiday weekend.

DIDOMENICO MEETS WITH DISTRICT FIRE CHIEFS AND PROMISES CONTINUED SUPPORT

Senator Sal DiDomenico recently met with fire chiefs from 35 fire departments across Metro Boston at a State House event, including Chelsea Fire Chief, Leonard Albanese, Everett Acting Fire Chief Sabato LoRusso, Cambridge's Assistant Chief, Brian Gover, and Revere's former Fire Chief, Gene Doherty. The event featured an informational session about the critical issues currently affecting the Fire Service in the Commonwealth and the support they need from the State Legislature.

"I am so grateful for all these public servants who sacrifice their wellbeing to keep our communities safe and put our minds at ease," said Senator Sal DiDomenico, Assistant Majority Leader of the Massachusetts Senate. "I will always be a steadfast supporter of fire departments in my district and throughout Massachusetts."

quirements assisting with determining financial and community readiness, identifying needs for planning, and budgeting. This process will commence on July 1, 2024 and conclude on March 28, 2025. Successful completion of all activities in the Eligibility Period will allow the City to be eligible for an MSBA invitation to the next step, which is Feasibility Study.

"Last week's vote by the MSBA Board of Directors is the critical next step that I have fought for in order for Everett to move forward with the only solution that will address our entire district's needs," said Mayor DeMaria. "Despite all political assertions to the contrary, the data and evidence show that spending tens of millions of dollars to renovate the former Pope John facility is fiscally irresponsible because that site does not have the capacity to solve class size across the whole district. I have a responsibility to take action that will benefit all students and to spend taxpayer dollars in the way that will provide the greatest benefit to our community, which proposals to use the former

"It is an honor to be among the select few communities to have its Statement of Interest selected by the Massachusetts School Building Authority," said Interim Superintendent of Schools William Hart. "The district looks forward to working with city and state officials on building a high school that fulfills all of our aspirations."

Building a new high school facility would alleviate classroom size across the district because it would create the option of using the current high school as a middle school. Creating additional space for a middle school would remove students from Everett's current K-8 schools and allow for space currently occupied by upper grades to be used to better meet the needs of lower grade students.

Mayor DeMaria also has advocated for a new high school facility to expand Everett's ability to offer Career and Technical Education (CTE) for students who do not have access to vocational options currently. "We need to make every effort to ensure that our young people have options to immediately enter the workforce after graduation from high school. With the economic development that is underway in Everett, we have the chance to create an educational pipeline for our students into a changing economy that will be dependent on a workforce that has skilled workers prepared for higher paying employment opportunities," said the Mayor.

The Mayor's education to employment vision is one shared by local developers who are leading the way in creating those new employment options. "We applaud Everett's commitment to training the workforce of tomorrow," said Stephen Davis, President of The Davis Companies. "This type of vocational education is vital to the continued evolution of the Massachusetts economy and will help to propel the growth of our clean tech and high-tech manufacturing sectors. We look forward to working with the City in fostering this key component of a vibrant technology ecosystem."

The Davis Companies recently acquired the former Exxon Mobil assemblage in Everett and will be developing formal proposals for local consideration and approval to redevelop the site and transform it from its current outdated industrial use.

Building a new school facility is the best longer-term solution for Everett's educational needs. It is not the only option that Mayor DeMaria intends to pursue. "I was disappointed last week in the City Council's vote against using ARPA funding for temporary modular structure options, given the amount of time that has been spent on discussing the needs of the schools," said the Mayor. "I fully intend to keep my commitment to Everett students to do everything I can to find temporary and long-term solutions for them and will resubmit a request to use ARPA funding to alleviate space issues while we partner with the MSBA. I am hopeful that the incoming City Council members will have the same commitment to our students that I do and approve this temporary solution."

the aim of supporting Veterans, which is still one of the main causes that the club supports.

The Club in addition to the generous annual toy donation, holds a complimentary Thanksgiving Dinner for Seniors every year and donates the use of its function hall to many different organizations in need and contributes funds to support Veterans organizations and others, year round.

All of the toys given this year will benefit Everett families in need of assistance this holiday season.

Lesley Professor and noted artist visits Everett High

Acclaimed artist and Lesley University Professor Michelle Lougee was a guest lecturer in Everett High School's Fiber Arts class on Monday, November 20, 2023. Ms. Lougee's work centers on sustainability and the environment. Specifically, she uses crochet techniques and plastic to create forms representative of sea life and ecosystems. Ms. Lougee inspires students and fiber artists to be resourceful and innovative with their materials and processes. At Everett High, she showed students how to create their own yarn out of plastic bags. Students used single crochet techniques with their hooks, chaining their "plarn" (plastic yarn) six times, to create their own forms.

OBITUARIES

Angelina Acierno

Together with her late husband, she owned and operated Luigi's Grocery in Everett for 45 years

It is with Great Sadness that the Acierno family announces the passing of Angelina Acierno, 84, of Everett.

Angelina Vittoria Acierno was born to Maria and Domenico Vittoria on November 7, 1939 and raised in Sperone (AV) Italy. She was one of five children: Mario, Romano, Brigida, Angelina and Francesca. In February of 1961, she married her late husband, Agostino Acierno and they had four children: Luigi, Franco, Raffaella and Maria. In January 1973 Angelina and her family made their journey to America and settled in Boston to pursue the American dream.

Angelina's first job was at Converse Rubber Company in Malden. She was proud to be able to work a 40 hour work week that brought home a paycheck in her name. Angelina loved her role as homemaker too. Her passion was cooking and with food she showed her love to so many. Three years later, Angelina and Agostino acquired an Italian grocery store in Everett that they named Luigi's Grocery. Although Angelina was initially hesitant to leave her friends and colleagues at Converse, she was called to help run the business and she did not stop until a wise age and a pandemic closed the doors 45 years later. Angelina worked hard every day to run the business, with shop hours from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Angelina became a widow in 1988 and ran the business for another 32 years. She rose to the occasion as a strong, independent, confident woman and became the best version of herself in order to become successful. Her business was a means to an end, but it became her passion and her social community as well. She loved her family, her customers and the neighborhood.

Angelina is survived by her dear and devoted children: Luigi Acierno and his wife, Maria of Lynnfield, Franco Acierno of Everett, Raffaella Scavone of New Jersey and Maria Acierno of New Hampshire; her loving and cherished grandchildren: Erica Acierno, Agostino Acierno, James Scavone, Julia Scavone, Alex Scavone, Gianna Bolaccio, and Victoria Bolaccio; and devoted great-grandchildren, Mia Acierno and Cristiano "Joey" Paragona; and her dear brother, Mario Vittoria of Italy and the late Romano Vittoria, Brigida Capellucci, and Francesca Gaglione.

Relatives and friends attended her Funeral Mass in St. Anthony Church, 38 Oakes St., Everett, on Monday, December 18 and Entombment followed at the Holy Cross Chapel Mausoleum, Malden. In lieu of flowers, contributions in Angelina's memory to the American Cancer Society, 3 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701 would be sincerely appreciated. Arrangements by the Cafasso & Sons Funeral Home, 65 Clark St. Everett, 617.387.3120.

DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENT HEADED TO MELROSE

CHELSEA -Deputy Superintendent of Schools Adam Deleidi has been selected to lead the Melrose public school department.

At last week's School Committee meeting, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Almi Abeyta announced that Deleidi was leaving the Chelsea school district in June to take the superintendent's job in Melrose.

Deleidi was one of four finalists for the top school job in Melrose.

"We are all so proud of you and we are all going to miss you, this entire community," said Abeyta. "This is bittersweet for us, but we are very happy for you."

Before serving as Deputy Superintendent in Chelsea, Deleidi was the principal of the Berkowitz Elementary School and an assistant principal in Revere.

"As a product of Chelsea Public Schools and a resident for 30 years, this community will always hold a special place in my heart," said Deleidi. "While I am looking forward to this new challenge, I am certainly saddened to be processing what my departure will mean. I have learned so much from so many and want to thank the community for allowing me the opportunity to serve Chelsea."

Deleidi also had kind words for the Chelsea School Committee at last week's meeting.

"I'd be remiss if I did not acknowledge the joy I've had working with all of you, but particularly, with the four of you who are leaving (the school committee)," he said. "As a prospective superintendent elsewhere, I can only hope that I can have the same kind of working relationship that I've been having as a deputy superintendent with you. It was really an important factor as I did my search to try to find a school committee that was as supportive and talented as you all."

MADARO APPOINTED TO ORRF BOARD

EAST BOSTON - Rep. Adrian C. Madaro (D-1st Suffolk), chair of the Joint Committee on Mental Health, Substance Use and Recovery, was appointed to the Opioid Recovery and Remediation Fund ("ORRF") Advisory Council. The Legislature established both the ORRF and the Advisory Council in 2021 in anticipation of then-Attorney General and current Governor Maura Healey successfully reaching settlement agreements with several opioid manufacturers and distributors. These settlement agreements are intended to hold accountable several corporations that flooded Massachusetts with opioids and bring desperately needed relief to people who are struggling with substance use disorder.

Over the next 15 years, Massachusetts is projected to receive over $600 million from companies that manufactured, marketed, and distributed opioids in the Commonwealth, $100 million of which has already been received and deposited into the ORRF. This is in addition to the $400 million that cities and towns across the Commonwealth will receive, as well as significant industry changes required by the global resolution of the multiple state, local, and individual cases filed against these companies.

The ORRF is administered by the Massachusetts Secretary of Health and Human Services in consultation with the Advisory Council. "As House Chair of the Joint Committee on Mental Health, Substance Use and Recovery, Representative Madaro truly understands the catastrophic impact the opioid epidemic has had in our communities. # Braising can save time and money

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

You might ask, “How can I save time by braising? Those recipes can take hours to cook.” A braise may take a long time to simmer away. However, it doesn’t need much attention while that’s happening. An occasional peek, turn, or stir is all that’s required. Moreover, the aroma drifting from the kitchen reminds you that something delicious is cooking and invites you to check on it.

A Braise Can Wait

Many braised dishes are better after the flavors have had an opportunity to meld. That means you can prepare a meal for family or a gathering ahead of time and pop it in the oven to warm when needed. That also makes braises great leftovers or, in some cases, meals to freeze for later use.

If you’re entertaining, a braise makes timing easy. While a roast leg of lamb has a rosy moment when the meat is perfect, a braise can sit in a warm oven and wait until your friends and family are seated at the table. This ability to improve from reheating makes braises great dishes for potluck meals or buffets. A crockpot or warming tray can keep this dish at a safe temperature.

We often double a braising recipe to have ingredients for a different meal. We might braise a big batch of chicken thighs and freeze some meat for another day. Braised pork butt, when shredded, makes fabulous pulled pork sandwiches. Our favorite braised lamb shank recipe becomes an amazing lamb chili later in the week.

Homey, Comfort Food

Many classic braises are comfort foods that use this long cooking process to tenderize and stretch less expensive cuts of meat. Our favorite braises include lamb shanks, short ribs, chicken thighs, whole chicken, and beef or pork pot roasts. These simmer away in delicious stocks and share the pot with lots of vegetables to balance the meal and stretch the meat.

While earlier generations learned to braise by helping the family cook, today, we may have to do a bit of self-education. That said, braising is a very forgiving technique. You can substitute a similar ingredient or more vegetables if you don’t have everything a recipe calls for. (The exception to this rule is powerful flavors like chilis.)

If you’re watching your budget, you can reduce the ratio of meat to vegetables or serve your braise over a filling side dish like rice, polenta, beans, or legumes.

Another way a braise is excellent for your budget is that very little special equipment is needed. You need a big pot and a heat source. You can braise on the stove top, an induction burner, in the oven, crockpot, or Instant Pot. You can combine stovetop and oven as long as your pot (and its handle) can go into an oven.

How to Braise

For a Braising 101 course, we recommend Michael Ruhlman’s book, “How to Braise: Foolproof Techniques and Recipes for the Home Cook.” Rhuman has a way of breaking down cooking concepts into step-by-step lessons with photos and a selection of recipes that invite you to follow his lead.

While we braise all year round, winter is the perfect time to braise. A bubbling pot of comfort food will add warmth and humidity to your home in this dry season. When the forecast indicates you might want to work from home and stay close to the hearth in the days ahead, add something to braise to your grocery run for milk and bread.

the Speaker and my colleagues for their continued commitment to prioritizing behavioral health, including substance use services and supports, in both funding and legislation. I’m also grateful to Governor Healey for leading the national effort to get these settlement funds, and for the work that has been done by the Council already. I’m looking forward to listening and learning as I get up to speed, and to contributing to the important work of the Council.”

COUNCILLORS SEEK ADA PLAYGROUNDS

REVERE - Ward 5 City Councillor John Powers wants to put safety first at the Oak Island Playground.

At last week’s council meeting, Powers submitted a motion asking Mayor-elect Patrick Keefe to use Community Improvement Trust Fund money to resurface the playground with a handicap accessible rubberized surface.

“The park at Oak Island is probably the park in the city that doesn’t have a rubberized mat,” said Powers. “The mulch is not that effective, and I think that the people down there in Oak Island certainly deserve this. If this saves one child from being injured or worse, then we have spent money well and we have done our job.”

Councillor-at-Large Gerry Visconti said he supported the motion.

“I believe we chatted about this issue at the park at the budget hearings this year knowing that there were problems with that park,” said Visconti. “Thank you for putting this motion in. I know the administration was aware of this, and I would just love to see this get done because I know that there are quite a few kids who utilize the park.”

Visconti added that there have also been some needles found at the park, and that the city needs to be proactive to keep the area safe and clean.

“There is money in that account, let’s utilize it for the residents,” said Visconti.

Powers added that the Community Improvement Trust funds are not raised through taxes.

“When a developer builds something in the city, these are some of the rewards, if you want to call it that, that we get in return, a certain amount of money where we can handle these problems,” said Powers.

Councillor Marc Silvestri said that Ralph DeCicco, the head of the city’s disability commission and its ADA compliance director had reached out to home and asked that the playground at the Paul Revere School be added to Powers’ motion. “The playground at the Paul Revere School currently has wood chips and that is against ADA compliance,” said Silvestri.

Powers said he had no objection to that playground being added to the motion, but added that he would like to see the cost involved and how much money the city has in the Community Improvement Trust Fund.

EARLY LITERACY AND PARENT EDUCATION PROGRAM EARNS PRAISE

WINTHROP - The Winthrop Parents Network has had a big impact on the development of the town’s youngest children and their families over the past decade-plus.

At Monday night’s School Committee meeting, Winthrop Parents Network coordinator Anita Preble gave an overview of the early literacy and parent education programs the network provides.

“I’ve been running the program since 2010,” said Preble, who is also the school adjustment counselor at the Arthur T. Cummings School. “Prior to that, it was the CPC grant, Communities for Partnership. Then the grant was changed to the CFCE grant, which is Coordinated Family and Community Engagement, which is when I started doing the grant.”

The CFCE is a grant from the Department of Early Education and Care and is primarily geared for families of children from birth to eight years old.

Through the grant, the Winthrop Parents Network runs the early literacy program through the playgroups at the E.B. Newton Center.

“Currently, we have about 55 families that are enrolled that attend weekly,” said Preble.

There are four playgroups in English and one on Friday that is in Spanish.

“We give priority to immigrant families or families whose children are not

NSPO presents the 2023 Sounds of Christmas

Special to the Independent

Music filled the air Sunday night when the North Shore Philharmonic Orchestra performed the 2023 Robert A. Marra Memorial “Sounds of Christmas” concert before a huge audience that packed St. Anthony’s Church. Music Director Robert Lehmann and guest soprano Katie Oberholtzer had the crowd on their feet and calling for more as the Orchestra concluded the concert with the traditional “Let There Be Peace On Earth.”

Concert patrons started to stream into the church an hour before the 4 p.m. start, and they were generous with their donations to the Revere Food Pantry in the Food Drive that is part of the holiday season celebration. “It’s a wonderful audience,” said Music Director Lehmann, who has led the conducted the concert since 2000. “Every year you can feel their heart is in the season, and their donations to the Food Drive prove that...and their love of the music. My holiday season doesn’t begin until we play this concert”

“To me it’s a magical experience,” said Ms. Oberholtzer, who was making her first appearance with the North Shore Philharmonic. “To be in the middle of the orchestra and singing to so many people, bringing joy the crowd in the holiday spirit,” Katie told a RevereTV audience after the concert. “It really is magical.”

The audience loved Ms. Oberholtzer’s sparkling renditions of “Ave Maria”, Mel Torme’s famous “The Christmas Song”, among others. Event co-chair Dom Bocchino remarked, “I was getting text messages from peoplereading the concert at home, saying how wonderful she

A full audience enjoyed the music as St. Anthony’s church was transformed into a grand concert hall, much like the historic churches of Europe where the great Masters of the art performed their music.

Mayor-elect Patrick Keefe addressed the audience during the concert, looking out at the audience and saying “This is the Revere I see, People coming together, enjoying each other’s company, and helping their neighbors,” he said.

As he introduced the evening’s guest narrator, Revere High senior Maya Merino, Mayor Keefe cited the accomplishments of previous Revere High seniors going back to 2015 who wrote essays that they read at the concert. “The Revere High students who have participated in this concert have told personal stories that reveal what is best about Revere, how precious it is to be their home,” Keefe said. “And the students, themselves, represent the best of Revere.”

In her essay, Merino cited several personal experiences and observed “...These moments all glitter, like snowflakes in my mind, each one unique and perfect,” she said. “The community and love that they hold is what distinguishes them as my definition of the holidays, reminding me that it doesn’t really matter what, when, or how you celebrate; it’s the simple act of being together with those that you love that make the holidays exactly what they are.”

Ms. Merino concluded her essay by asking the audience, “What memories are you reflecting on? Which ones will you go on to build?”

praised the volunteers who devoted time and effort into making the concert and food drive a success. Members of the St. Anthony’s Church Confirmation class set up the altar area of the church with chairs for the concert and arranged hundreds of boxes to collect the food as patrons arrived. Members of the St. Anthony’s Holy Name Society welcomed the patrons and packed the boxes, and members of the Revere High football team contributed their strength and enthusiasm to load all the food—several tons of it—into a truck for transport to the Revere Food Revere High senior Maya Merino narrated a touching personal essay recounting memories of her own experience. “These moments all glitter, like snowflakes in my mind...” she said.

enrolled in any other type of preschool program, although we do have some kids that come who also have other programs,” said Preble.

The program runs on the same calendar as the school year, and there is a six-week summer program that is offered, as well, at the Pond Street Park.

“Up to now, we have provided early literacy and parenting education to over 500 families, if you go back the 12 or 13 years that we have been doing this,” said Preble.

In addition to literacy experience, the playgroup programs also offer socialization for the children, and an opportunity for parents to meet one another.

“I’ve had a lot of parents tell me they are new to town and they didn’t know any other adults or parents,” said Preble. “This is an opportunity for them to socialize themselves and meet parents of kids of the same age.”

In addition to the playgroups, the Winthrop Parents Network also offers monthly family events at the Gorman Fort Banks School. Those nights, which include emoji bingo, a family game night, and yoga, also provide a parenting education piece, said Preble.

One of the most popular events, the International Night, is coming up on Jan. 18 and will be held at the Old Middle School gym.

“There is another thing that the program provides, and that is developmental screening for free for any family that is interested,” said Preble. “All of our playgroup families participate in this, which is called the Ages and Stages questionnaire. It’s for babies up to age 5, and it’s a bunch of questions that go through all the different domains to see if a child is on target for their developmental level.”

The questionnaire is not a diagnostic test, but if a parent has concerns as a result of the screening, the parents group can provide resources or send them in the direction of early intervention or the school department, depending on the age of the child.

“It is a great way for a parent to see how their child is doing, and for us to notice if there is anything that a child needs help with at an early age,” said Preble.

Other initiatives by the group include welcome to Winthrop resource booklets, working with Casa as part of the Youth Mental Health Work Group, and kindergarten transition activities.

“I applaud Anita’s push, she is relentless, but the collaboration with everyone else too, and the networking her and her folks do to make sure that this is happening for our kids is just awesome,” said Superintendent of Schools Lisa Howard.
